"LOOK HOMEWARD, ANGEL" OPENS FEB. 15

BREWER AND HARTLIEB

Hartlieb, who plays the misguided, manipulative Eliza Gant. Her boardinghouse mentality spills onto her spouse, H.O. Gant, played by Brad Brewer. Many IUPUI students make up the large cast. The costumer is Heather Wagoner; technical director is Jack Douglas Sutton. Other performances of "Look Homeward, Angel" are Feb. 16, and Feb. 22-23, all at 8 p.m. Tickets are $4 for students and senior citizens, $5 for faculty and staff, and $7 for others. They are available by calling 4-2094.--C. H. Wright

"Look Homeward, Angel," the award-winning play based on Thomas Wolfe's novel and produced by the IUPUI University Theatre, opens Feb. 15 at 8 p.m. in the Mary Cable Building Theatre on North Blackford Street. Written by Ketti Frings, the play will be directed by IUPUI student David Strohmeyer, who has directed major productions at the Phoenix Theatre, Theatre on the Square and at Butler. Set in the Dixieland Boarding House at the turn of the century, the comic drama looks at the sad and often funny problems of a family as it deals with greed, drunkenness, failed dreams and hope. Pictured here are IUPUI's senior assistant in Archives, Sandra

EXHIBIT OPENS AS GROUND BREAKS FOR SET III Just as the last building is begun that will bring both Purdue Schools to campus, IUPUI also marks the 50th anniversary of Purdue programs in Indianapolis. "From Purdue Tech to IUPUI: 50 Years of Purdue In Indianapolis," an exhibit of historical photographs from the University Archives will be on display through February in the University Place Conference Center. It comes just in time for groundbreaking ceremonies for the Science, Engineering and Technology Building (SET) III, Feb. 8, beginning at 1:30 p.m.--outdoors in a heated tent at 799 West Michigan Street, and indoors in the auditorium at University Place Conference Center. All are welcome.

SHAFER PIANO CONCERT OPENS IUPUI CONCERT SERIES 1991

Award-winning recitalist Timothy Shafer, formerly from the I.U. School of Music, will present a piano concert of the music of Scarlatti, Liszt and Prokofiev in Lecture Hall 101 on Feb. 7, 7:30 p.m. Shafer's national reputation began with his acclaimed 1986 cross-country tour and tribute to composer Franz Liszt. He holds the Rudolf Serkin Outstanding Pianist Award and IU Concerto Competition award. He is on the music faculty at Penn State and is considered one of the most engaging recitalist on the classical circuit today. The program will feature a diverse and challenging selection of material that includes Liszt's "Sonata in B Minor," Prokofiev's "Sonata No. 7 in B-Flat Op. 83" and Scarlatti's "Sonata in F Minor" and "Sonata in C Major." Sponsor is the IU School of Music at IUPUI. Tickets are $3 and are available at the door, or call 4-4000.

CHALLENGER CREW REMEMBERED AT IUPUI

The memory of the Challenger crew, who died in a fateful space accident five years ago, is kept alive at IUPUI with annual scholarships for students who best reflect the ideals and achievements of the crew. This year, on the anniversary of the disaster, Jan. 28, Chancellor Gerald L. Bepko awarded the IUPUI Challenger Scholar Award and the Ronald McNair Award (named for a Challenger astronaut) to four deserving students. They are Penny Michelle Wright, elementary education major; Teresa A. Morehead, biology major whose brother accepted her award because she is serving in the Persian Gulf; and Sandra L. Van Vlymen, elementary education major. Cynthia W. Browning, physics major, received the McNair scholarship, which is funded by an anonymous donor. The Challenger Scholar program is made possible through private donations to the IU Foundation. Each student receives a $1,000 award, a scholarship for the next academic year, and a mentorship with IUPUI faculty members.--S. Matthys Roob

LILLY LAB SEEKS VOLUNTEERS FOR TWO SEPARATE STUDIES

The Lilly Research Laboratories in conjunction with medical divisions on campus are seeking healthy men and women of various ages for the following studies:

Along with the Div. of Clinical Pharmacology, they are looking for healthy people 18-35 years old and/or 65 years old or older for a research study. Must be taking no medicines or be able to stop taking medicines during the study. Must be willing to spend two days, morning until night, at the Lilly Clinic.

