DOES CETA WORK?

Within a year officials should have a good idea about the effectiveness of training programs financed by the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA). A study of all CETA employment training programs in Indiana is about to be conducted by Robert Sandy, assistant professor of economics.

The survey portion of the study, the first to be conducted in the state, is scheduled to be completed by August 31, with a full report expected by March 15, 1980. At least 1,000 persons will be interviewed. The study will be supported by two grants totaling $77,000 from the Indiana Office of Occupational Development.

Sandy said he expects to determine whether persons trained through CETA programs have been more successful at obtaining and keeping jobs than others who did not have CETA training. He also will compare earning levels between CETA trained and non-CETA trained groups, and before and after training.

According to Sandy, about half the persons interviewed will be selected from those who have been through the CETA program, with the balance to be chosen from persons who were eligible and applied, but could not enter the program because openings were not available. Interviewees will have been out of the CETA program for at least one year.

Also, investigators will try to discover personal characteristics which contribute to a trainee's success or lack of it, if any CETA program sponsors are more successful than others, and whether classroom instruction or on-the-job training is more effective. Sandy said a training workshop for all CETA survey interviewers will be held Saturday (May 19) at the Rodeway Inn East.

There are 15 prime CETA sponsors in Indiana. Four are cities: Hammond, Gary, South Bend and Indianapolis. Seven are counties: Lake, LaPorte, Elkhart, St. Joseph, Tippecanoe, Madison and Vigo. Three programs are operated by consortiums: At Fort Wayne, Delaware and Blackford counties, and in Southwestern Indiana centered at Evansville. The Indiana Office of Occupational Development, representing Gov. Otis R. Bowen, administers CETA employment training programs in the balance of the state and works directly with the other 14 prime sponsors.

FACULTY COUNCIL ELECTS

Miriam Langsam, School of Liberal Arts, has been elected to a two-year term as secretary of the IUPUI Faculty Council. She succeeds Carol Nathan, School of Nursing. The election came at the council's final meeting of the year earlier this month at the School of Law.

Seven faculty members were elected to serve a one-year term on the executive committee: Richard Beck, engineering and technology; Billie Bond, nursing; Jean Gnat, University Libraries; Michael Penna, science; Robert Shellhamer, medicine; Donald Tharp, dentistry, and Brian Vargus, liberal arts.

Faculty council members elected to the tenure committee will serve two years and these include Barbara Fischler, University Libraries; Hilda Frazier, nursing, and Ned Hornback, medicine.

Newly elected unit representatives also were announced. Two-year representatives are Konrad Banaszak and Wilmer Fife, science; Leon Bourke and Barbara Jackson, liberal arts; David Burnett, continuing studies; Sarah Burns, Herron, Carol Cecere and Carol Deets, nursing; Ronald Dehnke, education, and Dennis Dipert and Donald Gartner, allied health sciences.

Also, James Farris, Carl Fuller, Richard Lawlor, Douglas Maxwell, Leo McCarthy, Terry Reed, Fred Schoen, Robert Strawbridge, Kathleen Warfel, Meredith Hull and Gerald Zimmerman, medicine; Richard Lawrence, social work, and Donald Tharp, dentistry. Elaine Alton, science, will serve one year as a unit representative.

Margaret Applegate and Jerri Laube, nursing, and Carleton Nordschow, medicine, will join eight other council members as representatives-at-large for the University Faculty Council.

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

Gala Send-off -- The IUPUI community extended best wishes to Helen Zapp, Student Activities officer, during a farewell retirement reception Thursday in the Union Building. After 12 years at IUPUI and more than 16 years in previous service positions, she is moving on to the next challenge: Mrs. Zapp has made her commitment to serve the Sisters of Charity of Nazareth (SCN) as a Sister of Charity of Nazareth Associate (SCNA). The SCN is housed in the former Nazareth College for girls at Bardstown, Kentucky, where Mrs. Zapp will have a choice of several service projects. Serving others will be nothing new to her: She has been a long-time worker for the Catholic Youth Organization, Girl Scouts, National Council of Catholic Women, St. Vincent School of Nursing, Marion County General Hospital (Wishard) School of Nursing, Footlight Musicals, Civic Theater, Morris Street Players and the Prologue Players.

