VOLUME 3, ISSUE 11

NOVEMBER 2015

From the Desk of the EAD / ADEA

It is hard to fathom that the calendar year is fast approaching its end, and the next OFA newsletter will be written in the holiday season. I feel compelled to mention two items that gave rise to concern this past month, and leave you to offer suggestions for a remedy. The first was the high proportion of "no shows" at the Faculty Teaching Conference dinner. 30% of those who had signed up for dinner, with a choice of entree, failed to appear, the majority with no explanation to either Ana Gossweiler or Lisa Willis, who worked so hard with the committee to create a stimulating and relevant program. To me, this was not just about the cost to the school, but the negative message implied. In a similar vein, Chancellor and Mrs. Paydar hosted a delightful evening for new faculty at their official residence. Campus administrators, several deans and, of course, many faculty new to IUPUI, both junior and senior, enjoyed an opportunity to mingle, find out what other groups are doing and, in some cases, make useful connections. Sadly to Gail Williamson and I, no IUSD faculty attended. I do know that one specialty annual conference was coincidental. Taken together, does this mean we are failing to foster engagement in the school? Please let me/us know, anonymously or otherwise, if you have comments or suggestions. But for those who may have passed by our office recently, after months of patience, we finally received our official office

We are also moving forward with the recruitment of a staff person to help with running the office, and particularly with Damon's responsibilities for faculty recruitment, onboarding, contract renewals etc. The office of Staff HR is working hard on reviewing the 80+ applications in order to short-list those most suitable.

The campus focus on mentorship continues. Paul Edwards has initiated planning for our Chair Mentoring Program, and I will be meeting with Interim EVC, Kathy Johnson, very soon in order to discuss her own planning strategy, as she picks up the baton from Dr. Paydar. Please remember that all faculty, whether junior, mid-career or senior, are always welcome to participate in the monthly meetings of the IUSD faculty peer mentoring group, organized and convened by Dr. Liz Ramos. October was also the month for the ADEA Deans' annual conference, held in Washington DC. Dean Williams invited me to attend, and you may imagine that, being in the hub of the nation's capital with so much happening (or not) right now, we were informed and entertained by several prominent figures from mainstream politics, healthcare, education and finance. It would be difficult to highlight a single event or presentation, but if pushed, I would select the talk by Dr. Beth Akers, an economist from the Brookings Institute, who talked eloquently, humorously and with fascinating data regarding the cost of higher education, the value attached to that, and why we may need to worry "more selectively". Overall, what I found refreshing, and enlightening, were the number of 45 minute presentations that were without a single PowerPoint, and some with very few. A testament to the speakers' ability to engage the delegates

Finally, on the global scene, there is an IU delegation visiting several institutions in Cuba, this and next week. I forwarded the proposals submitted by IUSD faculty and await the return and update from the delegation. To my knowledge, no IUPUI faculty or administrators were included.

President McRobbie will preside at the official opening of the IU Gateway in Berlin within the next few days. These IU footprints around the world are not simply political posturing, as cynics may suppose, but facilities that can help develop and support global cooperation. We are currently investigating the opportunities that may be helpful for IUSD, in India, given the interest from that country in our IDP.

So, as the holidays approach, I wish you a wonderful Thanksgiving, and I urge everyone to think about our mission, and any suggestions you may have for our or the Dean's Office.

Faculty Development Opportunities

There are many opportunities for professional development during the month of November. The following list of programs were selected from a variety of resources on the IUPUI Campus including the Center for Service and Learning (CSL), the Center for Teaching and Learning (CTL), Office for Women (OFW) and the Indiana University School of Medicine, Office of Faculty and Professional Development (OFAPD), the Office of the Vice Chancellor for Research and IUSD Office of Continuing Education. Programs are free for all faculty to attend.

Associate Dean Named

In early October, Dr. Tien-Min Gabriel Chu was appointed as the IUSD Associate Dean for Research after serving as the Interim Associate Dean for Research since early 2015. Dr. Chu brings his considerable expertise, accomplishments and experience as a dentist, engineer and scientist to the research mission of the School of Dentistry. Dr. Chu, a tenured Associate Professor in the Department of Biomedical and Applied Sciences, is nationally and internationally known for his research in the area of bone and tissue regeneration. Dr. Chu received his DDS from Kaohsiung Medical College in Taiwan and completed his PhD at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. Dr. Chu holds adjunct appointments in both the IU School of Medicine and Purdue School of Engineering and Technology. We look forward to his leadership and growth of the research enterprise within IUSD. Please join the Office of Faculty Affairs in congratulating Dr. Chu.

