

green sheet

volume eighteen, number four january 31, 1988

HUCK FINN'S STORY OPENS ON CAMPUS

The child in everyone will be thoroughly entertained by the play, "Huck Finn's Story," a dramatization of scenes by playwright-in-residence Aurand Harris to be performed on campus in the coming weeks. The IUPUI Children's Theatre Touring Company, directed by Professor Dorothy Webb, is producing the play that will be seen by thousands of Hoosier schoolchildren as it tours the state until next spring. Taken from Mark Twain's novel, "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn," this latest play of Harris' brings to life Huck Finn, the runaway slave Jim, Huck's drunken dad Pap, the Widow Douglas and Aunt Sally in scenes set along the Mississippi River in 1850. Harris will direct this play, and he will remain on campus through the spring semester. He came to IUPUI just after a tour of the People's Republic of China, where he was the only children's playwright ever to be invited to present his work and to have his plays translated into Chinese. Campus performances of "Huck Finn's Story" are Feb. 12-14 and Feb. 19-20. Curtain is at 8 p.m. on Fridays, 2:30 p.m. and 5 p.m. on Saturdays and 2:30 p.m. on Sunday. Tickets are $3 for adults and $1.50 for children under 18. Group rates are available for 10 or more. For reservations or to charge tickets by phone, call University Theatre in the Mary Cable Building, 4-2094. (The illustration here is by Diane Alfonso, artist in the IUPUI Office of Publications.)

FAMOUS SOCIAL ACTIVIST JEREMY RIFKIN TO GIVE FREE OPEN TALK

Jeremy Rifkin, outspoken philosopher regarding genetic engineering and ethics in science, will speak on the subject, "Rethinking our Worldview" on Feb. 12 from 1:30-3 p.m. in room 150 of the Krannert Science Building on the 38th Street campus. The School of Science Student Council is sponsoring his appearance. Tickets are free and are available in any science department or at the door. Rifkin is nationally acclaimed for generating stimulating debates on the moral issues of scientific and technological advancements. He is largely responsible for stopping the deliberate release of genetically engineered microbes into the environment and won a suit against the U.S. Dept. of Defense blocking the construction of a biological warfare facility in the U.S. He has mobilized activist groups that oppose misuse of genetic engineering. For more information, call the Student Council, 4-2367, Tuesday-Friday, 10 a.m.-noon.

CHUBBIES HAVE ONLY DAYS TO BEAT THE BULGE AND WIN THE '88 SLIM-A-THON.

Five team members will return to their original weigh-in site and weigh out. Dates and sites are: Feb. 15--Dentistry, room S118, 7:30 a.m.-1 p.m.; Feb. 16--Union, Riley Room, 7:30-1 p.m.; Feb. 17--Riley Hospital, room 3173, 7:30 a.m.-4 p.m.; Feb. 18--University Hospital, Room C261, 7:30 a.m.-4 p.m., and Cavanaugh Hall, room 201, 7:30 a.m.-1:00 p.m. No weigh-outs after 1 p.m., Feb. 19. First, second and third place teams win cash prizes that are based either on total pounds or percentage of body weight lost. The team with the niftiest name also wins.

FINE LUNCHES FEATURING REGIONAL AMERICAN CUISINE will be offered most Mondays through mid-April by students in the advanced food service class, Restaurant, Hotel & Institutional Management Dept. The cost is $10 a person; no tax, no tips. Profits will benefit the Ronald McDonald House. The meals will be served at noon in the Lockerbie Fare Restaurant, 428 N. College. Reservations can be made now for the first lunch on Feb. 8, featuring French cuisine from New Orleans. Call Lois Altman, 4-7649 or 4-0815. Other meals are: Heart of the Country--Feb. 15; Home in Indiana, 1990--Feb. 22, and Pacific Northwest--Feb. 29. Watch your Green Sheet for March and April lunches.

