Parking on Campus

Park early! Park correctly! They do ticket!

Nobody likes to be late to class, especially when you see the close parking spots taken by a car or two with an expired or fraudulent parking permit. Valid permits are required to park on campus, and parking rules are enforced 24/7 with citations issued to violators to ensure the safety and maximum efficiency of limited parking spaces. Parking permits may be purchased online through Parking Services, www.parking.iupui.edu.

Parking is available to our law students in the open lots west and north of the law school; Lot #83 and Lot #85. There are also several enclosed parking garages convenient to the law school for "E" permit student parking; Gateway garage on the corner of Michigan St. and California St., Track & Field parking garage on New York and Barnhill Dr., and the Sports Complex garage off New York on Blake St. Free shuttle service also operates Monday – Friday all year, except during recognized holidays, complimentary of Parking Services. (Check out the Jags Express 2.0 CPS to easily locate your shuttle's location. See their schedule within this newsletter on pg. 9.) Disability permits are available upon written documentation from a physician.

Be sure to refer to the Parking Services website www.parking.iupui.edu for all your parking needs.

Access to Inlow Hall during Evening Hours and Weekends

The following rules and procedures govern access to Inlow Hall from 6:30 p.m. to 1 hour before library opening:

1. Persons with Jagtags (students, faculty and staff) may enter the building through doors governed by electronic card readers at any time before library closing. They may also enter through unlocked doors at the New York Street entrance before 9:00 p.m. However, all such persons must display their Jagtag to the ESG security person at the reception desk upon entering the building. Note: The NORTH entrance doors lock at 6:30 p.m. to ensure that visitors sign in with ESG Security at the reception desk at the SOUTH New York Street entrance.
2. Persons without Jagtags (members of the public, such as members of the bar) may enter the building for proper purposes before 9:00 p.m. through unlocked doors at the New York Street entrance. To enter and remain in the building, such persons must sign in and display photo ID at the reception desk.
3. Between 9:00 p.m. and library closing, all manually operated exterior doors will be locked. Only persons with Jagtags may enter the building, again displaying their Jagtags at the reception desk. Persons without Jagtags (members of the public) who have previously entered the building may remain until library closing. However, persons without Jagtags may not enter the building after 9:00 p.m.
4. At library closing, ALL persons, except those authorized 24-hour access, must exit the building. (Faculty and staff are authorized 24-hour access.) This will be enforced by ESG security personnel.
5. ESG security personnel will also be present in the building on weekends. The rules stated in paragraph 1 and 2 apply during the period between library opening and 9:00 p.m. The rules stated in paragraphs 3 and 4 above apply to the period between 9:00 p.m. and library closing. (Continued...)

6. Any incident of theft, violence or disruption should be immediately reported to the ESG security person, when present, or the campus police. Library patrons should be aware that we have installed emergency phones on the second and third floors of the library which connect directly to the campus police.
7. These rules and procedures may be modified for law school special events. Faculty, staff and students planning special events for evening hours must contact Building Administrator, Susan Bushue-Russell, if persons WITHOUT Jagtags are expected to attend. The person planning a special event will be expected to provide ESG Security with the necessary instructions for accommodating the event where this is deemed necessary by the Building Administrator.
8. During certain public events in and around Military Park, access to Inlow Hall may be further limited.

The above stated measures will be in effect during periods of the year when classes are in session or in which final examinations are being administered. When classes are not in session and finals are not being administered, the building will be closed to the public during evening hours and access to the building during evening library hours will be by Jagtag only. It is important that faculty, staff and students ensure that they have their Jagtag in their possession at all times when they seek entry to the building. As student access to the building is tied to library hours under the above stated rules, students should also ensure that they are aware of these hours. Library hours are posted on the law school's website.

semester and closings during

Law School

Law School Dean to Retire in June 2013. IUPUI Chancellor Charles Bantz announced that Gary Roberts, dean of our law school, will retire as dean next summer on June 30, 2013. He will then remain on the school's faculty after his retirement. Dean Roberts, a national expert in sports law, joined the IU McKinney School of Law in July 2007 from Tulane University Law School, where he was on the faculty for 24 years and where he served as deputy dean from 2001–2007. He earned his law degree from Stanford University, graduating at the top of his class. Throughout his leadership role at our law school, Dean Roberts has accomplished a number of goals, including: the addition of 15 faculty members; doubling the student financial aid budget; growing key international partnerships with the law school at Renmin University in Beijing, the law school at Sun Yat-sen University in Guangzhou, China, as well as our law school's renowned LL.M. Program in Cairo, Egypt, which graduated 203 students in the past four years. And most recently, he oversaw the transformation of our law school's name to the IU Robert H. McKinney School of Law, which resulted in the establishment of five endowed chairs and a $17.5 million scholarship endowment for the school.

