NATIONAL FFA BAND AND CHORUS—32nd ANNUAL CONVENTION

INTRODUCTION

The Future Farmers of America is the national organization of boys studying vocational agriculture in public secondary schools under the provisions of the National Vocational Education Acts. Launched at Kansas City in November 1928, the organization has continued to develop rapidly. On June 30, 1959, the active membership totaled 381,621 in 8,993 chapters of 49 states, and Puerto Rico.

The primary aim of the Future Farmers of America organization is the development of agricultural leadership, cooperation, citizenship and patriotism. Other purposes include: strengthening the confidence of farm boys and young men in themselves and their work; more intelligent choice of farming occupations; creating and nurturing a love of country life; improving the rural home and its surroundings; encouraging cooperative effort; encouraging thrift; improving scholarship; providing organized recreational activities for rural people; and supplementing, by means of boy-initiated and boy-directed activities, the systematic instruction offered to prospective young farmers regularly enrolled in day-school vocational agriculture courses.

The Future Farmers of America organization of voluntary membership has taken its place with other agencies interested in the upbuilding of agriculture and the improvement of country life. National Headquarters of the Future Farmers of America is located in the Office of Education, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Washington 25, D. C. National conventions are held annually at Kansas City, Missouri.

The Thirty-Second National Convention was held at the Municipal Auditorium in Kansas City, Missouri, October 12-15, 1959. Delegates from fifty State associations, and approximately 12,000 individuals attended the convention.

These proceedings constitute a yearbook on organization activities. The complete minutes of the Convention sessions are included, along with certain other important material which is supplementary to or explanatory to the convention activities. Press releases, as well as certain newspaper accounts, were used in compiling parts of this publication. Thanks are due many persons whose leadership and work led to a successful convention and made the publication of this booklet worthwhile.

WM. PAUL GRAY
National Executive Secretary

Minutes of the Convention

Monday, October 12, 1959

Evening Session

The Future Farmers of America thirty-second national convention convened in the Main Arena of the Municipal Auditorium, Kansas City, Missouri, at seven thirty, President Adin Hester of Aurora, Oregon, presiding.

Following the opening ceremony by the national officers, the National FFA Band presented a concert.

An explanation of the National FFA Public Speaking Contest was given by President Hester. The speakers then drew for speaking order, and the contest followed. The National FFA Chorus presented several selections while the judges conferred, and there was special entertainment by Miss Kay Harris of Stamps, Arkansas. Results of the contest were announced and awards presented on behalf of the Future Farmers of America Foundation, Inc., by Lee Todd.

The meeting adjourned with the closing ceremony.

It was moved by Lowery of Tennessee to confer the Honorary American Farmer Degree upon the individuals whose names were read; motion seconded by Boster of California and carried.

Mr. Wilson Carnes, Editor of The National Future Farmer Magazine, read a memorial to the late Mr. Cedric A. Lafley, former Managing Editor of The National Future Farmer Magazine. The Honorary American Farmer Degree was then conferred posthumously on Mr. Lafley.

President Hester explained to the delegates that at the July meeting of the Boards of Student Officers and Directors, a motion was passed that the Future Farmers of America donate $1,000, toward the construction of the Agricultural Hall of Fame. To make this donation official, it was then up to the delegates to pass on this matter. It was moved by Hill of Montana that the Future Farmers of America contribute $1,000, toward the construction of the Agricultural Hall of Fame; motion seconded by Howington of Mississippi and carried.

Following a few selections by the national chorus, the Honorable H. Roe Bartle, Mayor of Kansas City, gave the address of welcome.

President Hester then called Mr. and Mrs. George Catts to the stage and presented to Mr. Catts a plaque in appreciation for his outstanding service to the Future Farmers of America during the many years that he served with the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce. In his response, Mr. Catts stated that the highlight of his career with the Chamber of Commerce was in helping to organize the Future Farmers of America.