LUGAR SPEAKS IN LAW SEMINAR HERE

U. S. Sen. Richard G. Lugar, ranking Republican on the Foreign Relations Committee, will join others to discuss the first full year of developments in the "new" immigration law during a seminar Feb. 9 at the School of Law. Joe A. Tucker, who teaches immigration law at the school, arranged the seminar, which he says is important, not only to lawyers, but also to social workers and others who deal with internationals. He said some in some cases the law is being misinterpreted. Co-sponsor with the school is local attorney Paul D. Gresk, who also will speak. The seminar is from 1-6 p.m. and also includes Timothy Clark, attorney for Legal Services of Indiana, Inc., Migrant Worker Project; Donald Ferguson, acting officer-in-charge, U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, Indianapolis Office, and Wilma Shepard, alien certification specialist with the Indiana Employment Security Div. For information about fees and registration, call Diane Laster, 4-8036.

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

...and Forget--First yourself, then your family and friends, then groups and nations, are to be forgiven during International Forgiveness Week, Jan. 31-Feb. 6.

Oops--Last week's Green Sheet incorrectly said that the I.U. trustees had approved retirements for several people. President Ehrlich made the approval.

To Be Precise--Enid Zwirn and Ann Marriner-Tomey will present the next research forum "Developing the Habits of Precision" on Feb. 8, noon-1 p.m., NU 110. Bring lunch.

On Genetics--Dr. Samuel Rhine, the Indiana Academy of Science speaker of the year, will present "The New Genetics: Applications and Implications for Our Future" on Feb. 5 at noon, KB 166. A reception and roundtable discussion follows the lecture.

From Vienna--Next in the Ensemble Music Society chamber music with piano concert is the Vienna Schubert Trio, trio-in-residence at the Vienna Conservatory, Feb. 3, 7:30 p.m., Children's Museum. Call 255-3469.

Physiology/Biophysics--Dr. Subah Packer, Dept. of Physiology and Biophysics, presents "The Effect of 2, 3-Butanedione Monoxide (BDM) on Smooth Muscle Mechanical Properties" on Feb. 3. Dr. Rodney Rhoades, chairman of the department, presents "Oxygen Radical Mediated Contraction of Pulmonary Vascular Smooth Muscle" on Feb. 10. Both are at 4 p.m. in MS 205.

Decisions, Decisions--Presentations in the 1988 Great Decisions lecture and discussion series are being held in different locations about the city. At the Church of the Saviour, 5400 E. 62nd St., on Feb. 3 at 7:30 p.m., Charles Winslow, assistant professor, presents "U.S. and the Middle East." At Butler U., Robertson Hall, on Feb. 9 at 7:30 p.m. Richard A. Fredland, professor, presents "U.S. Foreign Policy: Projecting U.S. Influence." Both teach in the political science dept. at IUPUI. The series is sponsored by the Indiana Council on World Affairs, Indiana Great Decisions Office and the International Programs Office at IUPUI.

40 AND OVER PEOPLE WILL BE OFFERED FREE COLO-RECTAL CANCER TESTING materials this month. Colo-Rectal cancer is the second leading cause of cancer deaths in the U.S. but with early detection, there is a 75% cure rate. MaxWell '88 people want to remind us of the importance of knowing the early warning signs of cancer and of having regular exams. Materials for a simple, effective test for "hidden" blood in the stool will be made available to campus people over 40 years old, or those at high risk. Watch for your enrollment forms. For more info, call 4-1625.

I.U. GRADUATE STUDENTS FROM ANY DISCIPLINE OR CAMPUS ARE ELIGIBLE FOR FOREIGN STUDY in many countries. Exchanges are open in the People's Republic of China, Hungary, Spain, West Germany and Yugoslavia. The I.U. Office of International Programs will pay roundtrip travel expenses. The host institution will pay a stipend to cover living expenses. Application deadline is March 18. Call or see Susan Carty, Bryan Hall, Room 205, IUB, 5-7557.

MORE NEWS 'N' NOTES

Great Rates--The inn at the Union Building is offering staff, students and IUPUI visitors special winter rates of $29 per night, through February. Jon Ray, assistant director at the Union, invites you to call 4-4738.

Their Story--Rose Thomas, Terri Poor and Marsha Stockton, all winners of last year's Office of Women's Research and Resources scholarships, will present "Returning Women Students: Experiences and Insights" in the next Women's Studies Forum on Feb. 3, noon-1 p.m., CA 001 C-D. Bring lunch.

