

NOTED DIRECTOR/ACTOR HEADLINING KING CELEBRATION

Director/actor Bill Duke will headline the program at the 22nd annual Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. dinner Jan. 18, sponsored by the IUPUI Black Student Union. The dinner is one of three major events on campus that day to commemorate the life of King, including the annual Celebration Breakfast and the first Chancellor's Symposium.

The Celebration Breakfast will kick off the activities at 7:30 a.m. at the Madame Walker Urban Life Center, hosted by Chancellor Gerald L. Bepko. The event will feature a dramatization by the Black Theatre Workshop of the University of California at Berkeley, directed by Margaret Wilkerson and titled "Dreams, the End or the Beginning."

The Chancellor's Symposium, which will be an annual part of the Martin Luther King Day tradition at IUPUI, will run from 1-3 p.m. at the University Place Conference Center and Hotel. It will focus on the life and thoughts of the civil rights leader with the theme "Reconstructing the King Legacy," led by Clayborne Carson, executive editor of the Martin Luther King Papers.

The dinner will begin at 7 p.m. at The Westin Hotel and honors the legacy of King as well as promoting brotherhood at IUPUI and in the Indianapolis community. This year's theme is "A Dream Deferred...Does It Explode?" Duke, an award-winning TV, motion picture and theater director, has directed such films as "A Rage In Harlem" and "Deep Cover" and numerous episodes of TV series such as "Miami Vice," "Cagney & Lacey" and "Hill Street Blues." As an actor, he has co-starred opposite Arnold Schwarzenegger in the hit movies as "Predator" and "Commando."

Tickets for the dinner are $15 for students, $25 for community guests and faculty. Corporate tables are available for $250. Phone reservations can be made Monday-Friday from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. at 4-2279.

VALUE OF ARCHAEOLOGY FEATURED AT URBAN AGENDA SESSION

Anne Pyburn may not carry a whip or wear a hat like Indiana Jones, or battle mystical forces, but the anthropology professor will help lead a discussion into the value of archaeology in the city at the Jan. 13 session of the Urban Agenda series on the Circle. Pyburn, state archaeologist Rick Jones and Jean Spears of the Ransom Place Neighborhood Association will team up on the presentation of "Indianapolis Archaeology in the Public Interest: Ransom Place" from noon-1 p.m. in conference room A of the Associated Group headquarters, 120 Monument Circle. They will discuss the excavation project planned next summer in the well-known Ransom Place neighborhood and what they hope it will teach about the past of the city's African-American community. All are welcome, there is no fee and brown-bag lunches are encouraged. Beverages will be provided. The Urban Agenda series is sponsored by the POLIS Research Center.

ANNUAL JANUS BALL TO BENEFIT HERRON SCHOOL OF ART

The fifth annual Janus Ball, a gala to benefit the Herron School of Art and Gallery, will feature the theme of "Janus, Janus" this year and will be held Jan. 30 at the Athenaeum Turners Club, 401 E. Michigan St. It will run from 6:30 p.m.-midnight. Guests will attend in costumes, dressed as twins, pairs or opposites. A silent auction of an eclectic collection of chairs will kick off the event. The night also will include dinner, dancing and a costume parade. The ball is open to the public but reservations are limited. Tickets cost $75 each for general admission, $100 each for patrons and $800 for Corporate tables seating eight. For more call Rita Fordyce at Herron, (317) 920-2403. — Alicia Dean Carlson

EXPERIENCE EXCELLENCE NOMINATIONS DUE SOON

Nominations for 1993 Experience Excellence Recognition Awards are due Jan. 29. Any full-time faculty and/or staff member is eligible to receive an award, but must be nominated by a fellow faculty/staff member. Six faculty and six staff members will be honored for their service on behalf of the university. Forms are available from the Associate Dean of the Faculties office, AO 126, and must be completed and returned to that office by the deadline. The awards will be presented April 30 at the Chancellor's Honors Convocation. For more call 4-8974.

