

volume nine, number five

february 4, 1979

Did you know that...

More than 7,000 persons over 26 years old are studying full-time at IUPUI, and more than 11,000 over 26 are studying part-time. The younger, employed people come part-time, but as people get older, they begin coming full-time. Age 55 seems to be the "magic line" where the older full-time students begin to outnumber the part-timers. Last fall there were 809 full-time students aged 55 and 756 part-time. The most senior students last fall were seven 78-year-olds -- three full-time and four part-time.

NURSES PARTICIPATE IN NEW "SHARED-CARE CLINIC"

Robert Wood Johnson Faculty Fellow Norma S. Small at the School of Nursing has undertaken a project that will provide a new health service to the Indianapolis community. Called the Shared-Care Clinic, this program is housed at the Citizen's Ambulatory Health Care Center at 1650 North College Avenue.

"This clinic is for those who have chronic illness or health problems," says Miss Small. "It is specifically for people with diabetes, arthritis, obesity, high blood pressure, emphysema and heart disease."

The clinic opened in mid-January and will run for six months on a trial basis. Then the program will be evaluated by the Ambulatory Health Care Center and the School of Nursing.

"We will be providing a complete health care program," says Carlene M. Grim, a family nurse practitioner at the school. "This includes health screening and maintenance, taking medical histories, physical examinations, medical management, health teaching, counseling and referral."

"Maintaining the health of a chronically ill person has to be a joint effort by the health professional and the patient," says Dean Elizabeth Grossman. "In clinics such as this, we see the nurse as a vital force in the maintenance of the patient's health."

Miss Small is one of five fellows at the School of Nursing this year in the Specialist Degree Program. During this time, they are expected by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation to develop programs or projects with the school to further the development of primary care through service, education and research. They and the other nine students in the program will work at the clinic to get long-term experience in working with the chronically ill.

Besides the 14 students, the medical, nursing and paraprofessional staff of Citizen's Ambulatory Health Care Center will add their expertise to the new section.

"We are excited about this type of clinic and are happy to include the Shared-Care Clinic in our center," says Dr. Roscoe C. Henderson, medical director of the one of six health centers in Indianapolis established with funds from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

* * *

WHO, WHAT, WHEN, WHERE & SOMETIMES WHY

Displays -- Pharmacy displays this week in University Hospital will be McGaw Laboratories on Monday, Hoechst Roussel Pharmaceutical Co. on Wednesday and Cooper Laboratories on Friday. Displays in Riley Hospital will be Breon Laboratories on Wednesday and Lippincott Publishers on Friday. Hours are 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Redford -- "The Candidate," starring Robert Redford, is this week's entry in the Political Insight Film Series sponsored by the Lectures and Convocations Committee, Political Science Department and POLSA. Billed as "absolutely authentic," the film will be shown at 7 p.m. Monday in Lecture Hall 101 and is free to members of the University Community.

On Television -- "Determining Gestational Age" is the topic for this month's WAT-21 Medical Television series on "The Newborn." The program, featuring Drs. Marilyn Escobedo, Edwin Gresham and Richard Schreiner, will be shown at noon Tuesday in the regular WAT-21 viewing areas, and repeated at 8 p.m.

Tuesday -- "Pattern Recognition Techniques in Ultrasound," seminar by Kris Dines from Ultrasound Research Laboratories; University Hospital, Room N 436, 3 p.m.

Grand Rounds -- Dr. Arthur White and Dr. James Smith will talk about "The Infected Ward" during Department of Medicine grand rounds Wednesday at 8:15 a.m. in Myers Auditorium of Wishard Memorial Hospital.

Continuing -- The latest ideas and techniques in the diagnosis, evaluation and treatment of patients with diseased coronary arteries will be covered in a continuing education course this week. The Cardiology Division of the School of Medicine will present the program Wednesday and Thursday at the Hyatt Regency Hotel. Directors are Dr. Paul L. McHenry and Dr. James C. Dillon.

Seminar -- "Stereochemical Aspects of NMR Spectroscopy," Chemistry Seminar by M. Raban from Wayne State University; Krannert Science Building, Room 231, Wednesday at noon.

