

FACETS

Vol. 7 Issue 1
Winter 2007

FACET is a community of faculty dedicated to and recognized for excellence in teaching and learning. FACET advocates pedagogical innovation, inspires growth and reflection, cultivates the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning and fosters personal renewal in the commitment to student learning.

From the Desk of the FACET Director

Well, the paint is barely dry on our walls, but we are now entrenched in our new offices. As many of you may know, FACET has re-located to another part of the University Library at IUPUI. Our budget has rippled with the cost of some new furniture, but we will survive (after helpful additional funding from the University administration). When you are next at the Library, you should check out our new space in UL 1180. In addition, if you are from outside Indianapolis and visiting the Library, you can use the Conference Room as temporary quarters including access to the Ethernet and a phone. We'll even offer you a complimentary beverage.

New developments. As you may also know, I have two new roles in the University. Besides the FACET Directorship, I now work in the Office of the Executive Vice President. My role there includes academic promotion and tenure processes (for IUPUI and the regional campuses), higher education strategic planning, state policy, and coordination of special projects. Since I am involved with the Academic Leadership Council (previously called Academic Officers Council), it is an opportunity to regularly inform this group of FACET activities, projects and plans, as well as aspects of the Mack Center. Most recently I solicited their input on the next theme for the IU Leadership Institute Series. The most recent theme on "Citizenship in the 21st Century World" led to the latest volume, "Quick Hits for Educating Citizens". This series, approaching its eleventh annual event, brings contemporary educational challenges into the University arena for future campus leaders.

Strategic Planning. Perhaps the most intense effort has focused on developing a revised strategic plan for FACET. This past summer, the Steering Committee convened for a retreat on the first steps in the process and updated our mission and vision. In addition, we have brought about significant changes already in the nomination system. Many of you may be experiencing the consequences of those changes this year. The changes this year reflect much of the work of Andy Gavrin and his Task Force's efforts to re-evaluate the selection process (over the past couple of years). While finishing touches were part of our Strategic Planning process to ensure we could put it into place for this cycle, we will be watching for needed adjustments in the process for next year. The Steering Committee has also developed a broader organizational structure for FACET involving faculty committees of FACET members where we can more effectively focus on developing new or revised activities compatible with our mission, as well as improving the connections between us and the Mack Center. The Steering Committee and FACET staff continues to work on the Strategic Plan so it will be brought to our membership for the spring Retreat.

As we ponder the evolution of FACET from its founding in 1989, we should realize that the organization continues to evolve in ways unimagined (maybe) by its charter members. Many believe, as do I, that faculty teaching and learning roles have become so much more complex in recent years. In response, FACET needs to identify a revised vision of its own role in the University. We should ask, "How can we aggressively address the issues most important, not only to the membership, but to the University as a whole?" With that charge in hand, we need to develop new initiatives and revise continuing activities that address advancing faculty success that benefit our students and the University. So, will we be able to do all of this in time for our 20th anniversary?

PRESIDENTIAL SEARCH NEWS

The Board of Trustees appointed a faculty advisory panel to work with the search committee. The panel was chosen to ensure a broad cross-section of representation from the various campuses. We are pleased that among these faculty are two FACET members, Kathy E. Johnson (FACET 2002) (IUPUI) and Susan Hendricks (FACET 2005) (IUK).

FACET et alii Update

There have been a few changes in the FACET Office since our last newsletter. As most of you already know, David Malik has become the new Director of FACET. He took over the reins on July 1, 2006. Also, the Administrative Assistant, Ali Morris-Fitzgerald, gave birth to a bouncing baby boy, Austin, on August 3, 2006 and Kimberly Lane, FACET Manager, is now Kimberly Olivares and had her first baby Monday, January 15th, Maya Adelina.

The other big news is the change of location of the FACET office. The offices were located in the Office for Professional Development, UL 1140, on the IUPUI campus. With our change in directorship, came a change in location. We have now moved down the hall to UL 1180. Our new space is significantly bigger and allows for us to have our own set of offices, along with a FACET Conference room. The conference table can accommodate up to 6 people, and we are more than happy to share with FACET members. If you would like to schedule to use this conference room, please contact Kimberly or Ali.

We love to have visitors, so if you are on campus and would like to check out our new space please drop by. Generic signage is posted in the Library while we await formal signage.