Dr. A. W. Tenney, Executive Director of the Agricultural Hall of Fame was introduced, after which Dr. Tenney gave a brief report on plans for this shrine for agriculture.

A special ceremony was then held on the Presentation of State Soil. Danny Pope of West Virginia, then recited the FFA Creed.

President Hester presented to Mr. Clark W. Davis, General Manager of the Industrial and Biochemicals Department of E. I. duPont deNemours & Co., and also Vice Chairman of the National Campaign Committee for the Agricultural Hall of Fame, a check in the amount of 1,000, representing the FFA's contribution toward the Agricultural Hall of Fame.

Mr. R. E. Bass, National FFA Treasurer, presented his report. Since there was no discussion or question of the report it was ordered that the Report of the National Treasurer be filed in the 32nd National Convention Proceedings.

Student Secretary Norman Brown presented his report. Thomas of Iowa moved to accept the report; motion seconded by Rochlitz of Wyoming and carried.

Bill McKinley, Future Farmer from Palmer, Alaska, was introduced, after which he made a brief greeting to those in attendance.

Mr. Edward J. Hawkins, Manager of the Future Farmers Supply Service, gave a report on the Supply Service.

Mr. Wilson Carnes, Editor of The National Future Farmer Magazine, gave a report on the magazine. Mr. Carnes then introduced Mr. Howard Carter, Associate Editor of the Magazine, who gave a report on the Official FFA Calendar.

Southern Regional Vice President Lee Todd presented his report. Thompson of Kentucky moved to accept the report; motion seconded by Thompson of Ohio and carried.

Mr. Wm. Paul Gray, National FFA Executive Secretary presented his report. It was moved by Tindel of Florida to accept the report; motion seconded by Hendricks of Idaho and carried.

The meeting recessed at eleven forty-five o'clock.

Committee Reports

Report of Auditing Committee

We, the members of the Auditing Committee, have inspected the books kept by the National Treasurer, Mr. R. E. Bass, and reviewed the audit prepared by Leach, Calkins and Scott, Certified Public Accountants, for the fiscal year July 1, 1958, to June 30, 1959, and find all records accurate and in proper order.

Respectfully submitted,

DON HOWINGTON, Mississippi
(Chairman)

STEPHEN F. MAIN, Maine

ROBERT REED, Nevada

DELMAR WIGGINS, Alabama

DEAN HOFFER, Pennsylvania

CARL VINCENT, Delaware

Report of the Committee on American Farmer Applications

We, the 1959 Committee on American Farmer Applications, recommend the following changes:

1. Under General Information—paragraph 2—cross out the entire last sentence and the following sentences be added: “The following application [must] be typed or printed and considerable care should be taken to make certain the pages of the application be submitted in original sequence.

Do not add any additional information other than what the application specifically asks for.

2. Under Article I—Item A—under Column “In-school program” and Item B—“Out-of-school program”—the months be deleted and a blank be left for the applicant to fill in the months according to his project year.

3. Under Article IV—Item C—“Gifts and Donations Made by the Candidate”—change second line to read “Other gifts [church, United Fund, etc., specify].

Respectfully submitted,

HAVEN HENDRICKS, Idaho
(Chairman)

JACK GALLIO, Nevada

KENNETH McCOY, Louisiana

WILLIAM DORSEY, Indiana

FREDERICK REISMAN, Rhode Island

JIM THOMAS, Georgia

Report of the Committee on the National Chapter Award Program

We, the committee of the National Chapter Award Program, having given careful thought and surveying the application form make these suggestions:

1. Under requirements for a "Superior Chapter Award"—Form II, Article 6—add "Farm Safety" to the list of Foundation awards presented to chapters.

2. Under "National Chapter Award"—Form III—Division II—"Cooperation" Article 11 change wording from "Encouraged affiliation of members in Farm Organizations" to "Chapter affiliate new members to at least one adult farm organization."

