TRUSTEES APPROVE $375-MILLION BUDGET FOR I.U. SYSTEM

Indiana University trustees have approved a 1976-77 operating budget of $374.9-million of which $121.9-million (32.5 per cent) was appropriated to the eight I.U. campuses by the 1976 General Assembly. The balance of the funds, $253-million (67.5 per cent), will come from student instructional and dormitory fees, government and private gifts and grants, revenues from hospitals, and other income from sales and services. Approval came at the board's June 12 meeting at Richmond.

I.U. President John W. Ryan said that the balanced budget is designed to provide higher education of outstanding quality, built on a base of solid financial support and guided by a prudent expenditure philosophy.

The new budget is $33.6-million (9.8 per cent) above last year's figure of $341.3-million and includes projected cost of operating the I.U. Hospitals, the dormitory systems at Bloomington and Indianapolis, campus bookstores, student union facilities, other auxiliary enterprises, research grants and contracts, and student financial aid and instructional costs.

The general educational fund accounts for $187.3-million (about half) of the 1976-77 budget. The instructional program is supported almost entirely (89 per cent) from state appropriation and student fee income. The new general educational fund budget reflects both inflationary pressures and student enrollment increases and is $17.7-million over 1975-76. More than 80,000 students are expected to attend I.U. this fall.

The Bloomington operating budget totals $107-million, an increase of 8.7 per cent.

The Indianapolis campus budget is $48.6-million, an increase of 12.7 per cent. Personnel compensation accounts for $31.9-million (65.6 per cent) of the total, an increase of $3-million. Of the $3-million, $1.6-million was allocated to compensation of continuing staff. The rest, $1.4-million, was used to staff additions for program development and enrollment increases.

Five regional campuses have 1976-77 budgets of $21.8-million, up 13.3 per cent. A breakdown by regional campus follows:

East (Richmond)	$1,287,305	(+19.47 per cent)
Kokomo	2,590,253	(+10.5 per cent)
Northwest (Gary)	6,776,198	(+11.4 per cent)
South Bend	7,055,291	(+12.9 per cent)
Southeast (New Albany)	4,112,167	(+17.4 per cent)

The trustees also approved the combined Indiana-Purdue expenditure budget for IUPU at Fort Wayne. It totals $11,690,723, up 9.9 per cent.

PERSONNEL-ACTIES

The appointment of Ralph Ockerse as professor and chairman of the Department of Biology in the School of Science was among the personnel actions taken by the Indiana University board of trustees at its meeting June 12 in Richmond.

Dr. Ockerse, who received undergraduate degrees from State Teachers College in The Netherlands and from Baldwin Wallace College in Berea, Ohio, and his doctorate from Yale University, comes to IUPUI from a professorship at Hope College in Holland, Michigan. He has been listed in Outstanding Educators of America and is a member of Sigma Xi science honorary, American Chemical Society, American Society of Plant Physiologists, American Association for the Advancement of Science, the Royal Botanical Society of the Netherlands and the Japanese Society of Plant Physiologists.

The board also named Indiana Governor Otis R. Bowen, a 1942 graduate of the I.U. School of Medicine, as a clinical professor of family medicine, an appointment without stipend or tenure.
