

Asbestos on campus 'within regulations'

By KEVIN STEWART

The pillow is three feet from the torn asbestos insulation wrapped around a steam pipe in the Ball Residence Hall room. The bed is only two feet away.

For years, students may have unknowingly slept here, eight hours each night, next to exposed asbestos, a deadly material used to insulate hot water pipes and ceilings.

This dormitory is only one of several places on the IUPUI campus where asbestos may be a problem.

This scenario was described to Larry Henninger, Central Division Vice President of the Communications Workers of America Union, Local 5900, by an Indiana Bell Telephone Co. craftsman after he spotted asbestos in a Ball Residence room while installing cable for the university's new $6.5 million telephone system.

Workers have complained of being exposed to the fire-retardant insulator, commonly found in buildings constructed prior to the mid-1970s, in the Dental School, the Law School and Riley Children's Hospital.

Asbestos, when broken up and circulated through the air, can cause a fatal lung disease called asbestiosis.

Union members filed a complaint on March 20 with the Indiana Occupational Safety and Health Administration (IOSHA), claiming exposure to pipe and ceiling asbestos insulation.

"My workers are not only concerned for their own safety, but also for the safety of the students and workers at IUPUI," Henninger said.

Despite worker complaints, university administrators and Indiana Bell officials maintain no problem exists and the proper procedures have been followed.

"Asbestos is widespread across the United States. We have to take the proper precautions like everybody else," said Morris L. French, head of the IUPUI Pathology Department and chair of the Asbestos Safety Committee. "We're trying to do the best we can."

"There's not a major problem. OSHA's still checking it out, and so far they haven't found a problem," he said, adding, "I can't make them [Bell workers] believe there is no danger."

Despite assurances that working conditions are

I-70 widening slows IUPUI traffic flow

By ERIN DULHANTY

A campus official says students who use I-70 should leave at least 15 minutes earlier than they normally do to arrive on time for classes when construction begins tomorrow along that highway.

John Gilbert, Assistant Director of Parking and Transportation Services, said students should make the schedule adjustment to avoid predicted congestion along the interstate, which is being widened from six to 10 lanes from downtown east to Keystone Avenue.

I-70 is also being widened to eight lanes between Keystone and the I-465 interchange on the city's far-Eastside. The total project is expected to cost $60 million and take six to seven years to complete.

Installation of new bridges over the old Indianapolis Water Co. Canal along Ohio, Vermont, Michigan and New York streets, beginning in April, will further compound the problem.

State highway officials say the construction will sharply limit access to the highway and slow traffic along several sections until Dec. 1, 1986, when work will stop for the winter.

Jay Marks, program development manager for the Indiana Department of Highways, said cuts in the I-70 project's budget will cause the project to take twice as long to complete. The

Candidates debate issues, goals in race for offices

Upgrading the campus library system, unifying the student body and campaign promises were some of the issues discussed by candidates for Student Assembly offices last week.

Present at the debate were presidential candidates Richard Schilling and current assembly president Martin Dragonette. Also in attendance were vice-presidential hopefuls Kathy Schlimgen and Mark Harsley, as well as senatorial candidate George Dunn.

All candidates agreed that the campus library system requires improvements, some stressing the need for more periodicals and others for overall expansion.

Presidential candidate Schilling said the Marion County libraries "should be complementary" to the IUPUI library system and "not primary."

Assembly president Dragonette said that "medical and dental libraries are each the only ones in the state. We need good ones."

"We do not have enough periodicals here," said Dunn, the only candidate for assembly recorder, "Not only does it hurt students, but it is an insult to the many fine scholars that we have here."

Candidates were questioned by representatives of the Journalism Student Organization (JSO), as well as members of the audience, which numbered under 30. The JSO sponsored the event.

Candidates indicated what goals they would work for when Lucky Hall, a Black Student Union advisor, asked for "something that we can hold your feet to the fire on."

Dragonette said he would continue efforts to maintain a "sense of identity" on campus. He added that he would "make sure a club develops for IUPUI sporting events."

Schilling said that if he is elected he would work toward improving the campus shuttle bus system. "I want a shuttle system that works. The current one is a big waste of money. That's something you can hold me to the fire on," he said.