Respectfully submitted,

Report of the 1959 National Convention Committee

We, the members of the 1959 National Convention Committee, submit the following report of commendable achievements of the 1958 committee:

The displaying of the United States and FFA flags, the use of a bulletin board and the escorting of the Star Farmers to their places by the Regional Vice Presidents.

We submit the following recommendations:

1. That each delegate be responsible to see that his chair is occupied at all times.

2. That the ushers be responsible for keeping the amateur photographers from interfering with the convention.

3. That no amateur photographers be allowed beyond the delegate seating section except when otherwise announced.

4. That absolutely no pictures be taken during the public speaking contest.

5. That all Future Farmers in attendance wear conservative slacks and wear the FFA jacket properly (collar and cuffs in place and jacket buttoned), and a minimum of jewelry.

6. That all members be encouraged to take planned tours and that these tours be expanded.

7. That a more reasonable price be charged for the Officer-Delegate luncheon.

8. That a special detailed convention program, including breakfasts, luncheons, receptions and other special events, be prepared and printed for distribution among delegates, American Farmers and others.

9. That evening sessions start earlier so adjournment can be earlier.

10. That all hats be removed while inside the main arena.

11. That the Courtesy Corps try to discourage members from smoking and all other disorderly conduct and horseplay while wearing the FFA jacket.

12. That the Keystone Steel and Wire Company be commended for the "4 Star Farmers of 1959" film, and that a similar movie be prepared and used at national conventions each year.

13. That the "Code of Ethics" be printed on the program with the "Creed".

Respectfully submitted,

EDWIN GLENN, Oregon (Chairman)

GERALD GREINER, Pennsylvania

RONNIE RAYNER, Arizona

BERNARD HALDEMAN, Georgia

BOB BOLIN, Illinois

Report of the Committee on FFA Foundation

On behalf of the entire delegation and National FFA membership, we the Foundation Committee of the 32nd Annual Convention of Future Farmers of America, wish to express our sincere appreciation and thanks to the many generous donors to the Future Farmers of America Foundation.

These donors are vitally important to our organization in striving to accomplish its primary aims and purposes in the development of competent, aggressive, rural and agricultural leadership, citizenship and cooperation. We deeply appreciate the interest these donors have shown in the work of our organization.

We extend our deepest gratitude to Mr. Merritt D. Hill, Vice President of Ford Motor Company, for his services as Chairman of the 1959 Foundation Sponsoring Committee.

We would like to encourage State Associations, who are organizing, or who have in operation a State foundation to follow the rules, policies, and purposes of the National Foundation as a guide. At State conventions, where awards are made from both

State and National funds, proper recognition should be given to each.

Again, our thanks to our donors for providing the incentive which has made this organization the success it is.

Respectfully submitted,

STEVE ROBB, Kansas (Chairman)
PAUL NOBBE, Indiana
EDWARD KNOLL, Louisiana
BOB ROBINSON, Idaho
MALCOLM BENNETT, Rhode Island
BOB BUTTNY, New Hampshire

Report of the National FFA Magazine Committee

We, the members of the National Magazine Committee, hereby submit the following recommendations and commendations:

1. Encourage members to send in articles and pictures of national interest, making sure they are correct and prompt.
2. Encourage all States to strive toward 100 percent participation. States not achieving this goal should look into the possibility of adding the price of the subscription to the dues, thereby making all dues-paying members automatic subscribers.
3. Encourage each State executive committee to emphasize the importance of 100 percent subscriptions.
4. All subscriptions be filled out accurately and printed in ink.
5. Encourage members and advisors to write letters, giving personal views of magazine and any suggestions for improvements.
6. Encourage State associations to send information to the magazine regarding outstanding or unusual programs or projects which the States are undertaking.
7. Suggest the use of articles by or about national officers, to better acquaint local chapter members with the national organization and its officers.
8. Urge the continuation of the magazine as a means of exchange of ideas and programs between the members of State associations.
9. Encourage articles by leaders of other youth organizations.
10. Recommend to have the National FFA Magazine made available in as many public places as possible.
11. Exchange publications with other youth organizations in other countries.
12. Encourage the National Organization, State Associations and local chapters to give a subscription of the magazine to those awarded honorary degrees.

