

green sheet

volume twenty-two, number two

january 26, 1992

HISTORIAN TO DISCUSS HISTORY OF RACE RELATIONS AT TAYLOR SYMPOSIUM

Memory and Social Healing: The Legacy of American Race Relations is the theme of the third annual Joseph Taylor Symposium Feb. 13 at the Conference Center ballroom. Neil R. McMillen of the University of Southern Mississippi is the featured speaker for the event, sponsored by the School of Liberal Arts and presented by POLIS Research Center. McMillen, a leading historian of race relations, will share insights into how understanding the history of race relations can help both white and black citizens reconcile their visions for the future. Reservations are due by Feb. 6 and can be made by mail at: Joseph Taylor Symposium, University Place Conference Center.

Taylor

POLIS PUBLIC DISCUSSION SERIES OPENS WITH AIRPORT EXPANSION

POLIS Research Center and the School of Liberal Arts are sponsoring a brown-bag luncheon series of public discussions on key issues beginning Feb. 5 at the Associated Group, 120 Monument Circle, Conference Room A. Diane Whalley of the geography department will kick off the one-hour noontime sessions with "Airport Expansion: Lessons for Indianapolis from the Experience of Dallas-Ft. Worth." She'll review her research from the Texas project and what implications those experiences might have on Indianapolis in light of the proposed United Airlines and U.S. Postal Service projects. The sessions are free and open to the public.

'FIRST-YEAR' EXPERT HEADLINES MOORE SYMPOSIUM

World-renowned educator John N. Gardner of the University of South Carolina, an expert in the "first-year experience" for students, will be the featured guest at the annual Edward C. Moore Teaching Symposium scheduled Feb. 7 from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. at LE 101. The day long event will focus on promoting both student and institutional success through the first-year experience, as well as teaching strategies to enhance learning and growth in the first year. Another teaching-oriented event scheduled Feb. 7 is Teaching With MultiMedia: Tools YOU Can Use, co-sponsored by IBM and Integrated Technologies. The conference will focus on the use of computers and other media to augment classroom instruction. Diana Oblinger will offer the keynote address at 10 a.m., with sessions running until 3:30 p.m. at the Conference Center. An optional workshop follows from 4-6 p.m. Those interested are invited to attend either or both events. For further information or to sign up for the Moore Symposium, call 4-8880. For more about the MultiMedia event, call 4-4560.

CONFERENCE TO FOCUS ON MEDICAL DECISIONS FOR TERMINALLY ILL

One of the most controversial legal battles of the 1990s will be the focus of Medical Decision-Making By and For the Terminally Ill, a Feb. 12 symposium at University Place Conference Center. The event, sponsored by the Indiana Geriatric Education Center, the Center for Law and Health and the Health Law Society of IU School of Law-Indianapolis, will focus on issues surrounding the appropriate time to end all medical treatment of terminally ill patients. The event is from 1-3 p.m. and is open to the public with registration at the door. Call 4-1912 for more.

BOOKMARKS NOMINATIONS DEADLINE EXTENDED

The deadline for nominating books for next year's BookMarks program has been extended to Feb. 3. BookMarks coordinator Jane Rooksby is asking faculty and staff members to nominate their favorite leisure reading books for next year's list. Nominations need not be limited to academic areas. Faculty members are being encouraged to have students send in their choices, as well. All nominations for the highly successful reading program should be mailed or brought to BookMarks, AO 139, or call 4-4371.

LITTLE EARNS LILLY FELLOWSHIP FOR UNIQUE REPORT

Monroe H. Little Jr., director of IUPUI's Afro-American studies department, has received a 1992-93 Lilly Endowment Faculty Open Fellowship to create the first "State of Black Indianapolis" report. Little, one of 10 fellowship winners for 1992-93, will work with Indianapolis Urban League officials and others in the community to create the report, modeled upon the national Urban League's "State of Black America." Among the topics to be discussed are housing, education, the relationship between blacks and the local criminal justice system, African-American art and culture, health care and politics. The report is due to be released at the same time as the 1993 "State of Black America" report.

NEWS 'N' NOTES

APPLICANTS SOUGHT--The Center on Philanthropy's Academic Programs and Research Division is seeking qualified applicants for its doctoral fellowships and research grants program. Research funded by the Center must contribute to the field of philanthropic studies and provide answers to fundamental questions of why philanthropy exists and how it operates. For more about requirements and guidelines, contact 4-4200. The application deadline is Feb. 15.

RYAN NOMINATIONS--Nominations for the 1992 John W. Ryan Award are due Feb. 3 to Henry R. Cooper Jr. of International Programs in Bloomington. The award goes annually to a faculty member who has made exceptional contributions to IU's international programs. Nomination letters should focus on qualifications relating to the award criteria. For more information, call 5-5021.

JOB EVALUATION WORKSHOP--The Human Resources Administration will conduct a workshop for supervisors and biweekly staff Feb. 6, discussing the job evaluation process. The workshop will run from 1-3 p.m. in the HRA conference room in UB 372. The registration deadline is Jan. 30. For more, call 4-8931.

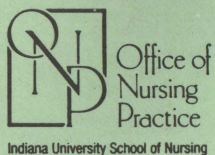

FLU VACCINE--Student Employee Health Service once again has flu vaccine available to treat students and employees. SEHS is open 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m. weekdays and the vaccine costs $7 per treatment. No appointment is needed.

CONTROL SUBJECTS--Non-obese, Caucasian people ages 40 and over are needed as normal control subjects by the Institute of Psychiatric Research. The subjects must be in good health, never have been treated for depression and available for overnight study (2-4 nights). Subjects will receive $60 per night. For more, call 4-6245 and leave your name, birth date, phone number and mention Depression Study 277.