Vice-presidential candidate Schlimgen said he would try to keep the Student Assembly offices open until 7 p.m. during the week and for at least three hours on Saturday and Sunday.

"Students will have some place to go next semester. They will have some place to find help," Schlimgen said.

Harsley, vice-presidential candidate, said he would work toward unifying students. "The university lacks respect for students. If we're unified, they will listen and they will move."

"It takes time to do things at any

Probation for five years

Hilgenberg can return to hospital

By NATHAN KENNETT

The Indiana Medical Licensing Board has voted to allow IU Medical School Associate Professor John C. Hilgenberg to resume practice as an anesthesiologist at University Hospital in late April.

Hilgenberg's license had been suspended indefinitely on an emergency basis October 28, 1985, four days after he was arrested on state charges of child exploitation. The arrest resulted from an elaborate sting operation intended to detect child pornographers.

At a March 27 meeting, the licensing board unanimously approved an order suspending Hilgenberg's license for 180 days from the first day of the emergency suspension, and placing the license on probationary status for five years thereafter. The probation imposes no limitation on Hilgenberg's medical practice.

The board also approved 47 findings of fact in the case, some of which provide details of the sting operation that involved local, state and federal law enforcement agencies. One of the findings of fact states, "There is no evidence whatsoever of any child molestation" by Hilgenberg.

According to the findings of fact, the state has agreed to dismiss all charges against Hilgenberg except one Class D felony count involving showing a pornographic videotape to an undercover police officer.

But on March 27, Marion County Deputy Prosecutor Philip R. Blowers would only say that, "Plea negotiations are taking place, and we may have reached an agreement, but it has not been finalized by the court at this time."

The order also requires Hilgenberg to undergo counseling as recommended by a psychiatrist and to perform 184 hours of community service.

After the hearing, Indiana Deputy Attorney General Michael Minglin, who agreed to the order and the finding of fact, said, "The board and the state may rest carefully that the matter has been taken care of. With the counseling agreements he has entered into he can practice medicine competently and safely."

New York director adds spice to theatre's play

Jon Beaupre's life is anything but dull.

The 32-year-old New Yorker and guest director for the Indiana premier of "And a Nightingale Sang" at the IUPUI University Theatre is an actor, director, scenic designer, graphic artist and photographer. He has directed fashion shows for Calvin Klein, Bill Blass and Perry Ellis.

Beaupre was chosen to direct "And a Nightingale Sang" by Dr. J. Edgar Webb, director of the IUPUI University Theatre. In preparation for his role as director, Beaupre visited IUPUI last fall and accompanied Dr. Webb to see the Actors' Theatre of Louisville production of the play.

The IUPUI theatre will present C.P. Taylor's bittersweet love story on April 18, 19, 25 and 26 in the Mary Cable Building Theatre, 525 N. Blackford St.

'Indy 500' course to be held at IUPUI

For the first time, race car enthusiasts and those interested in high-speed racing performance will have the opportunity to understand and enjoy the history of the Indianapolis 500 since its development in 1909.

The IUPUI Division of Continuing Studies will offer a personal enrichment course, "Donald Davidson's Indy 500 History," April 9-16, from 7 to 9 p.m. for two Wednesdays at the IUPUI Nursing Building, Room 240. For more information call 264-4501.

Med Center needs help with hypertension study

The Indiana University Medical Center is currently conducting clinical studies regarding Cardiovascular Reactivity in blacks and whites.

Researchers are looking for healthy black and white male and female between the ages of 18-30 with no medical problems and on no medications.

For more information call Jan Day or Jeanette Bair at 264-7422 between 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m.

Campus bookstore to hold imprint logo competition

The IUPUI Bookstores are searching for imprints, emblems or a logo to represent the Herron School of Art.

Any student who has an idea may enter the bookstores' contest and may win $100 worth of merchandise of his or her choice from any of the bookstores on the Indianapolis or Columbus campuses.

All entries must be received at one of the bookstores before 5 p.m. Friday, April 18. They must be in no more than two colors on a sheet of paper or posterboard no larger than 12 inches square.

For more information call 923-3651.

Mayor Hudnut to host auto emission conference

The Division of Air Pollution Control has initiated a voluntary inspection program during the last two years.

