INDIANAPOLIS CAMPUS PROJECTS APPROVED BY I.U. BOARD

Projects ranging from architect selection to medical specialty registration were approved by the Indiana University board of trustees at its meeting last Saturday (April 17) at South Bend.

A significant step in the implementation of the "master plan" for the development and expansion of the Indianapolis campus was taken by naming architects for the proposed Business/School of Public and Environmental Affairs building.

The firm of Edward L. Barnes of New York City was chosen. An Indiana architectural firm also will be involved with the project and will be announced when contractual arrangements have been made. Funds for the structure, which will form the north edge of what will eventually be an elevated concourse, will be sought from the Indiana General Assembly. The building will be on the south side of Michigan Street, east of the Blake Street Library.

Plans call for construction to begin when money becomes available. It was pointed out that the building is a high-priority item because of increasing interest in both the School of Business and SPEA.

(The board also approved plans for a new fine arts academic and museum building in Bloomington. Under a contract with the I.U. Foundation, the architectural firm of I.M. Pei Associates of New York has completed preliminary plans for the building which will have 110,000 square feet and three stories.)

The board also approved an agreement whereby the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology, Inc. will establish a central registry for certification at the I.U. Medical Center. "The office will be in charge of examination, certification, and recertification of all obstetricians and gynecologists in the United States," said Dr. Steven C. Beering, dean of the medical school.

The registry, which consists of more than 14,000 diplomates in the U.S., will be computerized. Instrumental in developing and planning the new computerized operation were Dr. Charles A. Hunter Jr., chairman and professor of OB/GYN, and Dr. Jack W. Pearson, vice-chairman of the department.

The trustees also approved a major renovation program at Riley Hospital to provide an intensive care unit for infants and children. The facility will provide medical, surgical, and nursing care for seriously ill or injured children and will serve as a training facility for physicians, nurses, and technicians in the care of these patients. It will also provide care given to children in community hospital emergency rooms and emergency transport services throughout the state.

The total cost of the project is estimated to be $1,066,500 and will be funded by the Riley Memorial Association.

CALENDAR CHECK-OFF

Last Chance -- This is the last week for the Senior Show at the Herron School of Art. Stop by the school's gallery and see the best work in art and design by the graduating seniors. Hours are noon to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Exhibits -- Pharmacy displays this week in University Hospital will be Ortho on Monday and Pfizer Laboratories on Friday. Riley displays will be Lederle Laboratories on Wednesday and Geigy Pharmaceuticals on Friday. Hours are 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Monday -- "Studies of the Reaction Sequence of Rabbit Adrenal Norepinephrine N-Methyl Transferase Isozymes," Biochemistry Faculty Seminar by Hyo-Sa Lee, research associate; Medical Science Building, Room 326, 4 p.m. (3:45 coffee).

Sale -- Duplicate titles and earlier editions--all subjects--will be on sale (5¢ to 50¢) in the Blake Street Library from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday and from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday.

Tuesday -- A "Conference on Death and Dying in Children" will be held Tuesday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in the Regenstrief Auditorium. An interdisciplinary discussion for pediatric workers in Riley and Wishard hospitals, the program is co-ordinated by the Office of Hospital Education and Nursing, Personnel Development at Wishard.

Special -- Dr. Ann Lawrence, professor of medicine and biochemistry at Loyola University in Chicago, will be the guest speaker at the Endocrine Research Conference at noon Tuesday in the Union Building. She will discuss "New Thoughts on the Pathogenesis of Pituitary Tumors." Dr. Lawrence also will conduct the clinical endocrine rounds at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Lilly Conference Room at Wishard Hospital.

Seminar -- "Mapping of Linkage Group I through Family Studies," Medical Genetics Seminar by Deborah A. Meyers, graduate student; Riley Research, Room 139, 4 p.m. Tuesday.

Wednesday -- "Bioelectric Rhythmicity in Intestinal Muscle," Physiology Seminar by Dr. C. Ladd Prosser, professor of physiology and biophysics at the University of Illinois; Medical Science, Room 205, 11:45 a.m.

Help! -- "Self-Defense for Women in Danger!" -- with guest speakers Det. Bertha Brooks from the IUPUI Safety Department and Sgt. Thelma Sansbury and Officer Shirley Purvitis from the Indianapolis Police Department -- will meet at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday in Room N436 of University Hospital.

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

Project Hunters -- The Construction Technology Department needs a small room addition, garage or similar project for construction as a laboratory project for the fall semester. The owner pays for materials and supervision only, no labor costs. The faculty will choose the most suitable project from the requests submitted. If interested, call Ext. 2413.

Law Class Special -- The clinical urban practice course at the Indianapolis Law School and the Indiana Lawyers' Commission will co-sponsor a symposium next Saturday to examine and improve the Marion County public defender services. Professor Arthur LaFrance from the University of Maine School of Law and a consultant for the National Legal Aid and Defender Association, will be the principal speaker. Panelists will include Judge John B. Wilson, Marion County Criminal Court, and James Kelley, Marion County prosecutor, plus current and past public defenders. All interested persons are invited.

Demonstrations -- The Pharmacy Department has arranged for representatives from four major manufacturers of intravenous solutions and administration sets to present and demonstrate their products from 7 a.m. to midnight Thursday and Friday. Four rooms in University Hospital have been reserved for the project: Baxter/Travenol Labs in Room 420, Cutter Labs in Room 424, McGaw Labs in Room C331, and Abbott Labs in Room 373.
