A TRADITION BEGINS . . .

No one ever called it "News Calendar." It was always the "Green Sheet," in all ways but the name.

The new name and the new look reflect both tradition and change. Two years ago, the old News Calendar was a newsletter for the faculty and administrative staff of the Medical Center. There have been some changes, first for IUI and now for IUPUI. Circulation has grown from about 700 to more than 1,800, to reach all of the IUPUI faculty and administrative staff.

And the "Green Sheet" has grown heftier, from two or three pages a week to as many as eight or 10 pages an issue. This heft buried the IUPUI Calendar in the back of "Green Sheet." This leads to another change, another publication . . .

IUPUI WEEK will be published each week in the News Bureau to list meetings, seminars, conferences, films, and similar academic, administrative, and social events. IUPUI WEEK is designed for bulletin boards and will be distributed to all the appropriate places which we have been able to find.

Listings in IUPUI WEEK will carry such information as the title or description of the event, the sponsor, and the date, time, and place. IUPUI WEEK listings are open to student, faculty, or staff events, and to non-IUPUI groups which will hold meetings on campus.

The deadline for listings in IUPUI WEEK will be noon Wednesdays. They may be brought to the News Bureau or mailed to the editor, Miss Gretchen Wolfram, 104 Fesler Hall. This deadline will allow us to get IUPUI WEEK up on the bulletin boards each Monday morning. The deadline for GREEN SHEET will be 9 a.m. Thursdays. We need your cooperation. We need your news for GREEN SHEET and your listings for IUPUI WEEK -- on time!

Chancellor Maynard K. Hine is at home recuperating from surgery and expects to resume activities at his office within a week. While in the University Hospital, he received an added honor. On December 30, he had been scheduled to address the annual conference of Alpha Omega dental fraternity in New Orleans and to receive the fraternity's 1970 Achievement Medal. By means of long-distance telephone, he accepted the award and greeted the conventioneers.
A single performance of the Puccini opera "Manon Lescaut" will be given Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the North Central High School auditorium.

The opera, one of Puccini's first, is the second in the Showcase of Music series of the I.U. School of Music. Tickets are available from Mrs. Helen Zapp at the Union Building. Prices are $6, $5 and $3 with students admitted for $2. Tickets also will be available at the box office Tuesday night.

The Puccini tragedy features a beautiful girl who is victimized by a treacherous brother. Suzette Wankier, a graduate student in voice, is in the title role of Manon.

Puccini melodies and subtle characterizations are evident in this, his first successful opera. This work undoubtedly encouraged him to write such other and more famous operas as "La Boheme," "Tosca," and "Madam Butterfly."

Other lead roles in the Indianapolis performance will be played by James Neely, a doctoral student in oral pedagogy, as Lescaut; Elliot Palay, an undergraduate voice major, as Des Grieux, and William Hartwell, a doctoral student in voice, as Geronte.

School of Dentistry programs in dental hygiene and dental assistance will be offered in Evansville next fall under terms of an agreement recently completed between IUPUI and the Indiana State University Evansville Campus.

The programs are similar to those offered by the School of Dentistry for the last several years at Fort Wayne and South Bend. Dental hygiene students will be awarded a School of Dentistry associate degree after three years of study. They may complete a fourth year of study and be awarded a bachelor of science degree from Indiana State University. Dental assistance students will be awarded a certificate after one year of study.

Dr. Ralph E. McDonald, dean of the School of Dentistry, also reports that plans are well underway to begin completely new programs in dental laboratory technology at Evansville and Fort Wayne.