Mayor William H. Hudnut and IUPUI Vice President Glenn W. Irwin Jr. will host an auto emissions news conference today at 1:30 p.m. in Parking Lot number 62, immediately south of the administration building, to kick off the testing.

Charles Bonser appointed as Dr. Bowen's assistant

Charles F. Bonser, dean of the School of Public and Environmental Affairs, has been named special assistant to Dr. Otis R. Bowen, the former Indiana governor who is now director of Health and Human Services.

Bonser will serve until May when he will resume his SPEA duties, from which he is on leave. Bowen, who teaches in the School of Medicine, is also on leave. Bonser's assignment, Bowen said, "is to include, but not be limited to, analysis of the management process of the Office of the Secretary and how it relates to operating divisions of HHS."

The Sagamore is a weekly newspaper published by and for students at Indiana University-Purdue University at Indianapolis. An auxiliary enterprise of IUPUI, the Sagamore is not an official publication of the university; it neither reflects the views of university administrators or faculty, nor is governed by those views.

As a service to readers, the Sagamore publishes notices of IUPUI events. A notice form may be obtained from the Sagamore office. Notices on this form will be given preference, although typed or legibly handwritten information may be submitted. Information must be received at the Sagamore office by noon Thursday for publication the following Monday. Notices will be run one time only, and may be edited or deleted if space is limited.

The Sagamore also provides a forum for the university community. Readers are invited to submit letters of any length and on any topic, although preference will be given to those of less than 500 words and those on matters of interest to the IUPUI community.

Letters must include the writer's name, address and telephone number, so that the editor may contact the writer if necessary. Addresses and telephone numbers will not be published and the writer's name will be withheld on request. For legal reasons, anonymous letters will not be printed.

Letters may be edited for clarity and brevity, and the editor will reject letters deemed potentially libelous.

Send letters, preferably typed in double space, to:

university, in any bureaucracy. But there are 22,000 intelligent students here," he added.

Schilling said he would work for a unification plan and that "there is a lot that students can do. We don't need to wait for them to get involved.

"There need to be changes that students can look forward to. And there are changes that we want to see made, changes that affect students," he added.

"Once you get people talking together, things happen," Schilling said.

target date is the mid-1990s.

When completed, I-70, which has a current traffic volume of over 100,000 vehicles per day, will facilitate traffic more easily, said Marks.

The construction will lead to these changes:

- The lefthand lanes of eastbound and westbound I-70 between downtown and Arlington Avenue will be closed, narrowing the road to two lanes in each direction. Eastbound will be closed April 1 and westbound April 22.
- The Delaware Street ramp leading to I-70 eastbound and I-65 southbound will be closed from April 1 to Dec. 1.

● The ramp from Michigan and New York streets to eastbound I-70 and I-65 southbound will be closed from April 1 to Dec. 1.

● The ramps from Keystone Avenue and Rural Street to westbound I-70 will be closed 6 a.m. to 9 a.m. on weekdays from about April 22 to Dec. 1. Highway officials advise using Massachusetts Avenue.

● Ramps from Emerson Avenue onto westbound I-70 will be controlled by signals to limit access to the highway between 6 a.m. and 9 a.m. on weekdays from April 22 to Dec. 1.

Hilgenberg

Hilgenberg has pleaded guilty to one federal count of mailing a visual depiction of a minor engaged in sexually explicit conduct. But the findings of fact convey an account of the incident that board member Ronald E. Elberger characterized as "substantially different from what we may have read about in the paper."

The document states that at a time when Hilgenberg was distraught over marital difficulties he mailed an undercover Indiana State Police officer a photograph "not obtained by photographing a known individual, but rather by taking a photograph of a videotape picture."

The findings of fact further state that no minor was present at the meeting between Hilgenberg and the undercover officer at the Indianapolis Holiday Inn Southeast when the anesthesiologist was arrested. But Detective Steve Deboard of the Indianapolis Police Department's vice division said Hilgenberg went to the meeting intending to film a pre-teenage girl.

Howard G. Schaller, executive dean and dean of faculties, was not available to comment on the board's action. He is on a two-week trip to Japan. Schaller has said several times, however, that Hilgenberg will remain on unpaid and indefinite leave of absence until his court cases are resolved.

