Other Question(s)

1. Please describe faculty/staff participation in the planning process in your unit. What factors strongly influence your budget and planning priorities? Please give examples, which might include attracting and retaining undergraduates, strengthening graduate programs, building collaborative partnerships, increasing diversity in faculty and student populations.

The IUPUI Division of Student Life relies on the Division of Student Life Strategic Plan 2007-2012 to guide its work. This strategic plan was developed over a period of time in 2006-2007 under the auspices of a broad representation from all staff within the Division of Student Life. The three over-arching goals of the Strategic Plan are: 1) excellence in community building, 2) excellence in student engagement, and 3) excellence in professional practice. These goals help the Division and each unit set its budget and planning priorities.

Since the current strategic plan ends in June of 2012, plans are already underway at this time to develop a new strategic plan once the new Vice Chancellor is in place in the spring or summer of 2011. For a current view of progress through our strategic plan, see this page: http://life.iupui.edu/about.html

2. How do the plans within your unit align with the President’s Principles of Excellence and the Chancellor’s Guideposts? Please describe your process for integrating your unit’s plans with those of the campus.

The work among the Student Life units Life aligns with six of the ten President’s Principles and seven of the Chancellor’s Guideposts, as described below (in italics):

I. An Excellent Education
   1. Continue to improve educational outcomes, from freshman success through graduation.

   The Division of Student Life supports “an excellent education” for IUPUI students across all of our programs, services, and activities. During the 2009-2010 year, we began a Division-wide assessment of student learning which is mapped to the Principles of Undergraduate Learning. More information on this assessment is forthcoming. The original plan for this assessment project can be seen in our Program Review and Assessment Committee (PRAC) report submitted August 2010.

V. Excellence in the Health Sciences and Health Care
   5. Continue to improve educational outcomes in all health sciences programs.

   Student Health Services and Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS) provide quality healthcare to students. Students learn best when they are healthy and have access to appropriate counseling services when needed. For more information, visit the department Web sites at http://life.iupui.edu
VI. Excellence in Engagement and Economic Development
6. Continue to enhance civic engagement, including economic development.

Our Office of Student Involvement offers a wide variety of programs and activities in collaboration with the Center for Service and Learning related to civic engagement, including: Civic Leadership, Collegiate Readership Program, Community Service Opportunities, Democracy Plaza, and a variety of student organizations related to civic engagement.

VII. Excellence in Advancement
7. Increase the resource base through philanthropy, concluding a successful development campaign, and other strategies.

The Division has a full-time Director of Communications and Development who identifies and pursues development opportunities and helps to promote Student Life to external constituencies. For example, several areas in the Campus Center were built through philanthropic giving. In addition, the Division is leading the effort to renovate the Ball Gardens as a way to improve the beauty of the area behind Ball Residence Hall.

VIII. Building for Excellence
8. Improve the campus physical environment, including the quality and efficiency of current space, and create additional space to meet our needs.

While there were no major renovations or new campus buildings related to the Division of Student Life during the 2009-2010 academic year, the Division is dedicated to leading the discussion on improving the campus infrastructure for students, including additional residential options, enhanced dining, and a wellness/fitness facility.

X. Responsible Stewardship of Indiana University’s Resources
11. Enhance campus diversity via the Enrollment Shaping initiative and providing support programs such as those offered in the Multicultural Success Center.

The Division of Student Life enhances campus diversity in a variety of ways, as cultural diversity is one of the core values shared across all units. For example, the Office of Student Involvement (OSI) sponsors a series of Cultural Heritage Month programs that served over 2,600 students in the 2009-2010 academic year. In addition, OSI also sponsors two Days of Service programs (one for Martin Luther King and a second for Cesar Chavez) leading to a total of over 2,600 service hours to the community.

12. Increase communication about priorities and achievements with internal constituents to strengthen community and collaboration and with external stakeholders to attract funding and top talent.

In early 2010 the Division administered two campus-wide surveys to assess our reputation: one survey for students and the other for faculty and staff. Major findings in these surveys informed our planning for communications strategies in the future. Our main goal is to increase awareness of the programs, services, and activities we provide to a wider campus audience. Some of the methods we used to increase awareness of our programs and services during the past academic year were: the State of Student Life speech and the Division’s annual report.

3. What longer-term trends (5-10 years) exist in your discipline/field that will affect your unit?

There are four trends in the student affairs field that will affect our division during the next 5-10 years.
First, there is a movement toward developing an out-of-class student learning paradigm; this is a move away from relying solely upon philosophies of student development as the basis for work in student affairs. At IUPUI, we feel it is very important to identify specific learning outcomes for our students that result from direct interaction with student life professionals.

At the same time, there is a nation-wide call for increased accountability measures that will be an external force driving our assessment of student learning outcomes. While this call for accountability will not necessarily change our practice in Student Life, it will certainly change the way we tell the story of how students are learning outside of the classroom.

Third, there has been an increase in numbers of college students who require ongoing psychological and physiological treatments. For most of these, services are mandated by ADA and 504. The growing use of CAPS by our students in the last three years documents this trend.

Finally, given the growing incidences of violence in our society, it is likely that some level of violence will occur at some point on nearly all college and university campuses in our country. Consequently, the Division of Student Life in collaboration with the Campus Police and the Department of Emergency Management as well as others on campus must be ready in the event of an emergency, whether caused by a human being or natural occurrences such as tornados or earthquakes.

4. If the University experiences further budget cuts, what existing and emerging programs/initiatives in your unit will be your highest priorities?

The highest priorities in the Division of Student Life are the preservation, and possible expansion, of health and wellness services and programs for students. We are underserved in services for student health, counseling and psychological services, and wellness/fitness programs. All of these programs are critical to student retention and success.