MOMENT IN HISTORY

Sunday, November 8th will be the 120th anniversary of the discovery of X Rays by Wilhelm Conrad Roentgen, University of Würzburg. Few scientific discoveries have had such an immediate and profound impact particularly on the disciplines of medicine and dentistry, forever changing patient diagnosis and treatment. The first human radiographic image taken and an ever since famous one, was of the hand of his wife, Bertha. Of note, Roentgen was awarded the first Nobel Prize in physics in 1901 for his discovery of x rays.

New Faculty Profiles

The Department of Oral Pathology, Medicine and Radiology will be joined by Dr. Jahanzeb Chaudhry on November 2 as a clinical associate professor and the director of the Cone Beam Imaging Facility. Dr. Chaudhry is a board-certified oral maxillofacial radiologist as a diplomate of The American Board of Oral and Maxillofacial Radiology. He received his Bachelor of Dental Surgery (BDS) from the University of Karachi, Pakistan and DDS from the University of Tennessee. He completed his specialty training in Oral and Maxillofacial Radiology and Master of Dental Science program at the University of Connecticut. He is a member of the American Academy of Oral and Maxillofacial Radiology, American Dental Education Association and International Association of Dentomaxillofacial Radiology. After completing his graduate program, Dr. Chaudhry accepted a faculty position at the University of Tennessee. He was later recruited to The Ohio State University. His last academic appointment was at King Faisal University, Saudi Arabia where he was one of the founding faculty members involved in establishing a new College of Dentistry. His research focus is novel applications of cone beam computed tomography including contrast-based diagnostic CBCT imaging of malignant and infectious diseases and upper/pharyngeal airway imaging. In his spare time, Dr. Chaudhry likes to travel and enjoy outdoor activities with his family. He and his wife, Dr. Sharmeen Chaudhry, have two children Faaris and Sophia.

David Zahl, no stranger to the IU School of Dentistry, has served in the Office of Academic Affairs as Curriculum and Assessment Specialist since 2011. He began with IUSD in the Office of Dental Education as a Curriculum Development Specialist in 2007. Mr. Zahl's newest position within the Office of Academic Affairs, with his academic appointment residing under the Department of Biomedical and Applied Sciences, took effect October 25. In his new role, he serves as an Academic Specialist with the title of Director of Curriculum Support. His responsibilities include administrative management of the IUSD Curriculum and Assessment Committee, oversight of the IUSD curriculum management process, collaboration with IUSD faculty and administration to develop, implement, and evaluate educational and program-level assessments, grant-writing and acquisition to support educational and curricular innovations, conducting and/or supporting faculty in educational research consistent with the scholarly mission of the Office of Academic Affairs and development, implementation, and evaluation of pre-doctoral students in standardized patient simulations. In his free time, Mr. Zahl enjoys kayaking, traveling with his wife, Sarah, and spoiling his Shetland Sheepdog, Link.

In Comprehensive Care and General Dentistry, Dr. Daniel Bennett began his new role on October 30 as a clinical assistant professor and director of the Team and Honors Clinic. An alumnus of IUSD (DDS, 1978), Dr. Bennett is well-respected nationwide for his lectures on Conservative Periodontal Therapy in General Practice. He came to the IU School of Dentistry as a visiting faculty member in August 2013, after spending more than 33 years in private practice dentistry with an emphasis on advanced adult restorative dentistry.

Join us in welcoming and congratulating these newest appointees to our growing IUSD faculty ranks! 🎉 🎉 🎉 🎉 🎉

Teaching Conference Recap

The Annual IUSD Teaching Conference was held on October 15th and 16th at the Woodstock Club. Dr. Ana Gossweiler and Dr. Lisa Willis hosted the event ably planned by the Teaching Committee. The program provided faculty with updates from Dean Williams, the Office of Academic Affairs, the International Dental Program and Dental Admissions, Office of Clinical Affairs and the State of the School Address. In addition, the IUSD Faculty Council meeting was conducted.

The keynote speaker this year was Dr. Jack Dillenberg, Dean of the Arizona School of Dentistry & Oral Health., who shared his perspective on the instruction and preparation of pre-doctoral dental students. In addition, several presentations on e-platforms to enhance teaching were delivered Friday.

Lynn Ward, CTL, presented, Taskstream: Portfolios for Assessment, Learning, Self-Representation and Lauren Easterling, CTL, presented, Oncourse Transition to Canvas.