Hilgenberg's pre-sentence hearing before federal court Judge James E. Noland has yet to be scheduled. The state case has been continued until April 15 in Marion County Municipal Court 15.

safe, many Bell workers still feel they were wrongfully exposed to asbestos.

"At first they told us it was safe, that there was no asbestos, and we worked in there [the Dental School] for two weeks. But it got so bad that 11 electricians quit. Then they took samples and found that it was asbestos," said one worker, who declined to be identified.

Nevertheless, French says the proper procedures have been followed. "We've known we have asbestos. Bell notifies us 10 days before they do an area and we give them a computer printout of the area," French said, "detailing the status of asbestos in that area."

"Every building is checked prior to them [Bell workers] going in," he said.

While French said working conditions are safe, he admitted that traces of asbestos have been found in the air. But, he added, the amounts meet federal regulations and "there is not a health problem."

Federal regulations currently prohibit airborne concentrations from exceeding two fibers of asbestos per cubic centimeter of air. However, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) recommends action be taken if concentrations reach one fiber per cubic centimeter.

From 25 to 30 tests have been taken on campus with the highest readings registering .078 per cubic centimeter, said William F. Hartwig, corporate safety director for Indiana Bell, in a March 22 Indianapolis Star article.

Though the air-monitoring tests have been found to be within federal standards, Henninger pointed out that federal regulations may soon be lowered.

"A lot of researchers say there really is no safe level of asbestos. A group of scientists is now pushing to change [the regulations]," Henninger said.

Another Bell worker, who also insisted he remain anonymous, said, "There's no safe exposure to it. One fiber that you can't even see can kill you."

Henninger specifically cited the Law School as being a potential problem area.

"The air that people breath there is filtered through the area where asbestos is found. It's part of the air-handling system." He said he did not know if the Law School had been air-tested.

"But, is there a safe level of asbestos?" he said.

Henninger also expressed concern over the asbestos level in Riley Children's Hospital. "That's one of the things that grabbed my craftsmen's attention—many of them have children too," he said.

French explained that the main issue is making sure federal regulations are followed.

"What the EPA recommends is if a building has asbestos and it's not a problem, leave it alone. But if it is a problem and needs cleaning up, or if we're going to renovate, then follow the proper procedures. That's all we're trying to do," he said.

Lady Metros bounce Bulldogs

By CRAIG RUSSELBURG
GRRRR!

The IUPUI Lady Metro grabbed their bats and growled at Butler, swiping a double-header at home, 8-0, 10-3, last Monday. When the dust had settled, the Lady Bulldogs had been sent home with their NCAA Division I heads down.

The pair of victorians elevated IUPUI to 10-2 on the year.

"We are right about where I want to be," said Lady Metro Coach Nick Kellum when queried about the squad's state of affairs. "We're progressing."

And IUPUI is developing a strong reputation early.

"We're aggressive," said Kellum. "We played aggressive in both games [against Butler]," he added. "We took the extra bases and stole some bases. We had some good baserunning."

IUPUI made like greyhounds around the bases, dogging Butler for a school record of six stolen bases in the concluding game.

"We left very few runners on base," said Kellum, who voiced some concern earlier about stranded baserunners during the Florida trip.

Sheryl Burris, sophomore, pitched a four-hit (all singles) shutout in the first game, then came back with a strong performance in relief in the second game.

"She was in command the whole way," Kellum said.

Kellum also gave credit to Leisha Kowsky, junior shortstop, and sophomore outfielder Glenna Massey. Kowsky connected on five hits in seven times at bat, and Massey was four for six.

"Vicki Levensky [sophomore first baseman] also hit well," Kellum said.

Kellum expressed satisfaction that IUPUI played very well against Butler in spite of limited team practices due to cold weather.

"After having a week's layoff we did pretty well," Kellum said. "We had a pretty good practice Sunday."

So now the word is out. IUPUI looks hungry and plays aggressively.

"Looks like that may be our style," Kellum said.

The Lady Metros host Northern Kentucky University Thursday afternoon and meet Indiana Central at ICU on Saturday. IUPUI visits Tri-State Sunday afternoon.

Sophomore Sheryl Burris was "in command" as the Lady Metro swept Butler in a doubleheader.

The Army treats their nurses with respect. We appreciate the tremendous time and dedication you've devoted to your profession.

