

green sheet

volume eighteen, number two

january 17, 1988

HERRON EXHIBIT FEATURES OUR OWN

Nineteen native sons and daughters of Indiana, and one "adopted" Hoosier artist originally from Latvia will present their creative works now through Feb. 27 at the Herron Gallery, Indianapolis Center for Contemporary Art, in a major exhibit, "Welcome Back." Some of the painting, sculpture and works on paper have been created especially for the exhibit, which is run in conjunction with Hoosier Celebration '88. Bob Roman, exhibit curator and acting director of the Gallery, invites the campus community to see the exhibit that is sponsored in part by a grant from the Indiana Arts Commission and the National Endowment for the Arts. Gallery hours are 10 a.m.-7 p.m., Monday-Thursday; 10 a.m.-5 p.m., Friday-Saturday, closed Sunday. Admission is free; donations welcome. There is free parking on Talbott St. starting at 16th St.--S. Rogers.

***

TOXICOLOGIST DR. STEN ORRENIUS FROM THE KAROLINSKA INSTITUTET IN STOCKHOLM, SWEDEN

will lecture on "Mechanisms of Drug Induced Hepatotoxicity" at medical grand rounds on Jan. 20 at 8:15 a.m. in Myers Auditorium, Wishard Hospital. Professor and chairman of the Dept. of Toxicology at the Institutet, Dr. Orennius is a widely recognized authority in the field toxicology. He is a visiting professor sponsored by the Burroughs Wellcome Fund and the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology. He will be at the Medical Center through Jan. 22, when he will present a lecture, "Molecular Mechanisms of Calcium Mediated Cell Killing," at noon in Emerson Hall. Call 4-7824.

Experience Excellence

Nominations for the 1988 Glenn W. Irwin Jr., M.D., Experience Excellence Awards are being accepted. The award recognizes six each of fellow faculty and staff members for service "above and beyond the call of duty," which is non-reimbursed and is not specifically job-related. The IUPUI Recognition Awards Committee will make the 12 selections from those you nominate. Nomination forms are available in the office of Associate Dean for Faculties Carol N. Nathan, AO 108, 4-8974. Deadline is March 4.

HUDSON'S HANSEN OPENS SPRING SERIES

Various professional codes of ethics and the guidance they provide for responsible decision-making will be the focus of a public forum by Dr. Arthur Hansen in the program, "Ethics: Everybody's Business." The director of research for the Hudson Institute and former president of Purdue U., he will speak and provide a question and answer session on Jan. 25, 3 p.m., in the University Conference Center auditorium. The series, "Ethics: Our Academic Legacy," is sponsored by the Learning Resources Committee and the Faculty Council at IUPUI. Programs for the coming months will be announced. For more, call Prof. Rebecca Van Voorhis, 4-6732 .

CHILD ABUSE GROUPS BACK FIVE NEW COURSES

Five new comprehensive courses aimed at bolstering community efforts to combat child abuse and neglect are underway on campus and are being taken by graduate and undergraduate students from many curriculums. Offered in conjunction with the new IUPUI/Community Consortium of Child Abuse and Neglect Resources and Information Services of Marion County, the courses are part of a multidisciplinary training program in child abuse and neglect. Seven schools and a division on campus--science, education, liberal arts, nursing, medicine, social work, law and continuing studies--are involved. Instructors include IUPUI professors and community service experts.

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

Oh, Pooh!--A A Milne, born 106 years ago on Jan. 18, was the creator of Winnie the Pooh classics. That day is also the celebration of Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday, and you are invited to the campus celebration all day, and to Social Work's exhibit and workshops. See last week's Green Sheet, page one.

College Prep--Personnel is sponsoring college preparation sessions on Jan. 28 in NU 108 that will cover information for students in junior and senior high school and their parents and for employees interested in taking courses. One-hour sessions are set throughout the morning. For details and to register, call 4-8931. Enrollment is limited.

Big Market--Next in the Great Decisions '88 series is Jim Wheeler of the Hudson Institute presenting "U.S. Trade & Global Market" on Jan. 20, 7:30 p.m., Church of the Saviour. Call 251-6187.

Tents and Tags--For as little as 25 cents each plus set-up costs, the Office of Publications on campus now has the know-how and equipment to provide you with professional quality name badges for your conferences and workshops. Other items such as table tent signs also can be made inexpensively and in about a day. Put away your felt tip markers and call 4-2101.

Needed--Experienced research interviewers are needed to conduct in-person interviews with alleged offenders and victims of violence. Call the Sociology Research Lab, 4-4996.

Gilliatt Retirement--Before he leaves for a three-week trip to Australia, Budget's Associate Director Don L. Gilliatt will be on hand for you to wish him well during a reception Jan. 25, 3-5 p.m., in the Hoosier Room, Union Building. He is retiring to fish and travel after 15 years' serviceto IUPUI.

Get Yours--If you did not get your free Maxwell '88 calendar, call Debbie McGuire, Employee Health and Wellness, 4-1625, and she will send you one.

Relax--Dr. Richard A. Meiss, professor of physiology & biophysics, presents the department's next seminar, "Relaxation in Smooth Muscle: A Detached Look at Detachment" on Jan. 20, 4 p.m., MS 205. All welcome.

From Kentucky--Dr. E. Charles Snow, assistant professor, Dept. of Microbiology and Immunology, U. of Kentucky Medical Center, Lexington, presents the next Microbiology/Immunology seminar, "Antigen-Induced Signal Transduction to Resting B-Lymphocytes" on Jan. 21, 4 p.m., MS 205.

And Another--Thomas P. Yang from the Beckman Research Institute, City of Hope, presents the next Molecular Biology Group lecture, "Regulation of Constitutively Expressed X-Linked Genes" on Jan. 20, noon-1 p.m., "new wing" RI 4150.