Need More $$$$$--The Campaign for Indiana has recorded $190.6 in contributions so far, but needs $97.3 million more to meet all priorities. Our Foundation Office would be happy to help you earmark your donation for your favorite school or center. Gene Temple, the director, and his able staff are set to move into the Conference Center about mid-February. The phone number will still be 4-3711.

Biochemistry--Fred E. Lytle, Dept. of Chemistry, Purdue U., West Lafayette, presents "Identification of Bacterial Pathogens Using Laser Excited Fluorimetry" in a biochemistry seminar on Feb. 1 at 4 p.m., MS 326.

Get Smart--The Div. of Continuing Studies is offering several "Lunch and Learn" seminars. Next is "Teenagers and Alcohol" presented by Dr. Margaret Blyth, adolescent medicine physician, on Feb. 24. For fees, call 4-4364.

Free Help--Help in starting a small business, seminars and workshops to help you keep it, a library and counseling are all available at no charge at the Indianapolis Small Business Development Center, a joint project of IUPUI and the Small Business Administration. It is at 1317 W. Michriver St. on campus; phone 4-8200.

Fun Fridays--The next AT&T First Friday at the IMA is Feb. 5, when the entire art museum stays open from 5:30-8 p.m. for jazz by Jimmmy McDaniels and open exhibits and a browse through the museum shop. Light hors d'oeuvres and a cash bar are available until 7:30 p.m., when coffee is served. Cost is $2 for members; $3 for others.

Southern Culture--There are four free musical presentations offered at Bloomington this week, including faculty recitals, a guest recital and a concert by the Philharmonic Orchestra. Call IUB 5-1103.

Special--In honor of Black History Month, the Indianapolis Opera is presenting Leontyne Price in a concert on Feb. 18. Cocktails and dinner at the Columbia Club before the concert and a reception at the Madame Walker Urban Life Center afterward are planned. For costs and more, call 283-3470.

JUST IN TIME FOR ST. VALENTINE'S DAY, FLOWERS WILL BE SOLD by Cheer Guild members in the lobbies of Riley and University Hospitals on Feb. 11, 11 a.m.-4 p.m., and again on Feb. 12, 10 a.m.-4 p.m. You can buy a single stem or a bunches of carnations.

SPRING IS A GOOD TIME TO CONSIDER VOLUNTEERING TO PLANT KNOWLEDGE IN DISADVANTAGED KIDS
Mentors from any area of science are needed to help in SEED, the American Chemical Society summer learning program that helps students with hands-on research projects. To volunteer, call Ed Harper, 4-8732 or Ed Hodes, 4-1062.

INVITATION TAKES HERRON WORK TO BLOOMINGTON

For the first time, an exhibit of works by Herron School of Art students is on display in the School of Fine Arts Gallery at Bloomington. The faculty at IUB invited the students who are exhibiting an assortment of 40 paintings, sculptures, drawings, photographs and prints. The exhibit is being curated by Herron's Exhibition Committee, whose president is Robert P. Eagerton, professor of painting at Herron. An opening reception was set for Jan. 29 and the exhibit will run through Feb. 12.

GEOGRAPHY HEADING FOR THE HILLS

The Geography Dept. is offering a new summer field course in the Montana Rockies, Field Biogeography, that will take place at the IU Geology Field Station in the spectacular Tabacco Root Mountains of southwestern Montana. Geography 107 is a prerequisite, but students at all levels can enroll for the course in Summer Session II. The field station has dorms, a dining hall, laundry facilities and hot showers. Day trips to the Tetons and Yellowstone Park are planned. Cost is $1,198 and includes tuition, fees, transportation by van out and back, meals and lodging en route and field station room and board. For more information, call the course leader, Timothy Brothers, assistant professor of geography, 4-8877.

