U OF I RESEARCHER VISITS SCHOOL

Dr. Yehia H. Foda, Ph.D., 1957 University of Illinois graduate from Cairo, Egypt, recently enjoyed a pleasant two-day visit here. He is now conducting a postdoctoral research project in food technology at the University of Illinois while his wife, Dr. Salsabyl Ibrahim, is a first year graduate student here in the Department of Endodontics.

NEWS FROM DENTAL MATERIALS

Several members of the Department of Dental Materials attended the 11th annual workshop for teachers of dental materials in Chicago, Feb. 3-5. This conference was co-sponsored by Northwestern University and IU with Dr. E.W. Skinner and Prof. Ralph W. Phillips as co-chairmen. Also attending were Prof. Marjorie Swartz and Dr. Richard Norman, and graduate students, Doctors Moffa, Virmani and Suarez. Dr. George Mumford of the Department of Crown and Bridge presented a paper at the conference.

On the day previous to the workshop, Professor Phillips presented an all-day seminar to the Waukegan, Michigan Dental Society. He will be in Denver, February 10 to present a program to the Denver Dental Society, and on February 14 he will serve as chairman for the meeting of the Committee on Research of the American College of Dentists in St. Louis.

Along with Dean Hine, Professor Phillips participated in the program of the Pacific Coast Dental Conference in Hawaii during the last week in January and also presented a program before the Hilo Dental Society in Hawaii.

Professor Marjorie Swartz is in Puerto Rico February 7-11, presenting lectures to the student body at the University of Puerto Rico and to the local dental society.

FACULTY DOCTORS TAKE "REFUGE" IN SUNNY PUERTO RICO

Dr. H. William Gilmore spent the week of January 24 in Puerto Rico where he lectured on operative dentistry at the University of Puerto Rico. While on the island, he also presented lectures before the University of Puerto Rico Alumni Association and the Puerto Rican Dental Society.

Joining Dr. Gilmore in that winter haven was Dr. John F. Johnston, who spoke before the University of Puerto Rico Alumni Association and the Puerto Rican Dental Association, as well as lecturing to the U of P. R. undergraduate students and conducting a faculty seminar. In spite of the heavy schedule, Dr. Johnston reports that he managed to get five sunburns, though very little tan.

It must have been quite a jolt to these gentlemen to leave the 89° San Juan temperature to be greeted with 6 inches of snow and 10° or so when they returned to Indianapolis.