So when you join the Army, you join us as a nurse, and as an officer. You'll be commissioned with the rank of Second Lieutenant in the U.S. Army. And as such, you'll be accorded all the respect and responsibility due an officer.

As an Army Nurse, you'll be an important member of the Army Medical Team, working with first-rate physicians, dietitians, physical therapists, dentists, pharmacists, and other professionals.

You'll be encouraged to further your professional growth, both in gaining advanced degrees and through practical experience. And you'll be rewarded well for your efforts. Good pay, travel, and a liberal benefits package, including uniform allowance, on-post housing or housing allowance, and medical care, are all part of being an Army Nurse.

Talk to an Army Nurse Corps Recruiter to find out how to qualify.

Metros split pair at Hanover

By BJ HARGIS

First-year baseball coach Craig Clark is just starting to learn how much potential his Metros have. Although IUPUI split a double header at Hanover last Tuesday by winning game one 5-2 and dropping the second 6-1, Clark is pleased with the early season performance of the squad.

"We played very hard against Hanover," he said. "We just needed a break and we could have also won game two. This team is just about ready to put their sometimes spotty play behind them and go on an eight or 10 game winning streak."

Although the Metros' record stands at 6-9, the former Roncalli High School coach is looking forward to a good season.

"At first I was hoping we'd play .500 this year, but I believe we are capable of qualifying for the district tournament," Clark said.

The Metros won game one on the strength of pitcher Jack McGuire. He had a shutout going into the seventh inning but two bloop hits led to the only two Hanover runs.

McGuire scattered five hits in picking up his first win of the season.

IUPUI's defense played errorless baseball and the offensive attack was led by John Lilley's two-run homer.

In game two the Metros went ahead 1-0 in the first inning but Hanover quickly answered with two first-inning runs of their own and never looked back.

IUPUI had men on base in the second and third innings but double plays by Hanover foiled both scoring opportunities.

"We hit the ball hard both games but right at Hanover in the second game," Clark said. "We were only down by a run in the second inning. If we could have capitalized in the early innings, it would have been a different story."

The Metro offense could only muster two hits and the pitching combination of Curt Freeman and Tom Davis gave up six runs and seven hits.

The patchwork IUPUI defense committed only one miscue in two games and surprisingly has been the strong point of the Metros so far.

"Outfielder Keith Vaughn pulled a muscle in the first game in Florida and played for the first time since at Hanover," said Clark.

"Two-thirds of our outfield has missed 11 games. Our defense has been super considering this and it will only improve."

On March 22 the Metros lost a twin bill at Aurora by scores of 9-3 and 6-1. Jim Durbin took the loss in game one and Tom Foley in game two.

The Metros have a busy week on the road as they travel to Butler on Tuesday, Oakland City on Wednesday and Wabash on Saturday.

Dental student finds challenge in school

By SANDI BROWN

Early in his career, Mike Koufos, 26, took the advice of his parents to not limit himself to just one thing. During his second and third years of dental school, he became involved in student politics and served as president of his class. Now he is president of the Student Affairs Council which represents the entire dental student body.

Koufos started bicycle racing as a student at IU-Bloomington. He competed in the Little 500 and now races with teams in the Chicago area. He and his younger brother also race occasionally at the Indianapolis velodrome.

Singing in the band he and several other dental students formed about a year ago is also a hobby Koufos enjoys. He is an Indianapolis Jaycee, and was named to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" in November, 1985.

The dean's list student says his dental career was the result of influence by his next-door neighbor, a dentist in his hometown of Munster, Ind.

"I worked as a heavy machinery equipment operator and a mechanic during high school. I enjoy doing things mechanical but realized that being a grease monkey the rest of my life was not the ultimate goal for me," said Koufos. He understood dentistry would allow him to have a professional career and still "be able to tinker like I like to."

What Koufos like most about dentistry is the freedom it affords. "It allows you to do so many things. It allows you to be a small businessman. It allows you to be your own boss and to be a part of the medical profession. For the person who wants to run his own life, it has a lot of desirables," he said.

After graduation in May, Koufos plans to return to IU Dental School for two years of specialization in orthodontics. "I want to be a private family orthodontist," he said.

