Chancellor Bantz:

Give topics to respond to:

- Caleb Comoglio: Rec Center
 - Maria Harlan: Shuttles
 - Public person: Food Court not being open
 - Mary Ankenbruck: conversion of hotel
 - Rishi Chandra: Tuition increase plan
 - Maria Harlan: No smoking
- Campus Citizen Spokesperson: possible parking privatization
Maria Harlan: Housing/ Parking Dental
Andrew Davis: Campus in relation to master plan

Master plan: It's a multi year process facilities master plan done to provide physicality of campus. Purpose of broader concept. Master Plan done by national firm that designed Campus Center. Don't plan to not build on anyone else's land. Work with space we have. Give us some good ideas on how to connect to IU health. Including Methodist hospital. It's not very far but we have already started projects that reflect it including the engineering science and lab building. Part of master plan to be cluster of building. Probably 3. That is the plan and this is the first step of it. Science and engineering faculty are already cheering for it. Don't have funding for next building. Being funded without state of Indiana resources. Funded by research dollars. Also with housing near dental school. Vermont is to be student housing. Housing in front of the garages. Next housing would go on Vermont south of the dental school right across from other garage Townhome looking feel like you belong there. It shapes decisions and guides what we do and don't do. The rec center you have been the best proponents as students. We think it is a good idea the question is how we do it and how do we get permission. How do we get permission from Indiana University to do it? The best way is to present it as your interest as student. It will cost students money the state of Indiana has not built the rec centers at large universities. State is not building buildings for us. The gift it will be a magnificent gift. If we could find the right donor otherwise funded through student fees. Our trustees are focused on concerns.

Hotel conversion: General. This hotel was owned by a private property and owner wanted to exit we went through a laborious process to buy it. We borrowed the money and redid it. Borrowed $31 million dollars. The hotel was not making money every year. Only a couple years did it make money. We very quietly did analyses. We considered redesigning it into a residence hall and a hotel. It requires specific thing to work. Yes we can do change it best single thing to do for student success. Higher student living on campus is a bigger student success. One major problem with campus is that we don't have a dining hall. My cabinet pushed for this. Heard it from you and heard it from parents. Chartwells will build it. If we had to get state approval we would have had a year and half delay for this. Hotel closes November 30th. Chancellors will run until next may. The Den will close 1 January or November. Faculty club will be open full time. Classes will be open next semester in what is now called the conference center. Next summer hotel will get switched to rooms and will work on things. Soft open next summer to test. Launch full steam next fall. 560 students will live in this area. I think it will be a tremendous improvement to make it a more friendly place for students.

Parking privatization: Indiana University as a whole has been following national trend where taking assets and leasing them to private enterprises and claiming resources. Two best examples: city of Chicago leased skyway and got billions of dollars out of it. Mitch Daniels lease agreement with the toll way 3 billion in cash up front. Ohio State just did this with its parking garages for 485 million dollars. As a result our trustees said what about parking. Has been asked several times. Indy has businesses that do this. Indianapolis did lease on the meters in the last year in a half. Each one of these is different. This is a different business deal. It is a business negation. We are a huge part of it because we have a lot of parking. Bloomington has a lot as well.

David Willard: I know the different levels but students still use lower parking is there any way to get rid of this current parking system?

Chancellor: You mean the system? Yes I used to know the system that the University of Minnesota had where no student had a pass every student went and paid by the day. If you didn't show up by 8 o'clock you wouldn't get a spot as a Minneapolis student. You would drive 4 or 5 miles to married student campus and take the bus. I tried never to drive. If you carpooled you could get in to the carpool lot. That is another model. Everyone looks at me like they'll shoot me.

Davenport: Having space available

Chancellor: Other thing is lot 59. At Arizona State. Parking at the stadium which is not in the center of campus and its Arizona so its 112. So its fun to walk from lot 59 which is like Lucas Oil Stadium to Here. There was always a lot of parking but you couldn't take a class close. Indiana Avenue is a similar model. We have a great committee and what we care about. Which you (points at Tony Greco) have served on. We have to worry about hospitals which 1 million visitors come to and their payments help reduce your cost of parking. All of these pieces are part of this puzzle we are trying to work out. Question then is what we do with upfront money. We pay off everything we owe. We do that first then what do we do. What are best investments we can make that can justify giving up revenue? It is a key service and business question we recognize as a urban campus we understand access is important also that public transportation is not good. We'll have to find out about the shuttles

Food court hours: we are very sensitive to this. They do have to have traffic. I will raise that to you (points to Vice Chancellor Davenport) and Vice Chancellor Rhodes. Vice Chancellor Davenport: Bring in Kate Julis .

Chancellor Bantz: I have never asked about a presentation to shuttles we've added a lot of stops about Eskinazi and Wishard.

Public Support: Just a lot of people think things can be combined.

Vice Chancellor Davenport: couldn't hear

Chancellor Bantz : gave summary

Maria Harlan: They Leave students

Mary ANkneburck: They said no reason we asked they were just told by supervisors we couldn't do it. During winter it will be more issue.

Chancellor Bantz: May be bigger state issue.

Vice Chancellor Davenport: Is this on just campus aprtments?

Chancellor Bantz: All of them. They are all ours.