Early to Bed & Early to Rise -- As of May 14, the Administrative Office Building will begin observing the summer hours of 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., with 30 minutes for lunch. In the interest of conserving energy from air conditioning, this schedule will be in effect through August 6. Other university offices, especially those cooled by electricity rather than steam, are invited to adopt a similar schedule if approved by the officer responsible. In such cases, air conditioning controls should be set to "off" from 4 p.m. to 7 a.m.

A Sure Bet -- The IUPUI Women's Club is off to the races again. Two charter buses will transport race fans on Saturday to Churchill Downs for the races and dinner at the Blue Boar Cafeteria in Louisville. The buses will leave the Union Building at 9 a.m. Cost is $11 per person which covers transportation, clubhouse admission and a reserved clubhouse seat. Meals are separate. Send in your reservation and check or money order immediately to: Barbara McQueen, Bursar Office, AH 115, IUPUI. Make checks payable to the IUPUI Women's Club.

Sponsor Needed -- Any faculty member interested in becoming a co-sponsor for Accolade, senior women's honor society at IUPUI, should contact Judith Gersting at 253-6965.

Podium -- Dean Arthur Weber of the Herron School of Art was in Cincinnati Friday to deliver the main address at the annual commencement exercises at his alma mater, the Cincinnati Art Academy.

Credit-ability -- A new service at the Credit Union is the "Money Maker" share draft account. This is a no charge, no minimum balance account similar to checking, but it also pays a quarterly dividend. Accounts may be opened in the Credit Union office in the Allied Health Building from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day. A $300 initial deposit is necessary to open your share draft account. This is an initial deposit only and may be transferred from your regular share account.

Middle East Focus -- A special three-day professional development training "Workshop on Students from the Arab World and Iran" will be held May 30-June 1 at the Union Building in Bloomington. The workshop is being presented by two regions of the National Association for Foreign Student Affairs. For information, call Ext. 7294.

Memorial -- The Larry Kolb Memorial Fund, in memory of Dr. A. Lawrence Kolb who died May 6, has been established at the School of Dentistry. Dr. Kolb, a 1976 graduate of the I.U. dental school, was a second-year resident in oral surgery at the time of his death. Those who wish should send contributions to: The Larry Kolb Memorial Fund, c/o Oral Surgery Department, I.U. School of Dentistry, 1121 West Michigan Street, Indianapolis 46202.

WHO, WHAT, WHEN, WHERE & SOMETIMES WHY

Hear Some Art -- Artistic virtuoso Dennis Oppenheim has an exhibition at the gallery at the Herron School of Art through June 29. On view are silkscreens, photographs and audio/sculpture installations, courtesy of the Marianne Deson Gallery in Chicago. Gallery hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Downtown -- More than 30 lithographs by Indianapolis-born artist Garo Z. Antreasian are featured in a new exhibition at the Indianapolis Museum of Art's downtown gallery in the AFNB building on Monument Circle. A former student and professor at the John Herron Art Institute, Antreasian now is a professor of art at the University of New Mexico. The exhibition continues through July 12.

Seminar -- "Dynamic Imaging of the Brain through Intact Skull," Ultrasound Research Laboratory Seminar by Dr. Olaf Von Ramm from Duke University; University Hospital, Room N436, Monday at 3 p.m.

Finale -- "Fille Mal Gardee" and new repertoire will be on the program for the year's final performances by the Indianapolis Ballet Theater. Show time is 8 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday in the Showalter Pavilion at the Indianapolis Museum of Art. For ticket information, call 923-3937.