He will miss dental school when it's all over. "Dental School has forced me in many ways to find new strength or new ability that I have never known existed. It has definitely challenged me more than anything else in my life."

Koufos' parents encourage him in whatever he wants to do. "They've always been there for me from start to finish. They're always there to pick me up. They encouraged my running for office and getting involved. They've always pushed the idea that doing more than just one thing is obviously better."

Koufos says he doesn't feel he does that much more than any other student. He says he's fortunate he is single. "And I don't mean that in a selfish way," he said. "My girlfriend lives out of town. It gives me an incredible amount of freedom to go to different meetings. There's probably only one night a week that I actually go home at 5 p.m."

How does Koufos participate in extracurricular activities and still have time to study, do lab work, and see his patients? "You just don't sleep that much," he joked.

Assembly candidates define platforms

Assembly President Candidates

"Hard-Worker"

"I have been in office as the president, I know what the job entails, and I have accomplished a lot. I would describe myself as a hard worker."

-Martin Dragonette

Dragonette

- Lobbying for IUPUI libraries
- Keeping 'E' parking spaces
- Continued efforts for stronger IUPUI identity
- Make sure IUPUI students get first crack at housing in Pan Am game
- Film series

"Decisive"

"I think Student Assembly has been ineffectual in the past. We want it to be visible on campus.

"I weigh the facts and decide upon them. And I think that's what we need."

-Richard Schilling

Schilling, Schlimgen and Dunn

- Longer, more convenient library hours; book acquisition
- 48-hour open-door Student Assembly week, including weekend half-day
- A revamped shuttle schedule with buses circulating pick-up points every 15 minutes
- Lobbying at state level for increased funding for facilities and teachers salaries
- Uniting IUPUI on one project—getting IUPUI in the Guinness Book of World Records

"Dedicated"

"My platform is unity. If we had unity, our goals would be accomplished. If I had a hammer and nails.

"I'd drive that into every student's head. If we had unity, IUPUI would be utopia."

-Mark W. Harsley

Assembly Vice President Candidates

Harsley

- Student unity
- Improving communications in the university
- Library development
- Improving communications between graduate and undergraduate students
- Informing the student body

"Dynamic"

"I am accessible, and I know how administration works. There is a lot of red tape involved. I can get through the red tape."

-Kathy Schlimgen

Student election committee: keeping a fair distance

By LESLIE L. FULLER
Feature Editor

Student Election Committee chair Russ Larraway wants students and candidates to keep their distance.

"One thing we voted on as a group this year was a rule that candidates couldn't be within 10 feet of the polling booths or the ballot receiving tables," Larraway said.

"There was a rule before, apparently, but that wasn't stressed."

Candidates, along with Student Election Committee members, "are detached this year," Larraway said.

"I've tried to stress with every cabinet member that we should be detached from Student Assembly or any candidate as much as we can," he said.

"They [election committee members] have sacrificed their rights to sign a petition and to actively campaign in someone's favor. I told them, with their role on the committee, that they would have to give up something."

Mike Wagoner, director of Student Affairs, said, "There's been a real effort to keep candidates from campaigners.

"Usually the Student Body president nominates the Election Committee and the Student Senate approves," Wagoner said. "Since Martin decided to run for office again, he did not want people to accuse him of trying to railroad the committee.

"He did nominate Russ Larraway, but there was a real effort to form the committee from different schools [with students] who didn't know each other," Wagoner said.

Larraway described the major tasks of the Student Election Committee as advertising the election and organizing the schedule of voting times and places.

Vice Presidential candidate Kathy Schlimgen expressed concern over the voting schedule in the Candidate Debate last Wednesday, saying, "The election booths are only open one night, and the night students care. The only place open on Saturday is the library.

"Many people will vote if the booth is in Cavanaugh Hall, but they may not vote if it's in the library," Schlimgen said.

Russ Larraway addressed the matter in an interview after the debate. "As you know, you can't really please everybody," he said. "Because of there being so many different places, it was difficult to work out the schedule."

Assembly Recorder Candidate

"Dangerous"

"By dangerous-I mean I know how to motivate people. I have a good understanding of the whole art of strategy.

"We need to make headlines-so that our legislature realizes there is someone to whom they are answerable."

-George A. Dunn