Chancellor Bantz: we will get back to you on if this is a state policy thing

Smoking Policy: We were pleased to hear about the policy. You (Points at Jon) about why this matters and how we should move forward. I think this is important to have students involved. Dean Luzar is a passionate advocate. This is a big move. Only 18 tobacco free in 2005. In the next year we did this and we had issues come us.

Colleges at hospitals to do this. We went to this whole campus policy. We cannot prevent smoking on a public site. Most of our streets are public not private. Biggest problem is people standing in doorways smoking. We are limited about how we can enforce. I was not in favor of involving police we don't have enough, in my opinion, to do this. The state legislature trumped that by passing the law after being beaten up for years. Now it's against the law to smoke within 8 ft of the door and it is against university policy. I barked at someone about this last night. I did it because if you don't tell someone they shouldn't smoke they are at a risk of a $150 ticket. You do a favor to a smoker to say it is against the law to smoke. The next one to tell you may be a police officer and you may be reported to the university's judicial process. We are offering smoking cessation. Nicotine is an addicting product. Research on this is astonishing. It tricks you into getting certain settings and thinking you physically need a hit. Thank goodness people quit because impact is so bad on them and others. Also every fall we bring in new people. Some are going to come in and say I don't want this and others are going to not know. I am so old people would smoke while teaching while I was in undergrad. It stopped soon after. It was a bad flashback because I don't like smoke. We made progress but we need to continue to fight

David Willard: I wish there was someone who would patrol in the library because I have seen people smoking on the steps so I wish someone was there to guard

Chancellor Bantz: ON the library corridor on the backside?

David Willard: Yes

Chancellor Bantz: We have hired students to do this but we were considered about students in past. I find there is something about a suit telling you to stop. I want you to know the head of Wishard hospital. I've seen a 5 ft. 3 in. person say they cannot smoke and have to vacate the premise. We need to tell people we need to stop. I try to not pull my car over and say it.

Campus Citizen: Area outside lecture hall is that public?

Chancellor Bantz: Yes. Unfortunately. Wall is not but sidewalk is. I have seen people standing in the street.

Public: So sidewalks in the campus not on the border

Chancellor Bantz: On the website there is a website and it shows in green what is public. Green is public. Most people respond to telling where they can. Some people just don't know.

Tuition: I am an empiricist. There will be increase in tuition. The question is always scale. There is enormous concern about tuition increase being large. There will not be a 5% increase. We are trying to keep it as close to 0 we have not had these conversations. We try not to until next spring. We have been looking at ways to capture resources to reduce expenditures. One Idea would be 2 million from parking. We put in endowment. We have done other things to reduce cost but total price reasons were ineffective. There is 2 or 3 years down the line and then we have to raise it a lot. I am always cautious about freezes. As your reading a lot about tuition in this country if you take all public universities the decline in state support in this country is matched cost of living with cost of living. We have not had as big of cuts as other states. Here we have been fortunate because the state did not cut us that much. We have been able to keep raises less. Graduate and professional tuition has increased exponentially and I think it's going to hit a level. Dental school tuition here is amongst the highest Rishi Chandra: My concern is as a non-resident the 2% or 3% has a big impact. Could there be a policy increasing a dollar amount for every student instead of percent.

Chancellor Bantz: Nonresident tuition has increased faster than resident tuition and has a larger impact on them. This is an issue that has been coming up in conversations; especially as we compare ourselves to other. Our undergraduate nonresident is about to approach private levels. These are all connected. The other idea some have tried is to try to say that it will increase by x and only x. I think this may be an idea. We are trying to look at strategies to make it better. The final piece is we are trying to increase tuition and aid. One of the thing in the national conversation is that you want to study studio artist and those average incomes are less than accounts students should know. I studied a lot of things my undergraduate is in secondary education. I did borrow money as an undergrad and teaching was not a career that was not going to pay back relative to my first interest, business. I took a decline in my options by becoming a teacher and becoming a professor. Now we are saying we need to help people with this thinking. We have some tools on our website we Rishi Chandra: 90% of scholarships require you to be a US citizen.

Chancellor Bantz: One thing that is clear to be is if we support study abroad we need to support those coming here to study. I think this is important. I think this is a chance for us in fundraising. I think there are people who recognize this. Thank you for giving me your time. I really appreciate you getting involved in student government. This is a different place today than it was four years ago in terms of student involvement and it is fun to see this. You all did fall break. I have been involved with change for years and you pulled off one of the hardest things. Some of these other issues. We started working through hard decisions. Don't assume we've intentionally done something stupid.

Devin Bready: Now we have Matt McKay here to talk about registered student organizations.

Matt McKay: Many of you know the re-registration process is through myinvolvement. If you are not cleared through that process you will see a red banner. We are going through some things and now that it is amassing so much information that some things we thought some things were working that were not. Do not use student link. Everything is through myinvolvementnet. If you are unsure about the process please contact me if you see a red banner .Once you fill it out in myinvolvement it goes through us and then it goes to your advisor. The advisor needs to then fill it out. This is where many of the delays are occurring. If you have any questions please contact us.

Devin Bready: I would like to remind you that while in senate always act professionally. The first time you talk out of turn, interrupt, or personally attack someone I will warn you. The second time it happens I will throw you out.

Devin Bready: In the past they have worked together

Caleb Comogli: When do elections actually begin since we don't do elections until spring?

Tony Greco: So election process is in spring however it does take a semester to go do info tables and have student organizations help because it's not just us who do elections through this also committee reviews elections code.