FACET NOMINATIONS DEADLINE SET

Nominations are due by Jan. 15 for the 1992-93 FACET (Faculty Colloquium on Excellence in Teaching) awards, to be presented next May. FACET nominees must be full-time tenure-track faculty members (including librarians) on any IU campus. The program was initiated to honor and recognize IU's most exemplary teaching faculty and to encourage teaching excellence by forming a network of distinguished IU scholar-mentors. For more on the nomination procedures and what information is needed to recommend another faculty member for recognition, call Dean Eileen Bender at IU Bloomington, 5-2809.

LECTURES, SEMINARS AND PRESENTATIONS

SPIRITUALITY AND HEALING—Renowned medical researchers Karen Olness and Dean Ornish will lead a discussion of the healing powers of the mind and body Jan. 27 in a session entitled "Psychoneuroimmunology: Hocus Pocus or Treatment?" The event will run from 8-11 a.m. in the University Place ballroom. The event involves the departments of medicine, pediatrics, family practice, psychiatry and OB/GYN.

CHILD ABUSE SEMINAR—Health-care and child-care professionals are invited to take part in an eight-hour seminar Jan. 15 at the Indiana State Fairgrounds, focusing on "Child Abuse & Public Awareness." Registration begins at 8 a.m. with the event running from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Presenters of the seminar include the Children in Crisis Research Center and C.A.R.E. (Consulting, Advocacy, Resources and Networking Education). The cost is $75 in advance and $90 at the door. To sign up or for registration information, call 271-2665.

HISTORY OF MEDICINE—Ophthalmologist Eugene Helveston will be the featured speaker at the Jan. 18 session of the John Shaw Billings History of Medicine Society, discussing "The History of Strabismus Surgery." The meeting is open to the public and will begin at 4 p.m. in the Emerson Hall auditorium.

CAMPUS NOTEBOOK

T'AI CHI CH'UAN CLASS--Anyone interested in attending a beginner's class in the ancient meditative exercise T'ai Chi Ch'uan will be able to see a free demonstration of it Jan. 12 at 7:15 p.m. in the Ambulatory Care Center in UH 2005. Laura Stone, director of the T'ai Chi Ch'uan Association of Indiana, will give the demonstration, which will be followed by information about the class that will start Jan. 19 and run for eight weeks from 7-8 p.m. on Tuesdays. The cost of the class will depend upon how many people sign up. For more, call Sherril Adkins at 4-1037.

POSTER CONTEST--All faculty, staff and students are invited to attend the Annual Scientific Poster Session hosted by the School of Medicine Student Research Committee Jan. 14 from 5-7:30 p.m. in the glass display hallway of the Conference Center. The contest is open to all second-year students who did active research this past summer.

NAMES IN THE NEWS

FOND FAREWELLS--Glenn W. Irwin award winner Robert J. Hartpence will be honored at a farewell reception Jan. 15 from 2-4 p.m. in the University Place ballroom. He is retiring from his job as the assistant director of building services, a post he has held since 1983. Those interested in attending should RSVP by Jan. 12 (Tuesday) by calling 4-2668 ... Adeline Wilson is retiring from the Department of Medical and Molecular Genetics after 14 years of service, and will be honored at a reception Jan. 26 from 3-6 p.m. in MF 405. Everyone is welcome.

HONORS/AWARDS-- Three national writing competitions recently earned L.E. McCullough of the School of Music a trio of second-place awards. He received the recognition from the Arizona Authors Association Literary Contest, the Pine Grove Press Short Story Competition and the Canadian Maplecon Science Fiction Writing Contest.

ELECTIONS/APPOINTMENTS--Julie Thaden, head coach of the Indy Synchro synchronized swimming team, recently was selected as an apprentice coaching education candidate for U.S. Synchronized Swimming, Inc. Thaden also was appointed to the editorial board of that organization's new national magazine Synchro ... Bianca Chambers of the School of Nursing has been appointed president-elect of the Association of Community Health Nurse Educators ... Richard Steinberg of the economics department has been elected co-president of the Association for Research on Non-Profit Organizations and Volunteer Action.