AWARDS & HONORS

Dé Bryant (FACET 1996), Psychology at IU South Bend, has been named the 22nd recipient of the Lundquist Faculty Fellowship. Bryant is director of the Social Action Project, a research project based in South Bend and Benton Harbor, Mich., with an outreach component in Durban, South Africa. The project uses social science research to understand and change real-life problems. The Lundquist Lecture was instituted in 1984 and named after Eldon Lundquist, one of Elkhart's well-known natives and a member of the Indiana General Assembly from 1961-1976.

Debra Clem (FACET 2000), Fine Arts at IU Southeast, received the Distinguished Research and Creativity Award. She has been a leader in the development of computer imaging methods for design and creativity.

Kris Dhawale (FACET 1990), Professor of Chemistry at IU East and Michael Foos (FACET 1989), Professor of Biology at IU East, were awarded Chancellor's Honors, for their work in promoting the Bachelor of Science degree in biotechnology.

Mary Fisher (FACET 1994), School of Nursing at IUPUI, has brought it to our attention that The School of Nursing, home to over 10 FACET members, was named a National League for Nursing Center of Teaching Excellence in Creative Pedagogy in September at the NLN Summit in New York City. This prestigious award was given after a self study and site visit and was nationally competitive since only one award is given in this category annually.

Richard Gunderman (FACET 2003), Radiology at IUPUI, received the 2006 IU School of Medicine Faculty Teaching Award.

James Mumford (FACET 1992), Emeritus Director of the Afro-American Choral Ensemble at IU Bloomington, has been awarded an honorary P.A. Mack Award for Distinguished Service to Teaching. Mumford was cited for his work with FACET since 1993.

Bernice Pescosolido (FACET 1989), Chancellor's Professor of Sociology at IU Bloomington, has received the 2005 Leo G. Reeder Award for Distinguished Contributions to Medical Sociology from the Section on Medical Sociology of the American Sociological Association. The Reeder Award recognizes scholarly contributions, especially a body of work displaying an extended trajectory of productivity and encompassing theory and research. The award also acknowledges teaching, mentoring and training as well as service to the medical sociology community.

Paul Pittman (FACET 1999), School of Business at IU Southeast, won the Distinguished Teaching Award. He is well known for his ability to apply course content into real-world problem solving.

Scott Sernau (FACET 1995), Department of Sociology and Anthropology at IU South Bend, has received the 2006 P.A. Mack Award for Distinguished Service to Teaching, presented annually by the Faculty Colloquium on Excellence in Teaching. Sernau, a sociologist, has been teaching for more than ten years, pioneering international programs at IUSB and leading in the promotion of service learning. At the request of the American Sociological Association, he has edited three volumes of the ASA Teaching Resource Center's Social Stratification Courses: Syllabi and Instructional Materials, a guide for instructors seeking to develop or revise social stratification courses.

Lillian Yeager (FACET 1990), Campus Dean of Nursing at IU Southeast, has received the IUSON Alumni Association Honorary Alumna Award for her exceptional contributions to the university-wide School of Nursing system and for her dedicated efforts to bring greater recognition to the nursing profession.

PUBLICATIONS, PRESENTATIONS, & OTHER NEWS

Lisa Bingham (FACET 1996), SPEA at IU Bloomington, gave a lecture entitled "Control over Dispute System Design: The Unresolved Issue for Dispute Resolution" at Santa Clara (Calif.) University School of Law on Feb. 15.

Steven Carr (FACET 2000), Communication at IPFW, will be a featured speaker at a symposium entitled "Business Ethics and the Holocaust—Lessons Learned and Their Impact on the Economy, Media, and Culture" on Monday, March 20, at Adelphi University in Garden City, N.Y. Carr, who was a 2002-2003 U.S. Holocaust Memorial Museum Center for Advanced Holocaust Studies Fellow, will deliver an address on "Hollywood and the Holocaust—Too Little Too Late? An Assessment of the Movie Industry during the Nazi Regime." The presentation draws upon rarely seen archival documents uncovered by Carr since Cambridge University Press published his Hollywood and Anti-Semitism: A Cultural History up to World War II, in 2001.

Bernie Carducci (FACET 1989) and Teesue Fields (FACET 1999), Psychology and Education respectively, at IU Southeast, have co-authored a book, The Shyness Workbook for Teens, published by Research Press. The book provides teens and those who work with them activities for understanding shyness and how to become "successfully shy." Bernie is Professor of Psychology and Teesue is a Professor of Counseling.

