

8P3

green sheet

volume nine, number seventeen

april 29, 1979

SCULPTOR NAMED FOR IUPUI PROJECT

David von Schlegell, a sculptor at the Yale University School of Fine Arts, has been selected to execute a sculpture for the area in front of University Library on the West Michigan Street Campus.

Consisting of three identical 55-foot-high pieces of stainless steel, the sculpture will be designed on the theme of the 3-4-5 (Pythagorean) triangle. The sculpture should be completed in 1980.

The project is being funded jointly by IUPUI and the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA) under the program called "Works of Art in Public Places." Total cost of the project will be between $120,000 and $150,000 with funding from contributions from friends of the university and NEA.

The project proposal was started in 1975 by Phyllis I. Danielson, then secretary of the IUPUI Faculty Council and now president of the Kendall School of Design at Grand Rapids, Michigan.

The sculptor was selected by a panel appointed jointly by the NEA and IUPUI. Representing the university were Dean Arthur Weber of the Herron School of Art; Diane Lazarus, assistant curator of the Indianapolis Museum of Art, and Edward L. Barnes, master plan architect for the IUPUI campus and architect of the Walker Art Center in Minneapolis.

Von Schlegell, a native of St. Louis, studied at the University of Michigan and the Art Students' League in New York. His early interest in painting developed into a concern for sculpture, and since 1961 he has devoted full time to that art form. He now teaches the master's class in sculpture at the Yale art school.

In 1969 he was commissioned by Storm King Art Center to make environmental works for their permanent collection and since then has had works commissioned across the country, including India Wharf, Boston; Miami Lakes, Florida, and Duluth State Park in Minnesota.

* * *

MAY 2 TO KICK OFF DENTAL CENTENNIAL

A century of dental education in the Hoosier state will be celebrated with special events all year long, commencing with the unveiling this week of a mural at the I.U. School of Dentistry. The mural, which depicts the history of dentistry in the whole world is the work of Dr. Rolando A. DeCastro. It will be formally presented to the School during an inaugural ceremony at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday at the school.

Preceding the unveiling will be an address by Dr. Joseph F. Volker, chancellor of the University of Alabama and a 1936 graduate of the dental school.

The centennial also will be celebrated with other special events. The school will be an active participant in the Thursday-through-Sunday convention of the Indiana Dental Association at the Convention-Exposition Center. Hal Jaynes and members of his staff in the school's television facility have assembled an exhibit for the convention which is a full-scale depiction of a typical dentist's office of the 1870s. Authentic furniture, materials and dental instruments of the period are included.

* * *

WHO, WHAT, WHEN, WHERE & SOMETIMES WHY

Displays -- Pharmacy displays this week in University Hospital will be Beecham-Massengill on Monday and Reed Carnick & Co. on Wednesday. Hours are 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Sensitive Topic -- "Role of the Physician in Caring for the Family Mourning a Perinatal Death" is the subject of this month's program in the WAT 21 Medical Television series on "The Newborn." Hosted by Dr. Richard Schreiner, the program can be seen Tuesday at noon and 8 p.m. and again on Thursday (same times) in all WAT 21 regular viewing areas.

Initiation -- Dr. P.J. Gehring from the Dow Chemical Company will be the guest speaker for the initiation banquet and program of the I.U. Medical Center Chapter of Sigma Xi. The program will be held Wednesday at 6 p.m. (registration) in the Roof Lounge of the Union Building. Dr. Gehring's topic will be "Application of Pharmacokinetics in Assessing the Risk of Exposure to Low-Level Carcinogens." Cost is $10 per person, and persons may pay at the door. For information or reservations, call Dr. Terry E. Reed, Ext. 2241.

Grand Rounds -- Dr. Eugene Klatte will discuss "Current Status: Newer Imaging Modalities" and Drs. Stephen Williams and Robert Rankin will discuss "Screening Tests" Mammography and Stool Blood" during Department of Medicine grand rounds. The session will be at 8:15 a.m. Wednesday in Myers Auditorium at Wishard Memorial Hospital.

Who's on WAT? -- Dr. Michael E. Mitchell, assistant professor of pediatric urology, will talk about "Undiversion" in Wednesday's entry in the "Grand Rounds in Surgery" series on WAT 21. The program can be seen at noon in regular viewing areas.

What's on WAT? -- Something new: A five-part series on epilepsy coming to the Medical Center via satellite from the Medical University of South Carolina. Starting this Wednesday, the weekly sessions continue through May 30 from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. each time. The series is designed to provide practicing neurologists, neurosurgeons, internists, pediatricians and family practitioners with a comprehensive look at the newest information about epilepsy. A toll-free phone number enables viewers to discuss questions with the speakers in Charleston. Physicians desiring postgraduate credit are required to register for a nominal fee and can get forms from the WAT 21 station manager. However, registration is not a prerequisite for viewing any or all the programs.

Interviews -- The Second Annual Teacher Candidate Interview Conference is scheduled for Thursday from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in the basement of Schwitzer Center at Indiana Central. The goal is to present forthcoming teacher education graduates with a chance to interview for available teaching positions. Sponsor is the Consortium for Urban Education. For information, call Ext. 3709.