POSITION AVAILABLE

DIRECTOR, academic position, I.U. Center on Philanthropy, University Conference Center, IUPUI, which conducts research, academic programs and public services, and operates the Fund Raising School. Director will administer all operations of the Center and will represent the Center to international, national, state and university constituencies. Reports to vice president (Indianapolis). Desirable qualifications include earned advanced degrees and experience in fund raising, program development, administration, teaching in higher education, management with a nonprofit organization and leadership in the independent sector. Nominations and applications accepted until mid-February. Send to Glenn W. Irwin Jr., M.D., Chairman, Search and Screen Committee, IU Center on Philanthropy, 850 W. Michigan St., Room 234, Indianapolis, 46223. (IU is an EO/AA Employer.)

THE AD HOC IUPUI FACULTY COUNCIL CORE CAMPUS SHUTTLE COMMITTEE is conducting a survey on the need and potential use of a limousine service between IUB and our campus. Deans, directors and unit heads are receiving the survey this month. If you wish to participate, call Dana McDonald, 4-7183.

FOUR YEARS AFTER THEIR WORK BEGAN, IUPUI AND THE INDIANA HISTORICAL SOCIETY have now completed a computerized transcription of the pivotal 1860 Indiana census, the first project of its kind in this country because it so detailed and include more than name indexes. On microfiche are data that include name, age, sex, race, occupation, real estate and personal property values, birth place, marital status, education, literacy, county, township, town, post office, number in household and number of property dwellings. Data from Indiana's 1,354,617 residents of 1860 also includes whether respondents were blind, deaf, mute, insane, idiotic, a pauper or a convict. The computer program was designed by Ruth Dorrell and her assistants Nancy Newby, Mary Anne Scripture and Barbara Huff in IUPUI's Computing Services. For more information, call 232-1882.

MORE NEWS 'N' NOTES

Budding Artists--Students in grades 7-12 in public or private schools can register for the Herron School of Art Saturday School on Jan. 23, 9-10:30, at the school, before classes begin at 11 a.m. Other classes are from 9 a.m.-noon on Saturdays through Dec. 5. Late registration is Jan. 26. Classes in drawing, painting, printmaking, photography are among the offerings. For fees and more, call 923-3651.

Closed--The City-County building will be closed on Jan. 18, Martin Luther King Jr. Day.

Less Red Tape--Register now for the Feb. 6 seminar, "Cutting the Red Tape: Selling to the Federal Government." Panels of experts will present concurrent workshops that deal with selling products and services. Call Continuing Studies, 4-5052.

METRO ADDS NEW STOPS FOR #50/IUPUI

To get you into the downtown loop or back, there are now 47 bus stops and 24 shelters on "our" route. The shuttle operates weekdays from 6:40 a.m.-6 p.m. for only 35 cents. The #3/West Michigan bus runs through campus from 5:02 a.m.-8:31 p.m. on weekdays; 5:31 a.m.-9:45 p.m. on Saturdays, and 5:47 a.m.-7:18 p.m. on Sundays. Base fare is 70 cents. Metro wants faculty, staff and students to know that services will be increased if demand calls for more stops or bus routes. Call Metro, 635-3344.

I.U. PRESIDENT THOMAS EHRLICH: STATEMENT FOR MARTIN LUTHER KING DAY

Dear Friends:

On January 18th we honor a man who was a hero for our time, who brought to the age in which he lived a new vision, an enduring sense of direction, a dream for others to follow. This was the gift of Martin Luther King Jr.

This nation was created in the conviction that justice and freedom for all are the foundation of human dignity. Martin Luther King carried that conviction to its logical and inescapable conclusions. He was a leader not only for the black people of America, but for all persons who believe that only in this conviction can we draw upon the rich resource of diversity that makes our society great.

History suggests that no community can maintain an environment of liberty without an environment of mutual respect. In accepting the Nobel Peace Prize in 1964, Martin Luther King said, "I refuse to accept the idea that the 'isness' of man's present nature makes him morally incapable of reaching up for the 'oughtness' that forever confronts him." To impart this "oughtness" -- the morality of respect -- to encourage understanding of and appreciation for diversity, is the heart of a university's responsibility as a community where the values of liberty are maintained. Learning not just to live with but to delight in differences as well as similarities is an important dimension of a university education, though it should begin long before and continue for a lifetime.

Nearly a century ago, in 1895, Indiana University's first black graduate, Marcellus Neal, received the B.A. degree in mathematics and went on to a distinguished career in teaching and public service. Our first black woman graduate, Frances E. Marshall, Class of 1919, became a university administrator and was influential in the development of North Carolina Central University. Indiana University takes pride in the many other distinguished black alumni who have contributed to this state and the nation in the humanities, the social and natural sciences and the professions.

On Monday, January 18, at all our campuses black students and faculty bring their heritage, their diversity, their energy and their dreams to the strength of Indiana University.

Liberty, equality of opportunity and mutual respect are supported only in the belief that we are not defined by the color of our skin or other aspects of nature or culture, but by the "content of character:" Integrity, strength of spirit, humane values. It is in this liberating belief, which was his own, that we honor the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

***

EDITOR'S NOTE: Among the many people on our campus who have contributed to the IUPUI campus celebration of Martin Luther King Jr. Day are the Celebration Planning Committee members: Robert E. Bedford (chairman), Mary Jane Koch, Ethel Mau, Carol Nathan, Kimberly Scott, Dana Treadwell and former Affirmative Action Officer Lincoln Lewis (ex-officio).

green sheet

*News Bureau
Indiana University - Purdue University
at Indianapolis
355 Lansing Street
Indianapolis, Indiana 46202

(ARCH-791205)

ARCHIVES
UNIVERSITY LIBRARY
420 BLAKE STREET