GUEST SPEAKER--Uri Dinur of the Ben Gurion University of the Negev in Israel will be the guest speaker at the Jan. 31 chemistry seminar. The event will begin at 4:15 p.m. in KB 231. Call 4-6872.

HEALTH-CARE SERVICES SURVEY PLANNED

Many faculty and staff members will take part in a random survey Feb. 3-7 by the Office of Nursing Practice to determine health-care services needed on the campus. Participants will receive a one-page questionnaire in campus mail focusing on services they believe are needed but not now offered on campus, and on services they might use if available. Over 1,000 staff and 1,000 faculty members will be surveyed.

OLDER ADULTS HONORED BY 'SHARE YOUR LOVE' CHILD-CARE PROGRAM

Graduates of the first Child Care Center Training Program for older adults were honored Jan. 22 for their achievements in the program designed to provide trained child-care center workers. The "Share Your Love" program was devised by the IUPUI Office for Gerontology and the Indiana Vocational Technical College Division of Human Services and Health Technologies. Older adults in the program were able to provide much-needed child-care services and help themselves find new ways to contribute and remain an active and vital part of the community.

HONORS 'N' ACCOLADES

TOP EDUCATOR--Clayton Baker of the Spanish department has been chosen as the Spanish Educator of the Year by his peers in the Indiana chapter of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese.

COLUMBUS RECOGNITION--Six part-time instructors at IUPUI Columbus were recently honored for 10 years of service, including Bob Battin, accounting; Tom Darragh, computer technology; Jeanette Hostetler, sociology; Natalie Lavengood, computer science; Mark Miller, math methods for elementary teachers; and Mary Weinland, English.

MORE NEWS 'N' NOTES

AUDITIONS PLANNED--Auditions are scheduled Feb. 6-7 for the dramatic play "Mother Hicks" in the Mary Cable Building. Parts are available for four females ages, 13-50, and seven males, also ages 13-50. One male character is deaf and uses American sign language. Deaf and hearing-impaired actors are encouraged to audition. Call 4-2095.

GIVING TREE THANKS--The Wellness Education Committee wants to thank all students, staff and faculty who took part in the Giving Tree project during the holidays. Approximately 30 needy families were helped by your generous donations.

RIDE NEEDED--Margie is looking for a ride from West 10th and I-465 area to the campus, especially mornings, and will pay gas money. Call 4-7214 from 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

ROOMMATE SOUGHT--Debby is looking for a female roommate, preferably a college student. Call 630-7093.

'INSIGHT' GUEST--Victor Childers of the School of Business is the guest of the Jan. 30 "Insight" program sponsored by International House. Childers will discuss international trade from 7-8 p.m. in the International Commons. International "Coffee Hours" are held each Friday, 4-6 p.m. in the Commons at Warthin Apartments.

ANESTHESIOLOGISTS MEETING--The annual meeting of the Indiana Society of Anesthesiologists and the Anesthesiologists and Anesthesia Update is scheduled Feb. 1-2 at University Place Conference Center. For more, call 4-8353.

IRWIN AWARD NOMINATIONS DUE JAN. 31

The deadline for turning in nominations for this year's Glenn W. Irwin, Jr. M.D. Experience Excellence Recognition Awards is Jan. 31. Ballots must be turned in to Carol Nathan's office, AO 126, by that date. If you don't have the proper form (or a copy), call her office at 4-8974. The awards, given to six faculty and six staff members for service above and beyond the call of duty, will be presented April 10 at the Chancellor's Honors Convocation.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS FOCUS OF WORKSHOPS

Working closely with international students and opportunities for those students to work in the United States will be the focal point of three upcoming events sponsored by International Affairs.

A workshop on support services for international students is scheduled Jan. 29 from 1:15-4 p.m. at the Conference Center. Faculty, administrators and clerical support personnel who work regularly with IUPUI's international students are invited to take part in the event. The workshop, co-sponsored by the Office of International Affairs, the English department and Graduate School, will focus on international student admissions and English language proficiency issues. Reservations can be made with Cindy Tucker by calling 4-2081.

The two remaining information sessions are scheduled Feb. 7 in the Union Building rooftop lounge on the sixth floor. The first, from 1:30-2:30 p.m., is aimed at faculty and administrators involved in hiring nonimmigrants for faculty and research positions. It will focus on recent changes in immigration law that affect procedures for obtaining proper work visas for professional employees. For more on this session, call 4-3260. The second session, from 3-4:30 p.m., is aimed at IUPUI's foreign students and will explore options for working in the U.S. beyond graduation and other topics. For more, call 4-7295.

PARTY ANIMALS PLAN VALENTINE'S DAY CELEBRATION AT THE ZOO

Celebrate a unique Valentine's Day by dancing among the alligators, polar bears and other party animals at the Indianapolis Zoo at "Valentines at the Zoo" dance Feb. 14. The event, presented by the School of Science Student Council, will be in the World of Waters Building and Education Building at the zoo. It will run from 6 p.m.-midnight and feature a live disc jockey, dancing and refreshments. All IUPUI students, faculty and staff members are welcome. Tickets cost $6 per person and $10 per couple and are available at SL 2250 (ask for Rosemary) or at KB 054 (ask for Charmain or Carolyn). Or call 4-0626.

FINALLY...

...A memorial service is planned Feb. 8 in Bloomington for William G. Panschar, professor of marketing. Panschar developed the Master of Business Administration programs at Bloomington and Indianapolis and helped establish the Consortium for Graduate Studies in Management. The service will begin at 1 p.m. in the J. Dwight Peterson Room at the IU Foundation.

green sheet

*News Bureau
Indiana University - Purdue University
at Indianapolis
355 Lansing Street
Indianapolis, Indiana 46202