13. Recommend that members continue their subscriptions after they are out of high school and no longer directly associated with the FFA.

14. Commend members of the National FFA Magazine staff for attending the numerous State conventions and encourage them to continue this practice.

15. Each State Association encourage local chapters to contact businessmen in their local community to advertise with the National Future Farmer Calendar.

16. Remember that the National Future Farmer Calendar is an effective public relations service and that it be promoted as such.

17. Encourage State Associations to consider the National Magazine as a companion and supplement to their State publication.

18. Suggest that State officers make mention of the National FFA Magazine and Calendar in their chapters' visits.

19. Recommend, that because to a high degree, the responsibility for carrying out this report rests on the State associations and on local chapters, that this report be published in the National Future Farmer or/and in the newsletter prepared by the National Future Farmer staff.

The Editor, Board of Student Officers and Board of Directors are to be given full authority to make any and all changes deemed necessary and advisable for the betterment of the magazine.

We wish to commend the staff for their improvements of the magazine in having more and better articles, and a larger circulation.

The committee wishes to thank the national officers for their backing of the magazine. Our thanks also go to Mr. Wilson Carnes and his staff for their untiring efforts.

Respectfully submitted,

P. J. HILL, Montana (Chairman)

    5. Lincoln Memorial
    6. Library of Congress
    7. Archives Building
    8. F.B.I. Building
    9. Smithsonian Institution
  - D. Give the FFA members an opportunity to learn more about the FFA on a national level.
  - E. Give selected FFA members an opportunity to tour the National FFA Building near Mt. Vernon.
  - F. Give training in conducting State conventions and leadership conferences.
4. That the number of representatives from each State not exceed five members. This would include the advisor.
5. That the representatives be carefully selected by the State Advisor, and that they be of high character, preferably new State Officers.
6. That the National Leadership Conference be an annual event.
7. That a copy of proceedings of the conference including copies of all major speeches be sent to each participant of the conference as soon as possible after close of the conference.
8. In the event of any alterations or changes, this committee suggests that the Board of Student Officers and the Board of Directors have full authority.

Report of the Public Relations Committee

We, the committee on Public Relations for 1958-59, go on record as recommending the following:

1. That we as Future Farmers of America encourage to our greatest ability the cooperation and expansion of the Student Exchange Program between the United States and other countries.

2. That local chapters be encouraged to select outstanding members and representatives to speak before farm, business, civic and youth groups, etc.

3. That the national organization, State associations and local chapters make a special effort to observe National FFA Week by the use of newspaper coverage, display ads, advertisement folders, window displays, radio and television and by speaking to farm, business, civic and youth groups, etc.

4. That the national organization, State associations and local chapters, in order to make known our Future Farmer program, send specific invitations to radio, TV and the press to attend various functions throughout the year.

5. That local chapters and State Associations make a determined effort to see that the National Future Farmer Magazine be subscribed to by all members and placed in high schools, colleges and public places (such as, doctors' offices, waiting rooms, libraries, etc.). We also recommend that the magazine be sent to friends of the Future Farmers of America Organization.

6. That our national officers continue the policy of a Good-Will Tour and that State associations and local chapters also adopt this policy.

7. That delegates, award winners, guests of luncheons, breakfasts and dinners express their appreciation to the Foundation donors by personal notes.

8. That State associations encourage visits of officers and other State associations to their conventions.

9. That local chapters and State associations invite businessmen, teachers and agriculture leaders, etc., to chapter and State-wide activities.

10. That we as Future Farmers of America encourage better relations with other youth organizations.

11. That we encourage enforcement of rigid disciplinary actions of all our members to improve our relations with the public. We, realizing that the general appearance and conduct of a Future Farmer constitute a large part of our relations with the public, reprimand smoking and other conduct unbecoming to a Future Farmer while wearing the official FFA jacket.

