FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

It is our pleasure to present in the first issue of AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION the detailed minutes of the first Congress of the Future Farmers of America, held November 20, 1929, at the Baltimore Hotel at Kansas City, Missouri. Much space will regularly be given to the activities of all kinds of organizations of students in vocational agriculture and these will be treated under the generic head given above, which has now been made official for the country at large. It is expected that for a long time, and probably permanently, there will be wide variations in the organization and management of student organizations in the various states. It is our understanding that there will be no attempt on the part of the national organization to standardize the details of state procedure. Consequently, it seems that this new organization is one in which all may share and that the adoption of its name as the heading under which to treat the activities of all student groups in the country is justifiable.

Mr. Henry G. Groscolace of Virginia, who has been actively identified with this movement from the beginning and who is the executive secretary of the new national organization, will edit these materials for us. A departmental organization will not, however, be rigidly followed.

THE MINUTES OF THE ORGANIZATION MEETING AT KANSAS CITY

The meeting was called to order by acting President Dr. C. H. Lane at 2:30 p.m.

The following talks were given:

"Aims and Purposes of the F. F. A. Organization," Dr. C. H. Lane, acting President, Future Farmers of America.

Delegates then reported the progress of the organization by states. A summary of these reports follows:

OREGON—Neal Thompson. No state organization at present, but the delegates are going home and help the state supervisor of agriculture perfect an organization. By the time of the next annual meeting Oregon will have a charter.

SOUTH CAROLINA—Wallace Grant. This is the second year South Carolina has had a state organization of Future Farmers. Now have 2,000 members. Last year the state president was sent to Denmark to study agricultural education. Nine boys were granted Planter degrees this year. Have made application for a state charter from F. F. A. Have a complete program of work. Expect to publish a state hand book.

UTAH—Albert Banks. At the state fair this year, 300 vocational agriculture boys from 31 schools met and voted to apply for a charter from the F. F. A. Have a state organization at the present time. Expect to publish some kind of a magazine.

MICHIGAN—Clan Hansel. Have no state Future Farmer organization at present. Hope to become affiliated the coming year. The matter will be presented at the state judging contest where some 1,200 vocational agriculture boys will be told of this meeting.
IOWA--Herschel Hintermeister. No state organization. Most agricultural departments have local clubs. Expect to organize on the state plan.

NEBRASKA--Alvin Reimer. Have local agricultural associations, but not a state organization. Expect to organize on state basis later.

NEW JERSEY--Leslie Applegate. State organization called Young Farmers Association of New Jersey. Started October, 1923. Have local associations in all schools where vocational agriculture is taught. Have a vocational agriculture watch fob that was designed by an agriculture boy. Have published three year books. Voted at last annual meeting to apply for a charter from the F. F. A., and charter has been granted. Have a program of work for next year.

NORTH DAKOTA--Howard Creo. At present 32 out of our 44 agriculture departments are in favor of affiliating with the F. F. A. We hope soon to apply for a charter.

OHIO--Lawrence Augustine. We have at present 123 local clubs of the Tomesend Literary Society with 900 members. It is expected that this state group will apply for a charter from the F. F. A.

OKLAHOMA--Ollie Duray. Have a state F. F. O. organization that started two years ago. At present have 67 chapters. Last year we held four state encampments. F. F. O. Boys won $2,500 in prizes last year.

KANSAS--Robert Paige. Have local agriculture clubs, and are getting started with a state organization.
ARKANSAS—Jesse Woodard. Have 5 local chapters of F. F. A. (Arkansas) with a membership of 1,175.

ARIZONA—Dwight Patterson. Held the first state meeting November 5, with 15 local chapters represented. Expect to become affiliated with F. F. A.

CALIFORNIA—Arthur Keppeler. Formerly had a state organization, but it has disbanded. Recently five local clubs have signified their intention of reorganizing a state association and becoming affiliated with the F. F. A. Application will be made for a charter.

COLORADO—Don Godsey. No state organization at present. At a meeting of vocational agriculture boys held at the state fair this year with ten schools represented, it was decided to form a state association that later will ask to become affiliated with the F. F. A.

IDAHO—Carrol Baker. No statewide meeting has been held to discuss the F. F. A. organization, but four district groups representing 19 out of 22 schools have discussed the matter, and it is hoped that a state organization will soon be perfected.

WISCONSIN—Donald Godfrey. No state organization at present, but hope to have one by the next annual meeting of the F. F. A.

VIRGINIA—Hampton Campbell. Report follows:

Prior to 1925-26 there were in operation in Virginia from 10 to 15 local organizations for students of vocational agriculture. These local organizations were accomplishing a great deal of good and it was generally felt that more organizations of a similar nature should be started and perhaps the local groups be brought together into a state organization. In October, 1925, a drive was launched in Virginia to establish local chapters of a state organization of students of vocational agriculture named the Future Farmers of Virginia.