As is tradition, following the Dean's reception and dinner several faculty awards were presented by the Indiana Dental Association's (IDA) President, Dr. Chad Leighty, including the IDA Outstanding Teacher of the Year Award and the IDA Outstanding Faculty Member of the Year Award. The recipient of the IDA Outstanding Teacher of the Year Award was Dr. Laura Romito, Associate Professor, Department of Biomaterials and Applied Sciences. The IDA Outstanding Faculty Member of the Year Award was presented to Dr. Christianne Guba, Associate Dean for Academic Affairs.

Dr. Timothy Carlson, Professor and Chair of the IUSD Committee on Community Engaged Scholarship, presented the Johnson Award for Community Service to Heather Taylor, Visiting Assistant Professor, Department of Cariology, Operative and Public Health Dentistry. 🎉

IUSD Faculty Credentialing

With the 2015-16 flu season upon us, the School of Dentistry strongly encourages ALL faculty to protect their health by obtaining the influenza vaccine. As in past years, any faculty providing services in an Indiana University Health (IUH) or Eskenazi facility is required by those organizations to receive the flu vaccine.

Even if your duties at the school do not bring you into direct contact with patients, you work alongside many who do. Moreover, our partners at IUH and Eskenazi Health require that all School of Dentistry faculty, staff, students, and residents who provide services or receive training at one or both of the health systems get vaccinated.

Mandatory vaccination is based on recommendations by many national organizations, including the National Patient Safety Foundation, American Academy of Pediatrics, American College of Physicians, Infectious Disease Society of America, Society for Healthcare Epidemiology of America, Association for Practitioners in Infection Control and the American Hospital Association. Free flu vaccination clinics will continue to be held on the IUPUI campus in November. The flu clinic calendar is available and can be downloaded from <http://health.iupui.edu/docs/flu2015.pdf>. Please make a note of it and avail yourself of this opportunity to receive the flu vaccine on site and at no cost to you.

Early email notifications from dsgis@iu.edu,

IU School of Dentistry's credentialing notification system, have been routing, indicating it is time to renew Bloodborne Pathogens annual training and/or fulfill other tasks that are conditions of employment. To clear in GIS the task(s) assigned to you, save to file the required document(s) for satisfying the task(s). Afterwards, upload your document(s) by (1.) going to <http://gis.dentistry.iu.edu>, (2.) selecting the appropriate option under Manage Tasks, (3.) browsing to where you saved your required document(s) to complete the upload, and (4.) clicking, "Task Completed." Failure to click the "Task Completed" button will result in the reminders continuing until compliance is met. A mind-easing way to end the year is knowing you are healthy and GIS task free. ☺

Faculty Milestones

Chancellor, Nasser Paydar, and Interim Executive Vice Chancellor, Kathy Johnson, celebrated and recognized campus faculty who have achieved faculty service milestones of 20 years or more on October 13, 2015. The event was held in Wynne Courtroom, Inlow Hall, at the Robert H. McKinney School of Law. A celebratory reception followed the recognition ceremony. Several School of Dentistry faculty were among the campus colleagues who were recognized for their service. The IUSD honorees include:

20 Years of Service: Michael Kowolik, Melinda Meadows, Pamela Rettig

31 Years of Service: Christianne Guba

Cochran, Joseph Heidelman, Richard Jackson, Neil Pinney, Sally Phillips

35 Years of Service: George Willis, Paul Zitterbart, Susan Zunt

40 Years of Service: Gail Williamson

Congratulations to all and thank you for your dedication and long service to IUSD.

NOTES FROM THE DENTAL SCHOOL LIBRARY

Your IUSD Library team, led by Sean Stone, Assistant Librarian, is pleased to offer you the following training sessions this month. All training sessions are held from 12:00 – 1:00 pm in the library computer lab: DS 122. Sessions are free to IUSD faculty, staff and students. No preregistration needed, but space is limited to the first 14.

Monday, November 2, 2015: Endnote – Learn everything you need to know about Endnote.

Tuesday, November 10, 2015: Professional Searching, – Where do you find impact factors or journal rankings? This session teaches how to find information about information. It's perfect for those in the throes of creating P&T reports.

Tuesday, November 17, 2015: PubMed Searching – Are you using MeSH searching, filters and other features together to create the best, most efficient searches? Why use Ovid or Web of Science Medline? This workshop will give you new searching ideas.