CTS -- "Shenandoah" is this month's production at the Christian Theological Seminary. Opening night is Thursday, and the show continues through Sunday, then May 10-13 and May 17-20. Performances are at 8 p.m. Thursdays through Saturdays and at 3 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. on Sundays. For information, call the box office at 923-1516.

Conference -- The Division of Labor Studies, in co-operation with the Marion County Labor Education Advisory Committee and the Labor-Management Services Administration of the U.S. Department of Labor, is sponsoring a 1 1/2-day conference on "ERISA and Negotiated Pension Plans." The sessions will start Friday at 9 a.m. and end by noon Saturday; all will be held in the Union Building. Call Ext. 3471 for details.

Colloquium -- "The Professional Worker: Resolving the Conflict between Professional and Employee Roles" will be the focus of a School of Social Work colloquium Friday in the Roof Lounge at the Union Building. Dr. Arthur Katz, president of the National Association of Social Workers, will lead the discussion starting at 1:30 p.m. He is also a professor of social policy and former dean of the School of Social Welfare at the University of Kansas. A reception honoring all MSW and BSW graduates will follow the program.

TV -- "Self-Development" will be discussed in this week's "Women: Working It Out" series being shown on Channel 20. The program can be seen at 2 p.m. Friday and again at 11:30 a.m. Saturday.

Seminar -- "Mercapto Steroids and Heavy Metal Poisoning," Biochemistry Seminar by Dr. Robert Blickenstaff, professor; Medical Science Building; Room 326, 4 p.m. Friday.

Civic-Minded -- Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit" opens Friday at the Indianapolis Civic Theater at the art museum. The show will run weekends (Fridays at 8 p.m., Saturdays at 8:30 p.m. and Sundays at 2 p.m.) through May 13. For information, call 923-4597.

Commence -- I.U. Bloomington commencement ceremonies will be held Sunday at 3 p.m. in Assembly Hall. IUPUI's commencement this year will be May 13 at 3 p.m. at the Convention-Exposition Center.

* * *

Did you know that...

Indianapolis-based faculty members have been receiving intra-university recognition in awards programs this month. Dr. Eugene C. Klatter, professor and chairman of radiology, was one of five faculty members given "distinguished professor" status at Founders Day ceremonies in Bloomington. During the same program, Dr. Arthur L. Norins, professor and chairman of dermatology and professor of pathology, received the President's Award for outstanding teaching. At the IUPUI Honors Day, Harriet R. Becker, associate professor of nursing, received the Lola L. Lohse Award for her contributions to student activities; Helen E. Zapp, student activities officer, received the Top Administrator Award, and Charles H. Winslow, assistant professor of political science, received the Outstanding Educator Award. Also, Dr. Joseph C. Muhler, director of the Preventive Dentistry Research Institute, has received one of six Distinguished Alumni Awards from I.U.

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

Take a Look-See -- The current display of pottery in the Union Building cases is the product of the artistry and craftsmanship of Richard Scott, Dental Illustrations. Stop by and take a look when you're in the building.

C&G Time -- Faculty cap and gown pick-up will be Tuesday and Wednesday between 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. at the tunnel level of the Union Building. Late student orders may also be picked up then. For more information, call Kim Manlove at the Alumni Office, Ext. 8828.

Warning -- The Bursar Office will be closed May 7 because of Summer Session registration at Cavanaugh Hall. The office will re-open May 8 at 8:30 a.m. for full banking service.

Amnesty Local -- This is "Amnesty Week" (no fines, no questions asked) at the School of Medicine Library. No fines will be charged on library books or journals returned to the library this week (through May 6), no matter how overdue the materials may be. (This offer does not apply to patrons who already have been checklisted for non-return of materials or to patrons who previously returned library materials on which fines were owed.)

Paperwork -- So that the Dean of the Faculties Office has time to prepare academic items of the I.U. trustees' June meeting, complete paperwork for all academic appointments requiring their approval should be filed in that office (Administration Building, Room 108) by Friday, May 11.

Hours -- Effective May 9, the summer schedule for the School of Medicine Library will be 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays, and noon to 6 p.m. on Sundays.

Social Work Focus -- A May symposium in Philadelphia will focus on normal stages or transition points in the adult life cycle when individuals are most vulnerable to psycho-social-physical distress. Leonard Schneiderman, dean of the School of Social Work, will lead this symposium, called "Adult Developmental Tasks and Social Policy." HEW has funded the symposium to explore the viability of a new conceptual basis for national social policy and program development. Faculty members interested in the symposium or who would like to review the 12 papers that will be presented can contact Dean Schneiderman in Cavanaugh Hall, Room 545, Ext. 8364.

Memo from Medical Illustrations -- On Friday (May 4), May 25 and June 8 there will be no quick slide orders, no personal photos taken, and no patient photos. Senior medical students will be having their pictures taken at $2 initial fee and $5 for composite.

Scheduling -- There has been a change in scheduling rooms in the School of Nursing building. Please contact Jack Crouch (Ext. 4228) by memo or by Room Request form. The forms are available in Room 105.

* * *

JEANNETTE MATTHEW
LIBRARIAN, SCHOOL OF LIBERAL ARTS
420 BLAKE STREET

green sheet

*News Bureau
Indiana University-Purdue University
at Indianapolis
355 Lansing Street
Indianapolis, Indiana 46202