Indiana Supreme Court Justice Joins Indiana University Robert H. McKinney School of Law Faculty. Indiana Supreme Court Justice Frank Sullivan, Jr. has been appointed to the faculty of the Indiana University Robert H. McKinney School of Law. Justice Sullivan served as an adjunct professor at our law school from 2007 to 2009, teaching a class in public finance law. For this fall semester, he will teach a class in Closely Held Business Organizations. Justice Sullivan has been a member of the Indiana Supreme Court since 1993 when he was appointed by former Governor Evan Bayh. During his tenure on the Court, he authored approximately 500 majority opinions addressing a wide range of criminal, civil, and tax law issues. Several of his decisions have been selected for publication in law school casebooks. Prior to his appointment to the Court, he served as State Budget Director (1989–1992) and...

Executive Assistant to Fiscal Policy to Governor Bayh, 1993, during which time he directed the preparation of the Bayh administration's budget proposals and oversaw implementation of state budgets passed by the Legislature. Prior to his state service, he practiced corporate finance and securities law in Indiana's largest law firm, Barnes & Thornburg. He also served on the staff of former U.S. Rep. John Brademas from 1974 to 1979, ultimately assuming the position of staff director. Justice Sullivan graduated from Dartmouth College, A.B., cum laude, 1972, and the IU Maurer School of Law—Bloomington, J.D., magna cum laude, 1982; Order of the Coif. Legal Institute for High School Students held at Law School. Our law school hosted students taking part in the Just the Beginning Foundation's Legal Institute for high school students July 9–13th. Just the Beginning Foundation, based in Chicago, is a non-profit group of judges, lawyers, and others who aim to increase diversity in the legal profession and judiciary. The program's goal is to reach out to young people of various under-represented backgrounds and provide support to them throughout their academic and professional careers. While here in Indianapolis, the students experienced the federal courthouse and were guests of Judge Tanya Walton Pratt. They were able to sit in on a court proceeding and meet other federal judges, including our '83 graduate, Judge Jane Magnus-Stinson. Professor Robert Brookins provided them a classroom experience, and they received resume, interviewing and networking advice from Tamara McMillian and Jimmie McMillian, '02.

Upcoming Events & Special Guest Speakers

State Fair Panel Discussion Tuesday, September 11th 5:30 – 7:30 p.m. Wynne Courtroom

The tragic stage collapse at the Indiana State Fair on August 13, 2001, raised controversial questions regarding the liability of potentially responsible parties and the ability of stage collapse victims to obtain fair relief in light of constraints, such as the statutory $5 million limit on the state's exposure. In the end, key stakeholders coalesced around an innovative compensation program designed to increase funds available to victims and enable them to obtain payments without recourse to litigation.

This program will feature a talk by Kenneth Feinberg, one of the nation's leading attorneys and mediators, who helped the Indiana attorney general's office devise a program for resolving legal claims resulting from the collapse. The talk will be followed by a panel discussion of pivotal actors involved in developing and supporting the program, including: Greg Zoeller, Indiana attorney general; Luke Kenley, Indiana State Senator (District 20); Paul Mullin, Partner, Lewis and Wagner; Tony Patterson, Partner, Par, Richey, Obremskey, Frandsen & Patterson LLP; Robert Katz, Professor of Law, IU Robert H. McKinney School of Law.

After the program, a reception with refreshments will be held in the Atrium, and Mr. Feinberg will be available to sign copies of his new book, "Who Gets What: Fair Compensation after Tragedy and Financial Upheaval." This event is organized and moderated by Professor Robert Katz who is an expert on charitable relief for disaster victims and the relationship between tort compensation and charitable gifts for the same injuries.

No Smoking on IUPUI Campus

IUPUI Tobacco Policy states that tobacco use or sale is prohibited on University-owned, operated or leased property. A new state law that was enforced July 1, 2012, will now mandate that nearly all public places and places of employment in Indiana, including university campuses, restaurants and other workplaces, will be smoke free. This change comes as the result of Indiana's first statewide smoke-free-air law, House Enrolled Act 1149:

in.gov/legislative/bills/2012/HE/HE1149.1.html.

The purpose of the Indiana Smoke Free Air Law is to protect Hoosiers from the harmful effects of exposure to secondhand smoke as the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has classified secondhand smoke as a cause of cancer in humans.

While IUPUI has had a tobacco-free policy (www.smokefree.indiana.edu/) since 2006, the new state law will make smoking in restricted areas illegal and a citable offense. IUPUI officers will begin issuing citations (minimum of $150) for violations. Additionally, violations will be referred to the appropriate administrative office for review and appropriate administrative action for: students, faculty, and staff. Law students who choose to smoke must use the sidewalk on the south side of the building on New York Street – NOT at the main entrance doors or steps into the building and NOT in the courtyard area on the north side of the building.

To obtain information on the IUPUI policies on tobacco or to obtain help with cessation programs, go to the website www.smokerfree.iupui.edu.