Grand Rounds -- Dr. Robert Rohn will discuss "Hemolytic Anemia" and Dr. Douglas R. Maxwell will talk about "Obstructive Uropathy" during Department of Medicine grand rounds on Wednesday at 8:15 a.m. in Myers Auditorium of Wishard Memorial Hospital.

Dental -- "A Rational and Biologic Basis for Conservative Periodontal Therapy," School of Dentistry continuing education course; Howard Johnson's Downtown, all day Wednesday.

Medical Alums -- Alumni of the I.U. School of Medicine and their spouses will be on campus Wednesday for a day of reunion, reacquaintance and repast. Highlight of the program will be the traditional "luncheon under the tent" on the Union Building lawn, during which Dean Steven Beering will discuss the "state of the school" and appropriate awards will be presented.

Take A Museum to Dinner -- Friday is the second annual International Museum Day, in honor of which the Indiana State Museum will put on a "fun and adventure" serendipity program from 3:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. This special 5 1/2-hour Hoosier open house will feature a potpourri of participatory activities, like square dancing, making prehistoric tools and weaving. There is no charge.

Women -- "Personal Presentation for Jobs" will be the focus in this week's "Working It Out" series for women returning to the job market. The program can be seen on Channel 20 at 1 p.m. Friday and 10:30 a.m. Saturday. Don't forget the Monday discussion groups -- at 1:30 p.m. at the IUPUI Women's Center. Study guides are available from IHETS, Ext. 7945.

Biochemistry -- "Mechanism Responsible for TOFA Inhibition of Hepatic Lipogenesis," Biochemistry Seminar by Dr. Sylvia McCune, assistant professor; Medical Science Building, Room 326, 4 p.m. Friday.

Cinematic Anatomies -- The year-long "Anatomy of a Movie" film series at the Indianapolis Museum of Art ends this month with a look at the art of musical scoring. On the agenda this Friday is "On the Waterfront," music by Leonard Bernstein. The 1954 classic with Marlon Brando and Rod Steiger will be shown at 8 p.m. in the DeBoest Lecture Hall. Admission is $1 for members, students and senior citizens, $2 for non-members, and 50¢ for children 12 and under.

Nursing Alums -- Saturday is I.U. School of Nursing Alumni Day, starting with 9 a.m. registration, then tours, then a luncheon program in the Union Building.

Race Theme -- Race car driver Tom Bigelow and car owner Sherman Armstrong will headline the second annual Alumni Banquet of the School of Engineering and Technology on Saturday at the Speedway Motel. Festivities start with a 7 p.m. registration, then dinner at 7:45 p.m. Tickets are $10.50 per person.

PARKING AT IUPUI

The I.U. board of trustees meeting this month in Bloomington took action relating to two proposed parking garages for the Indianapolis campus.

Glenroy Construction Co. Inc. of Indianapolis was awarded a contract in the amount of $3,050,000 to build Michigan Street South, a garage that initially will house 470 vehicles on the south side of Michigan Street between Patterson Street and Barnhill Drive.

The trustees also approved an increase in the contract to $6,100,000 to include construction of Michigan Street West, a garage to be built west of the Union Building and north of the Indiana State Board of Health Building, contingent upon further approvals. Those approvals must come from bond counsel and the State Board of Health. Michigan Street West would initially provide space for 630 vehicles.

The two garages, estimated to be completed by June, 1980, are designed for expansion. Funding for both will be through issuance of bonds authorized by the 1978 Indiana General Assembly.

Glenroy was the low bidder on Michigan Street South and for the two garages as a combination package.

The trustees also awarded two contracts for the construction of a temporary parking facility to be used while the parking garages are being built. The temporary lot will include minimal paving and a temporary lighting system in an area bounded by Caldwell Street, New York Street and Beauty Avenue. Astro Paving of Zionsville was awarded a contract in the amount of $64,968 and Long Electric of Indianapolis was awarded a contract in the amount of $12,200. Each was the low bidder.