PROMOTIONS--The School of Science recently named three people to associate dean positions. Those chosen included Kathryn Wilson of biology and Clifford Dykstra and Gordon Fricke of chemistry. Wilson will deal with faculty development and operations, Dykstra will help handle graduate studies and special projects, and Fricke will work with external affairs for the school.

PRESENTATIONS--The first-ever Latin American Congress of Medicine and Science Applied to Sports in late November and early December featured Stanley Sunderwirth of the chemistry faculty at the Columbus campus. His presentation dealt with U.S. efforts toward drug abuse prevention.

MEDICAL MATTERS

DEPRESSION STUDY--People who have recovered from a major depressive illness are needed for a study by the Institute of Psychiatric Research. The study will last up to eight weeks with two overnight studies. Volunteers will be paid. For more about qualifications to participate or for more information, call 4-1037 and ask for depression study 277.

MISSION OF BLACK CHURCHES FEATURED AT TAYLOR SYMPOSIUM

Noted theologian Robert Franklin will be the keynote speaker for the fourth annual Joseph Taylor Symposium Feb. 8 at the Conference Center. The event will focus on the theme "Liberating Visions: The Public Mission of Black Churches." Franklin, director of the Program for Black Church Studies in the Candler School of Theology at Emory University in Atlanta, will be joined in key roles in the one-day event by David Wills of Amherst College and editor of the African-American Documentary Religious History Project. The event honors Taylor, the first dean of the School of Liberal Arts and a long-time contributor to the Indianapolis community. The symposium will begin at 9:30 a.m. and run through 4 p.m., and is presented by the School of Liberal Arts and the POLIS Research Center. Reservations are required and can be made by calling 4-2458.

LIBRARIES RECEIVE INDIANAPOLIS FOUNDATION SUPPORT

Grants from the Indianapolis Foundation have been awarded to the IUPUI University Libraries, along with libraries for the School of Dentistry, the School of Law-Indianapolis and the School of Medicine. The libraries are joint recipients of a pair of Foundation grants totaling more than $226,000. One grant, for $194,500, will be devoted to cooperative collection building and will help the libraries offset the rising cost of books. The other grant, worth $32,400, is for computer workstations and software which will allow printed information to be distributed to other libraries using existing phone lines. Articles can be scanned into a computer, then sent to other libraries like faxes, only with higher print quality.

MALCOLM X FEATURED IN BOOKMARKS PROGRAM

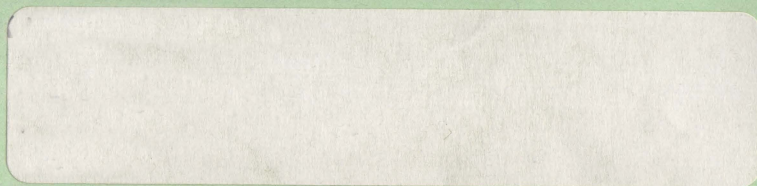

BookMarks will plunge headlong into the new year Jan. 13 with a presentation of "Memories of Malcolm X," a discussion moderated by Herman Blake, vice chancellor for undergraduate education. The event will begin at 4 p.m. in IE 104 and will feature a showing of film of Blake with Malcolm X in 1963. The autobiography of the civil rights leader is among the 1993 BookMarks selections for the campus reading program. The event is co-sponsored by BookMarks, the Sociology Club, the School of Liberal Arts and the Dean's Student Advisory Board.

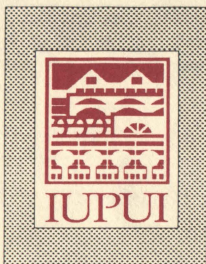

FINALLY...Noel Duerden would like to remind everyone about the campus calendar, that useful tool for both people with events to publicize and those who like to participate in new and challenging events. Using the calendar is voluntary and an excellent way to reach people on campus — but you need to let Noel know about upcoming events! If you have information about public or special events for him to use, send it to Calendar Central in the Internal Communications office, UN 115 or fax it to him at 4-3322. For more, call him at 4-2323.
