March 27, 2014

top headlines

Match Day
Get important facts and figures on the IU School of Medicine Class of 2014's Match Day results.

Newborn hearts
Simon Conway and his colleagues have shed new light on a poorly understood period of heart development.

#MedChat
Emily Webber is the next participant in a new online conversation series about medical topics.

editor’s picks

News to Use

IUSM in the news
Read about an expected decision on the site of a new medical campus in Evansville, Kenneth White's new appointment, and more.

Opportunities

Artwork sought
Hands in Autism and the Indiana Arts Commission are looking for work from artists with autism spectrum disorder for a special exposition.

Grants

Basic research funding

features of the week

story

Make me a match
Explore photos and meet some of the students behind this year's Match Day celebration, including Joel Franco and Tanya Devnani. The couple met during their first year of medical school and got engaged in front of their entire class as they went on stage to learn where they would serve their residencies.

podcast
The Indiana CTSI seeks applicants for a program that provides funds to access advanced technologies at IU, Purdue and Notre Dame.

Kudos

Leading the way
Jo Ann Matory and David Wilkes are recent recipients of Minority Achievers Awards from the Center for Leadership Development.

faculty & staff spotlight

Records redesign
Alissa Russ is first author on a new study that says small changes to medical records can have big impact on human health.

student spotlight

Eye-opening experience
IUPUI student Anna Brenneman is considering a career in health care after traveling to the Dominican Republic with Timmy Global Health.

'Sound Medicine'

This week, "Sound Medicine" asks whether vitamins are useless in response to a recent report that claims they are not effective at cancer or disease prevention. Also, go behind the scenes at Walgreens to learn how the pharmacy chain predicts spikes in flu season, learn how nanoparticles are being used to deliver drugs and get healthy eating tips for kids.

events & lectures

- Sixth Annual Hunger Banquet
  03-28-2014
- Shave the Date Carnival
  04-08-2014
- 23rd Annual Evening of the Arts
  04-12-2014
- Biocrossroads Frameworx Session with Jay Hess
  04-16-2014
- Marks Brothers Award Lecture
  04-29-2014
- IU School of Medicine Calendar

IUSM campus links

Bloomington • Evansville • Fort Wayne • Indianapolis
Lafayette • Muncie • Gary • South Bend • Terre Haute

Submit your news

---

Subscribe or unsubscribe to this newsletter.

IU Communications | 251 N. Illinois St. | Indianapolis, IN 46204