Along with the Div. of Pulmonary Medicine, they are looking for people at least 18 years old or older with asthma for an asthma research study. Must be taking asthma medicine daily and should not need oral steroid medicine, and should not be receiving strong medicines for other illnesses. Must be willing to participate in the study as outpatients for approximately six weeks.

For either study, interested persons should call the clinic, 276-4793 for more information and details of payment for participation.

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

Curse and Cure?--Two years ago the number of alcohol-related hospitalizations of Boston College students increased by 100 percent. The year before that, in Orange County, Cal., the sentences of 569 convicted drunk drivers included a tour of the morgue--only one of them was a repeat offender.... (Harper's Index, Feb. 1991)

To Whom--Campus Mail Services reminds us that if a UPS parcel is to get to its destination, the name of the addressee must be on the package. Some people are leaving it off. The parcel also must include a full address, a return address and a completed Mail Services UPS form, available by calling 4-8598.

Summer Will Come--Registration is already under way for the popular Indianapolis Sports Center Day Camp for children 5-12. Fun stuff starts June 10 and runs for four two-week sessions. There is a break in costs for two or more little ones, and more breaks for registering early--before Feb. 15 and before Mar. 15. Call 4-6787.

Northwesterner--Joseph Hupp, Northwestern U., presents "Dynamic Structural Studies of Optical Electron Transfer Reactions" in a chemistry seminar Feb. 6, 4:15 p.m., KB 231.

Tell Students--Next in the Student Leadership Development Series is Lawrence P. Wilkins, School of Law-Indianapolis, presenting "How's Your Constitution?" Feb. 7, 7:30 p.m., BS 4088. All welcome. Tickets are in LY 002, or call 4-3931.

KANE DEVELOPS SPECIAL EXHIBIT AT HERRON

The Indianapolis premiere of Mitchell Kane's exhibition, "Survey and War with Mexico 1846-1848" is open now through March 1 in the Herron Gallery, Indianapolis Center for Contemporary Art. Working in "disparate materials and formats" to investigate questions of making painting, the Chicago-based artist has developed a site-specific installation titled from the inscription on the city's Soldiers and Sailors Monument, "War with Mexico 1846-1848." The installation focuses on the purpose of monuments and their role in marking history. It include "Static Images (Mexican Blankets)" on the walls, and on the floor, silk-screened decals of the original competition entries for the Soldiers and Sailors Monument, and more. The project is funded by Friends of the Herron Gallery, the Indiana Arts Commission and the National Endowment for the Arts. For gallery hours, call 923-3651.--M. Hopper

BIG TIMES AND SMALL TOWNS SENDING JOURNALISTS TO NATIONAL CONFERENCE HERE

From the big New York Times to the small-town Shelbyville News, hundreds of journalists are expected to attend the second annual National Conference on Computer-Assisted Journalism at IUPUI, April 26-28. The IU National Institute for Advanced Reporting (NIAR) and Investigative Reporters and Editors, Inc., are sponsoring the event that will provide access to prize-winning journalists and scholars who use computers to gain the cutting edge. Leading the roster of specialists is Pulitzer Prize winning reporter, John Ullmann, former special projects editor for the Minneapolis Star-Tribune. James W. Brown, associate dean of journalism and executive director of the NIAR, said, "We are providing nuts and bolts information that makes highly sophisticated reporting projects possible for all newspapers and broadcast outlets--regardless of their size." For fees and registration information, call 4-2776.

MORE NEWS 'N' NOTES

Science K-12--To help stem the growing shortage of people with science and engineering degrees in the U.S.--a 200,000 shortfall says the National Science Foundation--the School of Science and others sponsored a daylong meeting, "Science Education Dialogue" Jan. 28 on campus. A group of educators, legislators, parents, business and community leaders discussed solutions to the shortage of science-oriented workers and low academic achievement in math, science and engineering. Dean of the School of Science David L. Stocum presided.

