

green sheet

file
p. 2

volume eight, number twenty-seven

july 9, 1978

NURSING RECEIVES GRANT FOR NEW "TRACK" IN CLINICAL SPECIALIST PROGRAM

The I.U. School of Nursing has received a two-year $240,029 grant from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation to help establish a new "track" in the school's innovative Specialist Degree Program in Clinical Primary Care Nursing.

This graduate program for nurses was established three years ago (also with funding help from the Foundation) to train nurse practitioners for more effective roles in primary care treatment and as teachers and service leaders. This program promotes a strong relationship between nursing and medicine in providing patient care, according to Nursing Dean Elizabeth Grossman who announced the new grant.

"As a result of the initial program, we have built a strong faculty and curriculum to bring nursing leadership to address primary care needs on a regional scale," says Magdalene Fuller, assistant dean of the school, professor of nursing and director of the program. "Most of our 31 graduates trained in this Clinical Nurse Specialist program have become full-time teachers of primary care in nursing schools in Indiana and elsewhere in the Midwest. Others have begun service in primary care practices in this region."

This program requires two years of graduate study and the new grant is aimed at maintaining the strength of this curriculum while incorporating an additional track in the care of the chronically ill.

"This clinical specialist program concentrates broadly on the general care needs of both children and adults but we have found that, in all age groups, chronic illness constitutes much of the content of care," Miss Fuller says. "The curriculum already requires training in diagnosis and management of specific chronic conditions, such as diabetes, arthritis, hypertension and heart disease. This is enough for trainees planning careers in ambulatory care of children and adults, but not enough to bring nursing leadership to chronic illness as a major dimension of primary care.

"We decided that a cadre of nurse practitioners was needed to work expertly in organizing service and teaching programs in chronic illness care. And this is the goal of the new graduate track," she explains.

The new program will enable nurses to organize and direct new service units in hospital ambulatory departments or physician group practices, to integrate care for the many categories of chronic disease, to participate in clinical practice research on treatment programs and the outcomes and costs of care, and to teach about chronic illness in in-service and academic training programs.

Trainees in this program will go through specific courses and seminars on the natural history of chronic diseases, the functional impairments they cause and the indicated nursing, interventions. They also will get extensive clinical instruction in Indiana's current primary care training sites, plus other settings such as rehabilitation centers, convalescent facilities, nursing and retirement homes. They will receive special training in patient education skills, the organization and management of care, in teaching professionals and aides and volunteers, and in practice research.

The new track will start with the fall semester next month and some of the Foundation funds will be used for scholarship aid -- a welcome attraction since the last part of the program is full-time and many qualified nurses find it difficult to give up full-time jobs to complete the graduate program.

* * *

WHO, WHAT, WHEN, WHERE & SOMETIMES WHY

Displays -- Pharmacy displays this week in University Hospital will be Searle Laboratories on Monday, W.B. Saunders Publishers on Wednesday and Smith, Kline and French Laboratories on Friday. Encyclopedia Britannica will have a display in Riley Hospital on Wednesday. Hours are 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Continuing -- A problem-solving course designed for general practitioners is on this week's agenda for the School of Dentistry continuing education program. "A Practical and Time-Saving Complete Denture Service" will be offered Wednesday through Saturday at the school. Dr. Malcolm E. Boone is the seminar's instructor.

Grand Rounds -- Dr. William C. Roberts, chief of the pathology branch of the National Heart and Lung Institute at Bethesda, Maryland, will give the grand rounds lecture this week. "Clinically Useful Facts Gained from Study of Hearts with Valvular Disease" will be his topic at 8:15 a.m. Wednesday in Myers Auditorium of Wishard Memorial Hospital.

Visitor from "State" -- Dr. Paul Hacker, economic and commercial officer with the U.S. Department of State, will be on campus this week for a "Lunch and Learn" meeting that will focus on the Eastern bloc countries. The informal question-and-answer session will be held Wednesday from noon to 1 p.m. in the Lilly-Grissom Room at the Union Building. Hacker, who most recently served as commercial officer in Stockholm, Sweden, received his doctorate from Columbia University and is fluent in Russian and five other European languages. His visit to Indianapolis is part of a Department of Commerce Field Orientation Program designed to acquaint State Department officials with U.S. business operations in specialized industries. An informal planning meeting of the Indianapolis Council on World Affairs will follow his presentation. Persons attending the "Lunch and Learn" meeting can get a tray in the cafeteria or bring their own lunch. No reservations are required.

Citified -- "Indianapolis Architecture: An Interpretation" is a slide lecture that will be given Wednesday and Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the DeBoest Lecture Hall at the Indianapolis Museum of Art. The program is part of the museum's "City as Artifact" series. Individuals not registered for the "Artifact" course may attend for $2 per session.

WAT Special -- "Who Has the Right?", a two-hour videotape and panel discussion, will focus on the primary issues in current involuntary commitment procedures and present alternatives and options in this area of mental health care. The 30-minute program was produced by WFYI and will be followed by a live, statewide discussion of panelists in the WAT 21 Medical Television studio. Among the panelists will be

Dr. Clare Assue, director of medical education at Larue Carter Hospital, and Dr. Richard J. Lawlor, assistant professor of clinical psychology, Department of Psychiatry. The program can be seen Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. in all regular WAT 21 viewing areas, plus Room B26 in the Medical Science Building.

Favorite -- I.U. theater students will stage the old favorite, "Charley's Aunt," Thursday through Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Brown County Playhouse at Nashville. Tickets ($4.50) are available at the I.U. Auditorium or the Playhouse.