Students of vocational agriculture throughout the state were very enthusiastic over the idea and by the time of the first state meeting in April, 1927, 72 local chapters had been formed. The main objectives pushed by the organization during this formative period were father and son banquets, school ground improvement projects, thrift banks, and agricultural exhibits. Results of the drive on these objectives were considered quite good, as 67 father and son banquets were held, 60 school ground improvement projects inaugurated and 40 exhibits displaying the supervised practice work of the students were displayed. Sixty thrift banks were in operation with a total of $52,000 invested in savings accounts and $80,000 invested in farming. The first state meeting of the organization was held at the state college in April, 1927, at which time state officers were elected, the constitution and by-laws adopted, a program of work set up, and 25 members were awarded the Virginia Planters degree.

The objectives of the organization for the year 1927-28 included a drive for thrift banks, the completion of 90 percent of supervised practice enterprises, father and son banquets, the financing of judging teams to the National Dairy Show and the American Royal Livestock Show, and the investing of $150,000 in farming.

The report of the executive committee at the 1928 meeting, which was also held at the state college, showed that the chapters had increased to 100 and the number of members to 2,400.
Seventy-nine thrift banks had been in operation and 1,600 members had a total savings account of $78,000 in addition to $130,000 invested in farming.
Fifty-two chapters reached the goal of 50 percent of their projects completed. Ninety-one chapters contributed $419 towards defraying the expenses of the judging team. Eighty-two father and son banquets were held during the year. Forty-seven chapters staged agricultural exhibits and 16 chapters sponsored community fairs. Forty-nine school ground improvement projects were conducted and 32 chapters bought and sold agricultural produce and supplies cooperatively, and 55 plays, debates, etc., were given to raise money for various activities of local chapters.

The 1928 state meeting was held in April at Blacksburg and new officers were elected and the Virginia Planter degree conferred upon successful candidates. At this meeting it was decided that state dues of 61 per member would be necessary for meeting the financial obligations of the organization. From money collected from dues the expense of judging teams to national contests are to be defrayed, pins are to be furnished the members as well as Virginia Planter keys, and judging awards are to be purchased.
from these funds. Chapter Chats, the official publication of the organization, has been published in printed form since March, 1920; so far this paper has financed itself thru advertising matter, but it may be that some money will have to be taken from the treasury to assist in publishing this magazine.

The objectives for the year 1926-1929 are as follows:
1. A thrift bank in every chapter, with 100 percent of members with savings accounts.
2. Ninety percent of the supervised practice enterprises to be completed during the coming year.
3. One hundred percent of members to pay their state dues by October 1.
4. Every chapter to hold a "Father and Son Banquet."
5. A total investment in farming and savings of a quarter of a million dollars by July 1, 1929.
6. Every chapter to hold a summer encampment or take a farm tour this summer, preferably with some other chapter or chapters.

The executive committee further recommends that a movement be started toward the establishment of a permanent F. F. V. Camp in a suitable location in Virginia.

It is anticipated that there will be approximately 105 local chapters in operation during the current year, and to date 1,200 members have paid up their annual dues. From these dues sufficient money has been taken to finance the judging team to Memphis and a livestock judging team to Kansas City.

Following the report of the delegates, the annual report of the Board of Trustees was given by the executive secretary, Mr. Henry Groseclose.

That the executive secretary be asked to prepare a handbook for the F. F. A.
That the executive secretary be instructed to grant charters to all state associations that have applied for them.—H. O. Sampson, Acting Secretary. Kansas City, November 16, 1928.

The next order of business was the awarding of keys to American Farmers. Previous to the meeting credentials of boys who had passed the state farmer degree or were eligible to this degree were examined by the members of the Board of Trustees and the following were given the award this year:

The keys were presented by Robert Haltby, Advisor of F. F. A. at the banquet for vocational agriculture boys held in the Baltimore Hotel, following the adjournment of the F. F. A. meeting.

The last order of business was the reports of committees. These reports follow:

The Resolutions Committee gave the following report and the resolutions were adopted:

REPORT OF RESOLUTION COMMITTEE

We, the Future Farmers of America, a national organization of students of vocational agriculture, in our first annual congress assembled at Kansas City, Missouri, realizing that the present federal aid extended to the states for the instruction of vocational agriculture is inadequate to meet the present needs and to take care of future growth do hereby resolve:

That we are heartily in favor of the George-Manges-Reed bill now before Congress. We request that this bill be passed during the present session of Congress.

We further resolve that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Senator Walter F. George of Georgia, Congressman Franklin Jones of Pennsylvania, and Congressman B. A. Reed of New York, sponsors of this bill.

We, the Future Farmers of America, assembled in our first annual congress, wish to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation to the following individuals and organizations who have helped us in making our organization a success:

Dr. O. H. Lane, of the Federal Board for Vocational Education; Mr. George A. Collett, President of Kansas City Stock Yards Company; Mr. J. F. Case, author of "Tom of Peace Valley"; Mr. R. L. Following the committee reports, acting President Lane called on Mr. Henry, agricultural member of the Federal Board for Vocational Education, to tell the delegates something of the importance of organization among groups. Mr. Henry predicted that the F. F. A. would become a distinct power in furthering vocational education in the United States.

President Applegata was then called to the front and the meeting turned over to him. He told the delegates that he would give his best efforts during the coming year toward making the newly organized F. F. A. a success. He then called on each of the other officers for brief talks, after which the meeting adjourned.