Marcia Dixon (FACET 2006), Communication at IPFW, will be presenting a 45 minute interactive workshop at Lilly Conference on College Teaching-West in March of 2007 entitled "Effective Cooperative Learning via Discussion Forums: An Online Application of Team Principles"

She also has two articles accepted for publication in 06/07: "Creating effective online discussions: Instructor and student roles" with Michelle Kuhlhorst and Amber Reiff accepted by Journal of Asynchronous Learning Networks, and "Teaching Family Communication Concepts through Family Stories: An Analysis of Stories and Rituals in David Bradley's Harvest Home" accepted by Communication Teacher.

Art Friedel (FACET 1991), Chemistry at IPFW, was a participant in an Oxford Roundtable this summer on Science and Faith: The Great Matter. It concerned the debate in the US about evolution. There were scientists, philosophers, high school science teachers and theologians, among the group which took place at Exeter College and the Oxford Union, Oxford, England. He gave a paper on the results of a survey carried out at IPFW.

Richard Gunderman (FACET 2003), Radiology at IUPUI, published two books Essential Radiology: Clinical Presentation, Pathophysiology, Imaging and Achieving Excellence in Medical Education.

Richard Hug (FACET 1992), along with four others from SPEA at IU Northwest, were members of a panel and presented papers on the topic: "Implementing Learner-Centered Approaches" at the Teaching Public Administration Conference in Olympia, Wash., on Feb. 11.

Dorothy Ige (FACET 1994), Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at IU Northwest, presented a refereed research paper, "Pedagogies for a Multicultural Transitional World: A Communication Perspective," at the International Learning Conference, held in Jamaica in June.

Susan Moffett (FACET 1994), who recently completed her stint as Dean of the School of Arts and Letters at IU Southeast, is participating in an exchange portfolio titled "Who Owns You?" The folio will be exhibited in Madison, Wis., this month as part of the Southern Graphics Council annual meeting.

Robert Osgood (FACET 1999), and two others from the School of Education at IUPUI redesigned two courses: F200: Invitation to Teaching and H341: American Culture and Education. The redesign will include service learning and academic opportunities linked to the growing Hispanic community in the Indianapolis area.

Eric Schansberg (FACET 2003), Economics at IU Southeast, ran for the 9th district congressional seat representing the Libertarian party.

Sue Sciame-Giesecke (FACET 1991), Dean of the School of Arts and Sciences at IU Kokomo, is a part of a faculty and staff task force working with the Kokomo Downtown Association on revitalization plans.

Cliff Staten (FACET 1994), Dean of the School of Social Sciences at IU Southeast, advised the seven IU Southeast students participating in the 13th annual National Council on U.S.-Arab Relations Midwest Model Arab League Program at Miami of Ohio University. The IU Southeast students represented the country of Yemen and won several awards for outstanding presentation.

CAMPUS UPDATES

IU Southeast Update

On August 23rd, we held the annual "FACET Day" which is a professional development opportunity and part of the activities associated with "welcome back week". The presentation was on brain compatible teaching and was attended by approximately 40 faculty members.

On October 27th we conducted an "advanced peer review training" facilitated by Robin Morgan (FACET 1993). This was a follow-up to previous seminars on conducting peer reviews and attended by 12 faculty member, all of whom are members of FACET.

A number of our members have conducted peer reviews on campus which are coordinated by our Institute for Learning and Teaching Excellence.

Sadly, we lost a wonderful and extremely well respected FACET colleague, Lillian Yeager (FACET 1990), Dean of the Division of Nursing. She will be fondly remembered by faculty and students for her many contributions to excellence in teaching.

IUPUI Update

The Biomedical Engineering Technology-BS degree proposal has been approved by the Indiana Higher Education Commission at its May 12, 2006 meeting at Vincennes University. Special thanks go to the Director of the Program, Barbara Christe (FACET 2005), Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering Technology faculty and staff, as well as to the Office of Undergraduate Academic Programs. Aramark Corporation supported the development of the degree program with $100K sponsorship.

IU Northwest Update

Iztok Hozo (FACET 2000), won the A&S research award (sharing with Allegrezza) and all-campus research award. He also recently published five peer reviewed articles, including publications in JAMAL and British Medical Journal.

Linda Delunas (FACET 2001), has two recent publications as well as being the recipient of the Indiana University W. George Pinnell Outstanding Service Award, April, 2006 and the Indiana University Northwest Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs Outstanding Service Activity Award.

Friday, May 18th—Saturday, May 19th, 2007

A new location, The Season's Lodge in Nashville, was chosen to host our 2007 FACET retreat, however due to a fire in the early morning hours of January 2nd this location was destroyed.