KEATING COMPETITION OPENS TO STUDENTS

The 1988 Thomas R. Keating Writing Competition and Seminar in Feature Writing is open to now to all sophomores and juniors in Indiana colleges and universities. Deadline is Feb. 29. The annual competition is a memorial to a popular Indianapolis feature writer, who before his untimely death in 1985 at the age of 45, had written more than 3,500 columns in The Indianapolis Star. The purpose is to encourage and support the education of talented new writers and to instill in them Keating's respect for the human spirit, his ability for helping lost causes, his faith in people and his talent for excellent writing. Entering students must be able to attend a Mar. 25 writing seminar for 20 finalists which culminates in an on-site feature writing assignment that determines the winners. Students must submit three human interest features of 800 words or less, a letter of verification and their names and address. The School of Journalism, the Indianapolis Press Club and the Indianapolis Professional Society of Journalists/Sigma Delta Chi are sponsors. For details, call Associate Dean James W. Brown, 4-2773.

green sheet

*News Bureau

Indiana University-Purdue University at Indianapolis
355 Lansing Street
Indianapolis, Indiana 46202

(ARCH-791205)

ARCHIVES
UNIVERSITY LIBRARY
420 BLAKE STREET

UNIVERSITY WRITING CENTER WORKSHOPS

All students, faculty, and staff are welcome to workshops scheduled throughout the Spring 1988 semester. Workshops are structured so that participants have opportunities to ask questions. Come to Cavanaugh Hall, Room 427, for any workshop that fits your needs or interests. If you would like further information about the Writing Center or its workshops, call 274-2049.

- Tuesday, February 9 Essay Exam Preparation
Noon - 1 p.m. If the thought of an essay test alarms you, come to learn some strategies for dealing with essay questions. This workshop is designed for students of all disciplines.
- Wednesday, February 10 Writing Critical Analyses
2:30 p.m. - 3:30 p.m. This workshop presents a systematic approach to writing about a piece of literature. Students who are in or plan to take L115 or other introductory literature courses are welcome.
- Friday, February 12 Preparing for School of Education Entrance Exam
1:30 p.m. - 4:30 p.m. This workshop focuses on ways to practice before the exam and ways to write during the exam. Interested students should call 274-6840.
- Wednesday, February 17 Writing Induction and Deduction
11:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m. What are the differences between inductive and deductive reasoning? This workshop for W132 students and other writers of argument looks at how to use both approaches.
- Monday, February 22 Punctuation Problem Solving
11:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m. Misplaced punctuation can hide your good ideas. Learn (or relearn) some basic guidelines for punctuation. Bring some of your own writing so you can apply guidelines to your own work.
- Wednesday, February 24 That Final Product
11:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m. In the first draft you got down your ideas. In subsequent drafts you added detail, reorganized your thoughts, and sharpened your thesis. Now what? This workshop focuses on the final acts in revision, including eliminating wordiness and correcting errors. Bring along a work-in-progress if you like.
- Friday, March 4 Punctuation Problem Solving
Noon - 1:00 p.m. Misplaced punctuation can interfere with effective communication. This workshop reviews some basic guidelines for punctuation. You are encouraged to bring examples from your own work about which you have questions (For staff. Contact Personnel.)

Tuesday, March 15
2:30 p.m. - 3:30 p.m.

Organizing Information: Outlines and Beyond
What goes with what? What comes first, second, and third? Students who need help in organizing speeches and reports will learn logical strategies for sorting and organizing information.

Tuesday, March 22
11:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m.

Writing Honestly
Play fair with your reader and yourself. Say exactly what you mean, honestly and clearly. Learn and recognize the signals of muddy thinking in others' writing and in your own. If possible, bring your writing-in-progress to use in this workshop.

Friday, March 25
Noon - 1:00 p.m.

Fewer Words for Clearer Communication
Make every word count. Learn to reduce wordiness in your business communications without sacrificing your message. (For staff. Contact Personnel.)

Thursday, March 31
10:00 a.m. - 11:00 a.m.

Editing Your Research Paper
This workshop on editing is geared for W132, W231, and other students writing research papers. Areas covered will be preparing the paper's format, polishing the prose, and documenting your research.

Wednesday, April 13
3:00 p.m. - 4:00 p.m.

Resumes That Do the Job
Craft the eye-catching, informative resume and cover letter that will distinguish you from all other job applicants. Discover your strengths, minimize your weaknesses, and show the employer why you are right for the job. Bring a current resume or qualifications list with you.

Wednesday, April 20
1:00 p.m. - 2:00 p.m.
or

Thursday, April 21
4:00 p.m. - 5:00 p.m.

Preparing for Your Final Essay Exams
Do finals loom large for you? Would you like some help in dissecting essay questions? In understanding them? In answering them? Students in any class with essays on finals are welcome to come for either the Wednesday or Thursday workshop.