Concert -- Works by Smetana, Stravinsky and Mendelssohn are on the concert program for the Festival Orchestra program Friday at 8 p.m. in the Musical Arts Center at Bloomington. Tickets are $3 ($1.50 for students).

Classic -- Orson Welles's "Citizen Kane" will be on the screen Friday at 8:30 p.m. on the Concert Terrace at the Indianapolis Museum of Art. The 1941 film is part of the museum's "Film Classics under the Stars" series. Admission is $1 for IMA members, students and senior citizens and $2 for non-members.

* * *

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

Nursing "First" -- The first in a series of Nursing Grand Rounds will be held July 19-20 in the School of Nursing auditorium. The topic is a workshop on "Breast Self-Examination" presented by Maternity-Gynecological Nursing at University Hospital and co-sponsored by the American Cancer Society, Indiana Division. The workshop (same on both days) will consist of a lecture in the morning and practicums in the afternoon. The lecture is open to any interested health professional, while the practicums are limited to health professionals who will be teaching breast self-examination to patients. Advance registration is necessary for the practicum. Lectures will be Alice Judkins from the M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute at the Texas Medical Center in Houston, and Dr. Robert E. Rogers, professor of obstetrics and gynecology, I.U. School of Medicine. For more information and registration forms, call Ext. 8842.

Training -- The Summer Clerical Training Programs sponsored by the Personnel Division continue this month and next with a series of morning sessions. Here is a rundown: Correct Usage on July 19, Office Etiquette on July 30, Standard Letter Procedure on July 25, A Team of Two on August 2, Time Management I on August 8 and Time Management II on August 15. All meetings start at 9 a.m. and conclude by 11 a.m. For more information, call Ext. 8241.

Back to the Classroom? -- A "How to Study in College" workshop, aimed especially at women returning to the classroom, is scheduled for July 17-20 from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the 38th Street Campus. The program is presented by the Division of Continuing Studies. Call Ext. 4501 for more information.

* * *

DEPT. OF HONORS & ACCOLADES

School of Liberal Arts Dean Joseph T. Taylor was cited in last Sunday's Indianapolis Star as a member of the Indianapolis black leadership. Spurgeon Davenport, director of University Police, was noted as the first black to achieve an executive rank (deputy chief) in the Indianapolis Police Department. The comprehensive article covered the history and current contributions of this city's leading black citizens.

A biographical sketch of Dr. Ewald E. Selkurt, distinguished professor and chairman of physiology, will appear in the fourth edition of Who's Who in the World. Dr. Selkurt is completing his term of past-president of the American Physiological Society.

Wayne F. Echelberger Jr., professor of public and environmental affairs, has been selected as one of five judges in the nation for the annual "Excellence in Engineering Design" competition of the publication "Water & Wastes Engineering."

Dr. Linda L. Haas, assistant professor of sociology, has been invited to read two papers next month at the Ninth World Congress of the International Sociology Association in Uppsala, Sweden. The papers are "Sexual Equality in the Family: A Comparison of the Characteristics of Role-Sharers in Sweden and the United States" and "Socialism and the Emancipation of Women: A Comparative Perspective."

* * *

GREEN SHEET'S FRIENDLY AD SERVICE

For Sale -- Three-bedroom home on the Eastside (near Community Hospital), family room with fireplace, screened-in patio. Call 356-8697.

For Sale -- Three-bedroom home on scenic wooded lot a half-block from Butler University, full basement, modernized kitchen, formal dining room, two fireplaces, assumable mortgage. Low $60s. Shown by appointment weekends and evenings. Call 255-5253.

For Sale -- Lakeview corner homesite lot at Lake Holiday in Crawfordsville, at corner of Tacoma Trail and Arrowhead Drive, easy access to lake. Asking $3,200. Call 297-3310.

For Rent -- Two-bedroom duplex in Broad Ripple area. $185 per month plus utilities, deposit required. Call 545-5735 after 5:30 p.m.

Cars & Boat -- 1973 Ford Gran Torino, 351 V-8 2 Bbl., bronze with dark brown vinyl top, beige and copper interior, automatic, power brakes and steering, air conditioned, AM/FM radio, alarm siren and snow tires, new brakes and exhaust. $2,000 or best offer. Call 299-5444. . 1974 Volkswagen "Bug", FM radio, good condition. $1,600. Call 253-9418 after 5:30 p.m. . Reduced price on 1971 Toyota Corolla, four-speed coupe, green, AM/FM radio, reclining seats, excellent working condition. Asking $750 but will consider offer. Call 844-2234. . 1968 Lincoln Continental, all luxury accessories. $1,150. Call 844-9192 evenings or weekends. . 1973 Volkswagen Camper, sleeps four, 23 mpg, good condition. $2,850. Also 1976 Honda Accord, excellent condition, 21,000 miles, 50,000-mile warranty can transfer, 42/33 mpg. $4,000. Also 20-foot fiberglass cabin cruiser, new top, 120 h.p. Volvo engine. $2,150. For any or all, call 251-1732.

Help Needed -- General handy-person needed to help with yard work, pruning and trimming shrubbery, washing windows and other house maintenance. Call 291-4020 after 6:30 p.m.

green sheet

*News Bureau
Indiana University-Purdue University
at Indianapolis
355 Lansing Street
Indianapolis, Indiana 46202

JOE FARAH
INTERNATIONAL PROGRAMS
BLAKE ST LIBRARY-002