After

Before pictures were pulled from The Season's Lodge website at <http://www.seasonsloodge.com/> on 01-12-2006. After pictures were pulled from <http://www.wishtv.com/Global/story.asp?S=5879307> and <http://www.indystar.com/apps/pbcs.dll/article?AID=/20070102/LOCAL/701020413/0/BREAK>, respectively, on 01-12-2006.

Due to short notice, the only location that we could secure for the weekend before the big race was University Place Hotel and Conference Center located in Indianapolis on the IUPUI campus. With the venue chosen being more of a conference setting than a retreat setting, we decided to change the flow of our retreat somewhat this year. The retreat will start on Friday night a little later than normal with an opening plenary around 3 PM and the retreat will end Saturday early evening after a closing plenary. Please watch for updates on our website as the date approaches. For more information on University Place, please check out the link below.

Indianapolis, IN

Indianapolis is the home to the Indy 500, which will be held on Sunday, May 27th this year. However, the Friday that you arrive for the retreat is Carb Day at the track, so if you want to come to Indy early, you could spend a little time at the track. For more information on the 500 please check out the link below.

Future Faculty Teaching Fellows

Four Winds Resort and Marina Bloomington, IN July 13-15, 2007

The tenth annual Future Faculty Teaching Fellows (FFTF) Summer Institute cosponsored by FACET and RUGS (Research and the University Graduate School) will be held July 13-15, 2007 at Four Winds Resort and Marina in Bloomington, Indiana. The institute gives graduate students, interested in teaching and research careers, who are nearing the end of their doctoral work, the opportunity to spend a semester or two as a half time faculty fellow at one of the eight IU campuses. The experience that the future faculty will gain should be similar to what they will endure when they enter into an academic position after completing their doctoral program. The goals of the institute include (1) increased familiarity with students on the IU campuses; (2) increased knowledge of faculty realities on the IU campuses; (3) increased repertoire of course design and strategies; and, (4) increased self-assessment and reflection on teaching.

Greetings from the Mack Center for Inquiry on Teaching and Learning!

Mack Fellows have been hard at work this year. We began the year by welcoming new fellows, Dr. Sabrina Williamson and Dr. Valerie Chang. Together they are assessing the use of case-based learning in teaching social work practice skills to both undergraduate and graduate students.

The Journal of Scholarship of Teaching and Learning (JoSoTL) has posted two new issues, with the able help of Donald Coffin, Eugenia Fernandez, Joan Lafuze, David Malik, Julie Saam, Ellen Sigler, and many reviewers. See <http://www.iupui.edu/~josotl/> to read our issues.

We also completed our work on the Brief Student Goal Orientation Intervention to Improve Science Course Success project, funded by an Intercampus Research Fund grant. Bernice Pescosolido, Mark Hoyert, David Malik, and Carol Hostetter were involved. The intervention, designed to improve student success through changing students' learning motivation, was tested on two campuses and in two different science classes. Results indicated that improvement was made in student retention. We used the data to apply for a National Science Foundation grant.

Mack Fellows also have made many presentations this semester. Two of note were for the Bloomington SoTL program and the International Society of the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning conference. Bernice Pescosolido, David Malik, David Pace and Carol Hostetter presented Quick Hits for SOTL: A Brief Orientation to Actual Issues in the Process of Scholarly Inquiry.

We are also consultants for the institutional team for Indiana University Bloomington's Carnegie Academy for the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning Leadership Program. The team will support the university's development of a collaborative SoTL community.

We are currently reviewing proposals for our next cohort of Mack Fellows, and looking forward to new projects in the spring. Please let us know if you have ideas for faculty development in SoTL or collaborative research projects. Indiana University has many opportunities to offer the teacher / scholar.

Mack Endowment Match Ending Soon

The Mack Endowment was set up for a matching program with the IU Trustees on June 21, 2002. It provides for a 1:1 match on earnings from all gifts and irrevocable pledges received prior to June 21, 2007 in perpetuity. Note that the date is approaching rapidly. The money in this account is used to fund the Mack Center for Inquiry on Teaching and Learning along with the P.A. Mack Award for Distinguished Service to Teaching. The Mack Center oversees JoSoTL along with the Mack Fellows program. Please help us to raise new funding in this account to take advantage of this last 6 months of matching by going to our website today and clicking on any of the "Give Now buttons". Once you have entered the fundraising website, it will ask you about designating your gift, please follow the instructions for putting the money in a specific account. We greatly appreciate any contributions that you make.

