DR. IRWIN LOSES PARKING PERMIT, TAKES LEAVE WITH A TIN CUP

Glenn W. Irwin, Jr., M.D., became the former vice president of IU at Indianapolis the first of this month and henceforth will have no days off and no parking permit. However, as he leaves to write and spend time with his wife Marianna and their families, he has to take with him an Hawaiian cruise, a portrait of himself, numerous appreciation plaques, a grandfather clock and a tin cup--with a quarter in it. These gifts and many accolades were heaped on Dr. Irwin during his retirement dinner June 18 at the Hilton Hotel where good-natured jokes and chides and serious laurels fell on the man whose uninterrupted association with us began with his freshman enrollment at IUB in 1938. Before a crowded ballroom, greetings and well-wishes came from the university, the city of Indianapolis with whom Mayor William H. Hudnut III says Irwin has a "fructifying relationship," the state which made him a Sagamore of the Wabash, and the U.S., whose president sent a telegram wishing him well and honoring his lifetime service to education and IU. W. George Pinnell, executive vice president of IU and president of the IU Foundation, took the podium and the liberty of "dispelling the nasty rumor that Dr. Irwin's social security number is three," and he drew applause with the acknowledgment that Mrs. Irwin "is a sure part of Dr. Irwin's success." It was Dr. Pinnell who gave him the tin cup and 25 cents. Former director of university relations Kenneth A. Beckley emceed. Welcoming many members of the Irwin family and special guests, he introduced IU Chancellor Herman B Wells, who said, "I never make speeches anymore, but I succumbed to the irresistible opportunity to add my accolades." IU Chancellor Emeritus Maynard K. Hine did not speak, but silently made his point, when at a special moment in the ceremonies he unveiled a portrait of none other than himself. Once the laughter stopped, the retiring vice president was beside himself as Dr. Hine and Mrs. Irwin uncovered an oil portrait of Dr. Irwin, painted by artist William G. Ashby, who was in the audience. Other distinguished speakers included Dean of Faculties at IUPUI Howard G. Schaller and Purdue U. President Dr. Steven C. Beering. They and others repeated the words, "human, gentle, splendid gentleman, compassion, good citizen, precise, deliberate, careful." In his typically succinct and gentlemanly way, Glenn W. Irwin, Jr., M.D. said he finds it impossible to thank all those who have given him their help to build IUPUI, for which he holds "great pride." Charles M. Coffey, director of Alumni Affairs at IUPUI and chairman of the Irwin celebration, his staff and committees from the university said good evening to 370 dinner guests who saw their vice president off with smiles and fond memories.

HELLO? A zero is the equivalent to nothing, except when it is added to 6,500, then it makes 58,500 more new phones on campus than we actually have. John Williams, director of communications on campus, also wants you to know that he did not say it is Ma Bell, but Indiana Bell Communications, Inc. that is the vendor of our new system that switched off the old system yesterday (July 5). Your editor regrets these errors in June 15 Green Sheet.

Celebrate! The star-studded little flag waver to the right is Abby Foist, a three-year-old in our Child Care Center who along with the other children was celebrating restoration of the Statue of Liberty and Independence Day. Salute!

LOOKING FOR A QUALITY PLACE FOR THE KIDS? LOOK NO FARTHER

The IUPUI Child Care Center may be just the place for your kid(s) while you toil away the day. Housed in the Mary Cable Building, the Center offers a full range of projects and programs for youngsters from 2 years old (the toilet-trained kind) to 5 years old. And Director Beth Jeglum is excited about a new program which starts Aug. 25 -- an all-day kindergarten -- which will relieve parents of the hassle to fill out the day for children who attend half-day kindergartens. Children are eligible to enroll if they are eligible for kindergarten in their own school district (usually, they must be 5 by Oct. 1). Fee for the kindergarten (full-time only) is $60 a week and $50 a week during vacation periods.