To Your Good Health--A Health Resource Fair with information and a health risk appraisal is Feb. 14, 11 a.m.-2 p.m., on the second floor in the Business/SPEA Building. Sponsor is the Indiana Health Student Association, the energetic group that began the campus-wide collection of aluminum cans that has generated thousands of dollars for Riley Hospital. For details of the fair, call Bellinda Schoof or Terry Zollinger, 4-3591 in SPEA.

Try This--Bob Davis in psychology wants to get you involved in a project to give "freshpersons" a "classroom milieu that combines a personalized approach with relevant ancillary services." It has to do with the successful project known as "Summer Seminars/Thresholds," begun by IUPUI in the summer of '89. It's going to happen again, but with a broadened agenda for Summer and Fall '91. Faculty with potential interest in joining colleagues already involved are urged to watch here for more, or call Bob now, 4-6754.

Apologies--Your editor regrets that space this week does not permit including departmental seminars or meetings, many of which already appear in the Campus Calendar. They will be included when space permits.

POSITIONS AVAILABLE

ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR, University Library. Limited to tenure-track librarians of IUPUI. Will be responsible for day-to-day operations; assist in planning, budget, policy development, services and personnel. Requires ALA-approved master's or higher degree; prefer second master's. Also, minimum of five years' experience in relevant middle management. Send letter, resume and four references to: Barbara B. Fischler, Director, University Libraries, IUPUI, 815 West Michigan Street, Indianapolis 46202. Applications received by Feb. 4 are guaranteed consideration.

PART-TIME STAFF PERSON, Metropolitan Indianapolis Campus Ministry. Need some knowledge of IUPUI campus. Will work closely with faculty and administration at IUPUI and other institutions, and with students. Deadline to apply is Feb. 10. For details, call 926-5371.

IUPUI BANDS NEED "BREATHING PERSONS" TO PLAY INSTRUMENTS

Doug Smith, who directs all IUPUI instrumental groups for the IU School of Music here, wants faculty, staff and students to know that the Concert and Pep Bands and the jazz ensembles can make better music if those who can play an instrument will volunteer to do so. The groups are not part of a degree program, and therefore playing ability need not be of a professional level. "For the most part," says Doug, "If a person is breathing and still remembers which end of the horn in which to blow, they will be more than welcome." Some instruments are available. Interested musicians can visit Doug in the Mary Cable Building, room 130, or call 4-4000.

ROUTE CHANGES FOR ALL NON-PAYROLL CHECK PAYING AT IUPUI All departments are asked to route all approved check requests and all A-123s (authority to pay non-employees) to the Accounting Records and Services Dept. in the Union Building, Room 443. Procedural changes in Bloomington per a memo of Dec. 12 from Dan McDevitt is the reason for the change. All university payments, except payroll checks, are now being processed via the on-line purchasing-accounts payable system (TOPS). Reimbursements, direct pay, petty cash, honorariums, travel, fellowships, etc., are included. As a result, departments with access to the TOPS system for look-up/on-line requisitions may track those transactions through the payment system. To obtain access to TOPS, call Linda Melton in Purchasing, 4-7554. For information or training on the new payment reference screens on TOPS, call Accounting, 4-7666.

FINALLY...

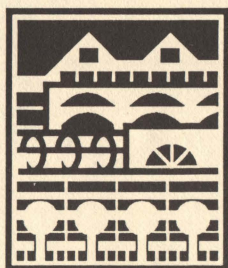

...watch Debra Darnell's special report on WRTV Channel 6 news this week, especially Feb. 6 and 8, to see IUPUI students, faculty and staff talk about the competitive job market.

...there will be no late registration fee to sign up for a special short, two-credit course in political science, "Politics in the Soviet Union," to be taught by Dimitri Osipov, lecturer from the U. of Leningrad. He will provide insights into the current internal politics of the Soviet Union, with special attention given to separatist tendencies in constituent republics. For details, call 4-7387 or 4-3855.