Call for Nominations

P. A. Mack Award

NOMINATIONS ARE BEING SOUGHT for 2007 P.A. Mack Award for Distinguished Service to Teaching. The Mack Award will be awarded annually to an individual who has an extensive career of demonstrated excellence and distinguished service to teaching consistent with the goals and ideals of the Faculty Colloquium for Excellence in Teaching (FACET).

P.A. Mack, former IU Trustee and lifelong advocate for teaching excellence, was given the first award at the annual FACET retreat in May 1999.

DEFINITION OF DISTINGUISHED SERVICE TO TEACHING

For the purposes of this award, "distinguished service to teaching" is broadly defined as service in the form of leadership or creative participation that significantly and demonstrably advances and/or extends the goals and ideals of FACET as spelled out in the FACET mission statement.

To qualify, service must extend beyond an individual's own disciplinary unit and/or campus. Service activities need not be limited to the Indiana University system; however, the contributions cited in the nomination letter must include service to Indiana University.

ELIGIBILITY

Nominees may include but are not limited to FACET members. Non-FACET faculty, administrators, professional staff, alumni, associate instructors, adjunct faculty, and others who have contributed distinguished service to teaching also are eligible for this award.

REWARDS AND EXPECTATIONS

The winner will be recognized at the next annual FACET retreat (May 18-19, 2007), and will be invited to organize and lead the "Annual P.A. Mack Distinguished Service to Teaching Forum" at the retreat the following year (May 2008). The Forum will be planned in collaboration with the annual FACET retreat planning committee and can take the form of a presentation, interactive discussion, workshop, or other form of creative or scholarly activity related to teaching. The specific nature of both the retreat Forum and the outreach effort will be left to the discretion of the winner, but will be planned and implemented in collaboration with FACET staff. The winner will also receive a monetary award of $2,500 provided by the Mack Endowment and the Indiana University Foundation.

NOMINATION PROCESS

Those nominating an individual for the award must be members of FACET. A nominator should write a 3-4 page letter documenting the nominee's distinguished service and how it demonstrably advances the goals and ideals of FACET and also certifying that the individual meets the other eligibility requirements for the award. Self-nominations will not be accepted. Please send the letter of nomination to:

P.A. Mack Award Selection Committee
c/o FACET
755 W. Michigan St, UL 1180
Indianapolis, IN 46202
or e-mail to facet@iupui.edu

Nominations due: April 6, 2007

SELECTION PROCESS

A selection committee will review all letters of nomination, soliciting any additional evidence needed in order to make an informed decision, and ultimately selecting the annual winner. The selection committee will consist of members of FACET who are actively involved in the organization in the form of one or more of its major initiatives (the retreat planning committee, the steering committee, etc.) or serving as a Campus Liaison, and past winners of the award. P.A. Mack, Jr., the person for whom the award is named, serves as an ex-officio member of the committee.

PAST AWARD WINNERS

2006: Scott Sernau, IUSB and James Mumford, IU Bloomington (honorary)

2005: Anya Peterson Royce, IU Bloomington

2004: Eileen Bender, IU South Bend

2003: Craig Nelson, IU Bloomington and David Baker, IU Bloomington (honorary)

2002: Pam Jeffries, IUPUI and David Pace, IU Bloomington; and Tom Erlich, IU (honorary)

2001: Randall Osborne, IU East and Ken Gros Louis, IU Bloomington (honorary)

2000: Janet Donley, IU Bloomington

1999: P.A. Mack Jr.

IUN

Tanice Foltz, Associate Professor of Sociology at I. U. Northwest, was inducted into FACET in 2000. That year she participated in the annual retreat's talent show in a solo belly-dancing performance, as well as with several IUN Women's Studies colleagues in a choreographed dance to "Stop! In the name of love!" Since that time Tanice has been active in FACET and has nominated several IUN faculty who became FACET members. She has co-chaired the annual retreat, presented in sessions, and in 2006 organized and hosted a session on "Body percussion, Movement, and Learning" in which P.A. Mack and FACET members from a wide range of backgrounds joyfully participated. Tanice's research focuses on the social phenomenon of drumming and its relation to community, respect for diversity, and awareness. She is interested in how sound and movement are related to motivation, learning, healing and spirituality. Tanice has three publications that address drumming in relation to women, spirituality, and community service and she is working on a book about drumming.