Youngsters 3-5 years old can enroll full-time for $50 a week or part-time in several time blocks with prices ranging from $1-$4 per block. All the programs try to promote high self-esteem, self-sufficiency, respect for others and property, as well as enjoyment and fun. Youngsters learn tasks and skills appropriate to their age group, they can use computers on-site, they take field trips, and they learn all kinds of crafts. The staff works closely with the School of Physical Education in developing p.e. programs and the children use the natatorium pool regularly. The two-year Early Childhood Education Program (ECEP) in the School of Education, directed by associate professor Jacqueline Blackwell, helps develop the academic portion of the Center's program and the Center serves as a laboratory site for the ECEP.

Jeglum also is excited about a $51,965 grant from the Indiana State Board of Vocational and Technical Education to ECEP which is earmarked for new equipment at the Center. She's having a field day herself ordering all new playground equipment, toys, games and learning aids for the Center's enrollees.

Feel free to call her at 4-3508, stop in for a chat and a look-see, and learn of the variety of programs available for your children right here on campus.

CARR HEADS PAN AM OFFICE AT IUPUI

An outstanding teacher of Spanish and statewide leader in foreign language education has been named coordinator of the Office of Pan American Events and Language Programs (PANAMELP) here. Mary M. Carr, who has taught Spanish in Lawrence Township since 1966 and has headed the Foreign Language Department at Lawrence North High School since 1976, joined the IUPUI office last month.

The PANAMELP office is primarily engaged in certifying the thousands of volunteers for the Pan American Games in different levels of competency in Spanish, the official language of the Games. Carr looks forward to this activity, as well as to the involvement of Spanish teachers throughout the state in a series of programs involving high schoolers in the activities of the Games. The office also is responsible for coordinating all the IUPUI activities related to the Games, such as special conferences and programs being planned by various units of the campus and of the eight-campus I.U. system. If you have any thoughts or ideas or questions about such programs, give PANAMELP a call. It's 4-7314 and the office is on the 6th floor of the Union.

Carr, who is on a leave of absence from the Lawrence Township Schools, is immediate past president of the Indiana Foreign Language Teachers Association, an organization she also served as vice president for two years. She also is an active member of the American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages, the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese, the Association of Supervision and Curriculum Development and the Central Indiana Committee of the Academic Alliance for Foreign Language Study.

CELEBRATION RECEPTION

To celebrate the appointment of Dr. John I. Nurnberger Sr. as Distinguished Professor Emeritus of Psychiatry, the Dept. of Psychiatry and the Institute of Psychiatric Research are hosting a reception in his honor July 11 from 2-4 p.m. in the library of the Institute. In more than 30 years of dedicated service to the university, Dr. Nurnberger has held many positions at the medical center, including professor and chairman of psychiatry, director and chairman of the Executive Board of the Institute, acting dean of the School of Medicine and distinguished professor of psychiatry. All are invited to attend this reception.

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

Take a STEP -- The Riley Child Psychiatry Clinic will offer Systematic Training for Effective Parenting (STEP) Monday evenings starting July 7. Classes will be held from 6-8 p.m. and cost $5 per session. Call 4-8162.

Recombinant DNA Research -- Any faculty members who are principal investigators for research involving recombinant DNA should be operating under the new federal regulations published in the Federal Register, "Guidelines for Research Involving Recombinant DNA Molecules; Notice, Vol. 51, No. 88, Wednesday, May 7, 1986" These new regulations supercede any previous publications. If you need a copy, contact Roxanne Loomis in Research & Sponsored Programs, AO 126, or call her at 4-8289.

Tributes -- Friends and colleagues of Merle R. Draper and Mary Joan Perisho paid tribute to their distinguished service to IU and IUPUI June 25 at a retirement reception in their honor. Draper, professor of education, served on the faculty here for 21 years, while Perisho, assistant professor of education, taught at IU and IUPUI for a combined 38 years.