12. That State Associations and local chapters inform adults about our outstanding national Star Farmers by showing the movie "Four Star Farmers" at some public gathering or parent-son banquets, civic clubs, conventions, etc.

13. That we encourage the continuance of the presentation of Honorary degrees on the chapter, State and national levels to worthy individuals who have contributed to our organization in expression of our gratitude.

14. That the State association investigate the possibility of selecting a theme word to be placed on a calling card and made available to all local chapters.

Report of the National Public Speaking Contest Committee

We, the members of the National Public Speaking Committee, commend the 1959 national public speaking contestants for the fine job which each did. The student officers are also to be complimented for the fine manner in which they conducted this contest.

After reviewing the Announcement and Rules of the National Public Speaking Contest carefully, we the members of this committee find that the rules are in excellent order and would like to suggest the following:

Section II ELIGIBILITY, Paragraph 5 be worded to read as follows:

"Contestant shall wear official FFA jacket and the official FFA tie."

Report of the Committee on Resolutions

Be it resolved that we, the Committee on Resolutions for 1959 on behalf of the Future Farmers of America, extend our most sincere thanks and expression of appreciation to the following persons and organizations who participated in or contributed to the success of the national convention.

1. The 1958-59 national officers for their untiring efforts and unselfish work in planning and conducting the convention in a most commendable manner.

2. The members of the Board of Directors for their able supervision and assistance in making this year's convention successful.

3. The members of the Kansas City Advisory Committee for their continuing assistance in making this year's convention successful.

4. All railroads and their special representatives who are stimulating FFA efforts with valuable educational awards.

5. The Honorable H. Roe Bartle, Mayor of Kansas City, Missouri, and all Kansas Citizens for their most hearty and warm welcome.

6. All donors to the Future Farmers of America Foundation, Inc., and all others who actually contributed toward making this convention a success.

7. The staff of the Municipal Auditorium for the sincerely cooperative spirit they have always exhibited toward the National FFA Organization.

8. The businessmen and officials, and the management of the Municipal Auditorium for their efforts and services rendered in making this a most worthwhile trip to Kansas City.

9. The Kansas City Chamber of Commerce and the American Royal Association.

10. All States supplying members to the national band and the national chorus. Also, to Dr. Henry S. Brunner, U. S. Office of Education, for his able conducting and to Dr. James W. Hatch of Kinderhook, New York, for his fine directing. Each individual member of these organizations are to be especially commended.

11. All companies who cooperated in the supplying of authorized general merchandise, banners, signs, emblems, stationery, etc.

12. All individuals and organizations who participated in furnishing entertainment at the 32nd national convention.

13. All those who participated in the FFA talent show.

14. All judges, timekeepers and Future Farmers who participated in the public speaking contest and chapter award program.

15. All organizations and companies from which participants in the national FFA convention have benefitted.

16. All honored guests of the 32nd national convention.

17. All magazine, radio and TV companies and newspapers that have so generously publicized the events transpiring at this convention.