Meet some of our newest FACET Liaisons

IUS

Anne Allen was born in California and attended the University of California San Diego where she majored in biology. She received a Masters in Art History from San Diego State University and a PhD from Columbia University in New York in 1993. Anne specializes in the art of the South Pacific, particularly Polynesia. Her dissertation concerns the vernacular architecture of the islands of Samoa where she conducted extensive field work in 1990 – 91. She often returns for research and to visit her adopted family there. Since coming to the Fine Arts department at IU Southeast in 1994 Anne has been the sole full-time Art Historian. As such she teaches both western and indigenous art surveys, upper level courses in South Pacific, Native American, and Japanese art as well as the art of the Baroque, Northern Renaissance, and 19th century. Anne has been a FACET member since 2004 and was the recipient of the IUS Outstanding Teacher award in 2005.

Ken Schoon, Professor of Education at IUNW, joins Tanice as co-liaison. He recently had a commentary published in the Journal of Great Lakes Research entitled "A Suggestion to Again Use the Original and Locally-Accepted Spelling of Tolleston." He was the invited essayist for the 2007 Our Indiana Dunes Calendar published by the Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore. The essay was entitled, "The Ever-Changing Dunes." And in December 2006, he anticipates the publication of a book entitled, Munster, Indiana: A Centennial History, it is an illustrated history of the town. Lance Trusty, Purdue Calumet professor emeritus of history wrote the text and Ken gathered about 360 photographs that illustrate both Munster's history and the present town. The book should be out by December 15th. In addition, he as been awarded the campus research award in 2004.

Mary L. Fisher, PhD, RN, CNAA, BC is Professor, Nursing Administration and Department Chair, Environments for Health at the Indiana University School of Nursing, Indianapolis, IN. She teaches primarily in the Executive MSN program in Nursing Administration using problem-based learning methodology. She consults on Magnet Hospital preparation, evidence-based practice, problem-based learning, and administrative leadership and has been a legal nurse expert for over 20 years. She was awarded the President’s Distinguished Teaching Award for 2006 and has been a member of FACET since 1997. She currently serves as IUPUI FACET co-liaison with Betty Jones.

North Carolina native Betty Jones joined the IUPUI faculty in 1983, with physical education/teacher preparation and aquatics as expertise areas. Her publications appear in many national journals. She has served as president of the Indiana Association for Health, Physical Education, Recreation & Dance, chair of state and national aquatics councils, and is currently on the Social Justice Committee of the National Association for Kinesiology & Physical Education in Higher Education. She co-chairs the Values & Ethics faculty community of practice, is a member of the Understanding Society & Culture “CoP” and chairs the campus Academic Affairs Committee. She has served on the FACET Retreat Planning Committee and presented at many FACET retreats for full- and part-time faculty. In her spare time, Betty enjoys cozy mysteries, crosswords, hiking and teaching juggling to anybody who will give it a try.

E.C. Moore Symposium Friday, March 2, 2007

In keeping with the long-standing tradition of gathering around an academic issue of interest to all, the E. C. Moore Symposium will offer a variety of sessions that emphasize innovation and best practices. Scholarly activities are occurring on campus that enhance the practice and profession of teaching as well as bring multiculturalism and diversity into the classroom and onto campus.

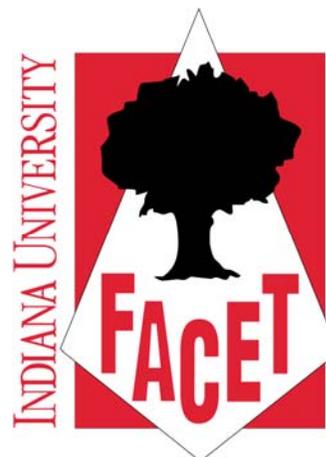

For the 2007 symposium, some of the following questions will be explored:

- How are faculty successfully integrating diversity or multiculturalism concepts or strategies in their classes to enhance students' learning experiences?
- How can we improve the recruitment and retention of diverse populations?
- What successful strategies are we employing to ensure the success of students of color (in classrooms, undergraduate research, co-curricular learning, service learning)?
- How are we preparing students to become engaged citizens and professionals in an increasingly global society?
- What approaches are faculty employing to internationalize the curriculum?
- What are innovative uses of technology that address the needs of diverse learners?

For more information please contact the Center for Teaching and Learning at 274-1300 or check out the website at <http://www.opd.iupui.edu/symposium/>