Positions Available -- Assistant professor of nursing in psychiatric nursing at IU-Kokomo; 12-month appointment; MSN required; doctorate preferred. Call or write Sue Dunham, associate professor, IUK, 2300 S. Washington St., Kokomo, 46902, phone 288. Respond by July 7...Two positions at Regenstrief Institute: One is a non-smoking, experienced responsible interviewer with strong skills to interview and collect data in a clinic setting for a smoking study. The other is a biological lab technician with a BS in psychology or chemistry. Courses in genetics and biochemistry and quantitative analysis preferred. For either, call 630-7400.

They've Moved, At Last -- After untold decades in the "barracks" (a.k.a. Administration Building, Allied Health Building and, most recently, the University Services Building) all offices have moved to the Union Building. Accounting Dept., Payroll Dept. and Personnel Dept. have moved to the north wing, Accounting and Payroll occupy the fourth floor (Room 443). Personnel occupies the third floor (Room 340). Other occupants in the Union Building shuffle are: International Programs and International Student Services, Universities Field Staff International, and Division of Extended Studies, all on the fifth floor.

Map It Out -- A new combined parking and campus visitors map is now available for campus units. The six-color map includes an all-new rendition of the campus with all parking lots shown for on-campus use and other information, including the new phone numbers for a selected list of campus offices. If you would like one or more maps, call IUPUI Publications, 4-2101.

RYAN ANNOUNCES 1987 RETIREMENT

John W. Ryan, IU president for the past 15 years, recently asked the trustees of IU to begin the process of finding a successor for him by Sept. 1, 1987. President Ryan said he is resigning the helm in order to honor his commitment to help raise the expected $203 million in the ongoing Campaign for Indiana.

VOLUNTEERS CAN HELP IN HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE RESEARCH

If you are 21-70 years old, have mild to moderate blood pressure (bottom number 95 mmHg or greater) and are in good general health, you are invited to take part in "exciting" research being conducted by the Hypertension Research Center, IU Medical Center. Participants must be willing to be off all medication for four weeks and be available for biweekly visits for 14-28 weeks. Free blood pressure medication, lab work, EKG, chest X-ray and close individual follow-up is provided. Visits will be arranged to suit your schedule, and data can be sent to your family doctor if you request. For more information, call 274-8153.

BRANCHING OUT The IUI Federal Credit Union invites you to visit its new branch in the Castleton area, 8202 Clearvista Parkway. Also, for a limited time, the Credit Union is offering first mortgages.

ADMINISTRATIVE RESPONSIBILITIES REALIGN

Effective July 1, several organizational changes were made in various administrative and "auxiliary" enterprises, announced Vice President Glenn W. Irwin, Jr., M.D. and Executive Dean and Dean of Faculties Howard G. Schaller. Responsibility for on-campus housing is assigned to the Office of the Dean of Student Affairs. Also, the Office of Administrative Affairs assumes responsibility for the Union Building, the IUPUI Bookstores, the Real Estate Dept. and business management of our athletic facilities. And, in addition to overseeing central budgetary planning and control, the Office of Budgeting and Fiscal Affairs will continue to manage Accounting Records and Services, the Payroll Dept. and the Office of the Bursar.

JOINT EFFORT SYNCHRONIZES YOUTH/ADULT CAMPS

On the same days in July while the youngsters are in basketball, soccer or volleyball sports on campus, parents can attend Adult Enrichment Camps. The Div. of Continuing Studies and the School of Physical Education have arranged the dates so that parents and kids, if they wish, can be on campus together. Camps for youth include basketball for boys and girls, grades 1-9, July 7-11; soccer for boys and girls, grades kindergarten-3, July 14-18, and volleyball for girls, grades 1-9, July 14-18--all from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. Adult enrichment camps offer floral arranging, training for new parents, tennis and a course in the people and culture in Latin America. They are for five-day sessions beginning July 7. Also, all sports campers can take Spanish lessons from people from our Pan Am office and, without added costs, campers can swim each day from 4-5 p.m. in the instructional pool at the natatorium. For brochures, fees and more information, call 4-4501.