18. All hotels and other housing facilities that have accommodated our FFA representatives.

19. All donors of prizes not previously mentioned.

20. All representatives taking part in the impressive Massing of State Flags.

21. All other individuals serving the FFA and assisting with the 32nd national convention.

22. The Keystone Steel and Wire Company for the fine movie on the Star Farmers.

23. Youth groups and delegations from foreign countries who visited our national convention.
24. All people who attended the 32nd national convention.
25. All companies that were hosts to the FFA boys at their plants.
26. The Firestone Tire and Rubber Company for sponsoring the magnificent entertainment.
27. Dr. A. W. Tenney, Executive Director of the Agricultural Hall of Fame and the other capable members of the executive staff for the outstanding contribution made by this group to the annual convention.
28. Mr. Merritt D. Hill, Chairman of the Sponsoring Committee of the FFA Foundation, Inc., for his untiring efforts on behalf of the Foundation.
29. Dean Fredrick, Star of Steve Canyon TV Program, for his appearance and comments.
30. Representation of the Future Farmers of the Philippines.
31. The Pierce, Nebraska, Chapter for their participation and contribution to the success of the pageant.
32. The State Associations that prepared exhibits.
33. Honorable Edward Foss Wilson, Assistant Secretary, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, for his presence at the 32nd National Convention.
34. Mr. R. E. Bass, State Director of Vocational Education in Virginia and National Treasurer of the FFA, for donating his time and ability to the financial matters of the Future Farmers of America.
35. The ushers and courtesy corps for the work they have done.
36. Senator Carlson, Kansas, for his presence and greetings at the 32nd national FFA convention.
37. Dr. Lawrence G. Derthick, Commissioner of Education, and Mr. James H. Pearson, Assistant Commissioner for Vocational Education, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, for their presence at the 32nd national FFA convention.
38. Dwight D. Eisenhower, President of the United States, for his most appreciative and inspiring telegram.

Convention Quotations

DR. LAWRENCE G. DERTHICK

"We don't get something for nothing in this world. We have to struggle and we have to sacrifice to get the things that are worthwhile. It is not a question of luck, it is a question of hard work.

"No matter how serious any situation is, you can always see the bright side, and it is that bright side that frees our talents and enables us to do the best we can whatever that best may be. And the best is usually good enough.

"Another aspect of entering into relationships with other people in order to bring out the best in them is to be the kind of fellow who has a positive attitude toward life, who has the courage and the good judgment to face the hard realities. There is something in your Creed that tells us about that—who can face the disappointments; who can face the hard realities and yet can see the bright side and can win through. In these days when the world is so disturbed and anxious we need people like that; and how human beings respond to folks who have the positive attitude!

"See the other fellow's side, and remember that he has got something about his side, too, that is right.

"Develop creative and imaginative ways of work, develop a spirit of service toward the other fellow, and know what it means to work hard."

Dr. Lawrence G. Derthick Accepts Honorary American Farmer Degree

MAYOR H. ROE BARTLE

"May I say to you with great sincerity, for when you are six feet three inches tall and weigh over 300 pounds you can proclaim the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth no matter where you are, there is no convention that comes to this great city that brings greater joy and satisfaction to our citizens than the convention of the Future Farmers of America. You are truly a great group.

"The blue jackets that you are wearing are respected in this city and they are respected because those who came before you have been fine, wholesome, upright young men. I hope that all of you will remember that you, as you are going about this community, represent the Future Farmers of America, and the whole organization will be judged by your conduct."

MERRITT D. HILL*1959 Chairman, FFA Foundation Sponsoring Committee

(Speaking of the FFA Creed) "This is a ringing declaration of faith, self-reliance, and patriotism. These words cannot be said without a person's stature increasing, his eyes being level, and his voice strengthening.

"The boys the donors have met in FFA take immense pride in their organization. They have no doubts about their own abilities to cope eventually with all the problems the world can throw at them. They have no apology to make for their interest in farming. And they believe that work—hard physical work—is not beneath their dignity. These are some of the reasons why businessmen respect your organization and admire you as persons. You compel their attention and challenge their conscience."

COUNT KIELD GUSTOV-WINTERFELDT*Abassador from Denmark

"Coming from a predominantly agricultural country, it is an honor to bring greetings to the Future Farmers of America from the people of Denmark."

HONORARY AMERICAN FARMERS

Upper:—Business and Professional men; Center:—Supervisors and Teacher Trainers; Lower:—Vo-Ag Teachers.

Alaskan and Hawaiian Representatives Were Made Honorary Marshals of the American Royal Parade.

Special Honors to Mr. and Mrs. George Catts of Kansas City.

Speaker: Count Kield Gustav Winterfeldt of Denmark.