Surgical -- WAT-21 Medical Television will present "Esophageal Atresia" as part of the "Grand Rounds in Surgery" series on Wednesday at noon in regular WAT-21 viewing areas. Featured physicians include Drs. Thomas V.N. Ballantine, James Lemons and Joseph Fitzgerald.

Basketball -- The IUPUI Metros meet the Grace College team Wednesday at 5 p.m. at Market Square Arena (followed by the Nets vs the Pacers at 8 p.m.).

Run -- Indy Runners fun run starts at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday on the east side of the Union Building, followed by a 7 p.m. meeting in the Union's Grissom Room.

Series -- The second episode in a series of 10 half-hour films called "How Shall We Then Live?" will be shown Thursday at 12:15 p.m. at the School of Dentistry, Lecture Hall S116. This program will discuss the Middle Ages. The series, which depicts the "rise and decline of Western thought and culture," is a project of author Dr. Francis Schaeffer. The third episode is on the Renaissance and will be shown February 15, same time.

Intelligence Tests -- Legal challenges to I.Q. testing in the schools will be discussed by Greg Silverberg, staff member of the National Center for Law and the Handicapped, Inc., at a Child Development Conference at 3:30 p.m. Thursday. The session will be held in the Meiks Conference Room (A564) at Riley Hospital.

Convene -- The annual convention of the Hoosier Association of Science Teachers will be held Friday and Saturday at Stouffer's Indianapolis Inn. Among the speakers and workshops leaders will be Mary Mahowald, Philosophy Department; Michael Cohen, School of Education, and Wendell F. McBurney, acting dean of Research and Sponsored Programs.

Families -- "Children's Rights to Family Integrity" will be the focus of the second-of-three workshops designed to help social workers deal with legal issues. The all-day workshop, which starts at 9 a.m. Friday at the Essex Hotel, will cover the legalities of dependency and neglect, termination of parental rights, guardianship and delinquency. The programs are sponsored by the I.U. School of Social Work and the Children's Rights Project. The final workshop will be "Family Law, Social Workers and the Court" on February 23. For information, call Valjean Dickinson, Ext. 7221 or Ext. 8364.

Agility -- The Polish National Champion Sports Acrobatic Team, currently touring 19 cities in the country, will appear in Indianapolis Friday at Westlane Junior High School. P. Nicholas Kellum, dean of the School of Physical Education at IUPUI, said the appearance is being sponsored by Phi Epsilon Kappa fraternity and the school. The exhibition will begin at 8 p.m. Tickets ($2) will be available at the door at Westlane, 1301 West 73rd Street (near Ditch Road). For information, call Ext. 3764.

Coming Up -- "Human Hypothalamic Peptides: Neuroendocrinology," Physiology Seminar by Dr. Michael Kubek, assistant professor of anatomy; Medical Science Building, Room 205, 4 p.m. Monday, February 12.

* * *

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

Figure Eights -- If you would like to see the Ice Capades during their annual visit to Market Square Arena and if you would like a price break on tickets, you may visit Helen Zapp's office in the Union Building and pay just $3.50 for $6.50 tickets. The tickets are for two performances: February 21 at 8 p.m. and February 24 at 2 p.m.

Programs -- The Personnel Division is offering four different Career Development Programs this month: "Management Information Systems" on February 13, "Introduction to the Computer" on February 21, "The Supervisor and the Interviewing Process" on February 22, and "Discipline, Suspension and Discharge Procedures" on February 28. All are two-hour sessions starting at 9 a.m. For more information, call Mary Jane Maxwell, Ext. 8241.

Special Meeting -- The IUPUI Faculty Council will meet February 15 at 3:30 p.m. in Room 116 at the School of Law.

Notice -- All nonresident aliens employed in the United States with U.S. income during 1978 are subject to federal and state income taxation and must file an income tax return (form 1040NR) on or before April 15. For explanatory pamphlets, contact the Office of International Programs, 420 Blake Street, Room 002, or the Internal Revenue Service Office, Federal Building, 575 North Pennsylvania Street.

* * *

green sheet

*News Bureau
Indiana University-Purdue University
at Indianapolis
355 Lansing Street
Indianapolis, Indiana 46202

NEIL MATHEW
CA 415
CAVANAUGH