

Did you know that...

1979 marks the beginning of IUPUI's 10th year, that in those 10 years IUPUI's enrollment has grown from more than 13,000 to more than 20,000 students participating in 165 degree programs, more than double the number of programs offered when IUPUI began, that young IUPUI is now the state's third largest campus?

"LEARN & SHOP" GIVES NEW MEANING TO THE "ACADEMIC MARKETPLACE"

The diversity of goods and services offered by your friendly shopping center will take on a new dimension this month when IUPUI's "Learn and Shop" program begins at four major shopping areas in Marion County. This latest non-traditional approach to higher education means that you can attend college (for credit) within a few miles of your home.

Twenty-six credit courses will be offered in the Learn and Shop classes which start Jan. 19. The IUPUI offices of the Division of Continuing Studies and the Weekend College will jointly sponsor Learn and Shop. Courses will include such subjects as "English Composition," "Introduction to American Politics," "Business and Professional Speaking," "Algebra," Social Problems," and "English Grammar Review."

Dr. James R. East, director of the new program, said: "It seems natural that a university, particularly in a large metropolitan area, should reach out to citizens by making college credit courses as available as possible. The use of space in shopping centers is a logical location, and students there will receive the same quality of instruction in each course as they would get on the main campus."

The program will permit residents to be enrolled and to buy books for their courses without traveling to the main IUPUI campus. Courses will be offered Monday through Saturday in the training rooms of Ayres at Lafayette Square, Block's at Glendale, Lazarus at Castleton Square, and Penney's at Washington Square.

Regular IUPUI fees apply to all Learn and Shop courses: $24 per credit hour ($55 out-of-state) for the spring semester.

A variety of opportunities for academic counseling and registration has been scheduled. For more information on specific times and places, just call Ext. 4887.

WHO, WHAT, WHEN, WHERE & SOMETIMES WHY

Displays -- Pharmacy displays at University Hospital this week will be W.B. Saunders Co. on Monday, Reed & Carnick Co. on Wednesday and Upjohn Co. on Friday. Hours are 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

At IMA -- Current exhibitions at the Indianapolis Museum of Art include "Fair as China Dishes" (90 examples of English delftware from the 17th and 18th Centuries) and a retrospective of prints and drawings by Mauricio Lasansky from 1933 through 1975. Both are on view till January 14.

Back to the Salt Mines -- Spring semester classes start Monday.

Grand Rounds -- Dr. Richard Smalley from Temple University will discuss "Breast Cancer" during Department of Medicine grand rounds on Wednesday at 8:15 a.m. in Myers Auditorium of Wishard Memorial Hospital.

What's on WAT -- This month's "Today's Medicine" series on WAT-21 Medical Television will feature Dr. John F. Phillips from Continuing Medical Education. His topic will be "Percutaneous Transluminal Angioplasty of the Renal Artery: A New Method to Treat Renovascular Hypertension?". The program can be seen at noon Thursday in the regular WAT-21 viewing areas.

Children, The Law & Medical Care -- Dan Hopson Jr., professor of law at IUB, will be the speaker for this month's Child Development Conference. In his address, called "The Children's Liberation Movement and Health Care Providers," he will talk about the legal aspects involved in the medical and dental care of children. Medical Center faculty, staff and students are invited to the session which will be held Thursday at 3:30 p.m. in the Meiks Conference Room (Room A564) at Riley Hospital.

Batters Up -- The IUPUI Baseball Club plans a fund-raising dinner for Thursday from 4:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. in the Union Building cafeteria. Proceeds from the spaghetti dinner will go toward buying uniforms. Filmed highlights from the 1978 World Series will be shown. Tickets are $3 at the door, or $2.75 if you call Bob Bunnell at the School of Physical Education, Ext. 3764.

ISO -- John Nelson and the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra will perform Mahler's Symphony No. 7 during a pair of concerts Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. at Clowes Hall.

Filling Out Forms -- The Adult Education Information Center will sponsor two workshops on "How to Prepare the Financial Aid Form" for college, business and technical schools and other Basic Education Opportunity Grant eligible schools. The workshop will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. to noon, and repeated the next Saturday (January 20, same time) at the Central Library auditorium. For more information, call Ext. 3463.

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

New Feature -- Did you notice the "Did you know that. . ." box on Page 1? This is a new feature offered up by your friendly Green Sheet to keep you updated on what's happening at IUPUI. We hope you will commit these gems to memory, so when someone asks you about IUPUI enrollment, for instance, you won't have to conduct a head count. Additionally, if you have stashed away facts about IUPUI or any division or school thereof, send them forth to the News Bureau, because sooner or later (probably sooner) we will run out of our own facts. So start those cards and letters coming in. . .

Equipment Grants -- Because of restrictions on the number of proposals which may be submitted by IUPUI, persons planning to apply for a National Science Foundation Undergraduate Instructional Scientific Equipment Grant or an Office of Education Title VI-A Instructional Equipment Grant must first check with their dean's office about school priorities. Notification of intent to apply must be sent by the dean's office to Research and Sponsored Programs no later than Friday (January 12). For more information about either program, call Ext. 8285.

Paperwork -- So that the Dean of the Faculties Office has enough time to prepare academic items for the board of trustees February meeting, complete paperwork for all academic appointments requiring the trustees' approval must be filed in that office (Administration Building, Room 108) no later than Friday (January 12).

Training -- Informal INFOSWITCH Training will be held in the Harrison Room at the Union Building January 18-19 from 8:30 a.m. to noon and from 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. each day.

Finale -- Friends, colleagues and well-wishers crowded into the Physical Therapy Department at Long Hospital Friday to honor Frances C. Esktam, professor of physical therapy. She has retired after 32 years of dedicated service.

SPEAKERS SERVICE BOOKLET AVAILABLE

IUPUI has a New Year's gift for club and organization program chairmen: The new edition of the IUPUI Speakers Service, a handy helper for those who must plan programs for their groups.

More than 300 topics are listed in the new booklet, offered by 100 faculty and staff members at IUPUI. It is the largest single source for program topics in central Indiana. All speakers are volunteers who will travel throughout central Indiana for presentations before groups; most will appear free of charge to nonprofit groups.

A new feature of this year's Speakers Service booklet is a list of four special programs that can be arranged. The Indiana Lions Eye Bank, headquartered at IUPUI, will provide speakers about eye care and the eye bank program. The Occupational Therapy Association, also headquartered at IUPUI, will provide a list of speakers on a wide variety of topics related to the rehabilitation of individuals, topics such as cerebral palsy, hand rehabilitation, geriatrics and arthritis.

The booklet also offers IUPUI students who will debate the national debate topic: "Resolved, that the federal government should implement a program which guarantees employment opportunities for all U.S. citizens in the labor force."

Planners may also have programs presented by the IUPUI musical organizations, the New York Street Singers or the IUPUI Chamber Singers.

Not listed in the booklet, but a new offering of IUPUI to club and group program planners is a selection of films or videotapes about IUPUI. These can be arranged by calling the IUPUI Publications and Information Services Office at Ext. 2101. That office also handles all requests for speaking arrangements which are not covered in the Speakers Service booklet directives.

Among subject areas offered this year are: Business and industry, current affairs, dentistry, education, family living, the future, health sciences, history, international topics, literature, management, personal living, political science, religion, science, sports, and women's interests.

Speeches are offered by title under each category and speakers are generally contacted directly to make arrangements. Copies of the booklet may be obtained by calling IUPUI Information Services.