MIXING THE SOIL OF STATES*DR. A. W. TENNEY*Agricultural Hall of Fame

"Much has been done to build the Agricultural Hall of Fame. There is still much work ahead. This is a long-time project. It will take a number of years to complete it, but I want you to know that the future is rich with promise for the Agricultural Hall of Fame and for agriculture, and we have the great privilege of working together nationally as a great team, all those who are interested in agriculture as we work to honor your mothers and fathers and other ancestors who were tillers of the soil. Yes, we work and strive to honor the American farmer and the service he has rendered to our great nation. That is why we are building the Agricultural Hall of Fame."

GEORGE W. CATTS*K. C. Chamber of Commerce

"As I close almost forty years of work here with this Chamber of Commerce and the last twenty-five years as the Executive Vice President and General Manager, I think I can point back to one of the highlights of anything that I had anything to do with; the number one thing, was having a small part in the organizing of the Future Farmers of America."

CEZAR QUILLILAN*Future Farmers of the Philippines

"I have read much about the American farms, your mechanized farming methods, but the one thing which impressed me very much is the way the American farm families work as a team in the operation of farm activities. Everyone has something to do, even the smallest tot; the three year old boy has a chance to throw feed to the chickens. These things impressed me very, very much.

"Furthermore, I am very much impressed by the way the American people treat us. They are very friendly, very hospitable, and I assure every one of you that during the four months stay here of the six Filipinos we haven't felt homesick yet."

VISITORS FROM THE PHILIPPINES

SENATOR FRANK CARLSON*Kansas

"I realize that you are coming into your own in a very trying period, an interesting period. It is a challenging period, but there is something that is greater than the challenge, and that is the opportunity. I know, from knowing many of you personally, having visited with you and having observed the operations of your organization in the past, that you are going to be equal to this challenge and it will be a great opportunity for you to serve our nation in behalf of agriculture and in behalf of a great nation that you and I have inherited."

GREETINGS FROM SENATOR CARLSON

National Student Officer Reports

Report of the National President

Fellow Future Farmers, Ladies and Gentlemen.

Any Future Farmer elected to a National Office finds that his challenging duties start immediately following his election. The day after election, my fellow officers and I participated in a leadership training session with the immediate past national officers. I also MC'ed the awards banquet for judging teams and appeared in the American Royal Parade.

ADIN HESTER
President

Upon returning home from the convention, I participated in many parent and son banquets, farm and civic organization meetings.

My duties began in earnest when I left for Washington, D. C. in January. On the way, I stopped in Chicago and made a radio tape with the National Farm and Home Hour.

National officers have an opportunity every year to journey to Washington to receive extensive leadership training and learn more about the FFA on the National level. During this time we became familiar with the FFA Supply Service, the Magazine and Calendar staffs. We also met with the National FFA Foundation Board of Trustees and worked with the National FFA staff, as well as conducting the National Board of Directors and Board of Student Officers meetings.

A pleasant break during the leadership training sessions came when we spent an enjoyable day with Mr. Raymond Firestone of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company in Akron, Ohio.

On Monday, February 2, your national officers accompanied by Mr. Gray and Mr. Farrar began our Good-Will Tour, which carried us through ten States and nineteen major cities. On the tour we told the FFA story to men of business and industry, who are donors to the FFA Foundation, and this was certainly an excellent opportunity to meet and discuss with these men mutual problems and realize the faith that they have in rural youth and the future of agriculture.

Our first stop was in Wilmington, Delaware, where we visited the Hercules Powder Company, and the E. I. duPont Company. That evening we journeyed to Pennsylvania for dinner with the staff of the Farm Journal Magazine, and the next day visited the New Holland Machine Company and an Amish Farm.

The following day found us in New York City visiting the Corn Products offices, the U. S. Rubber Company, Dairymen's League, and the Avco Manufacturing Company, after which we saw some sights in the city.

This year, for the first time, your national officers travelled into the New England States and while there toured the Balfour Jewelry Company and their Ceramics Division, in addition to the Boston area, as well as visiting the Norfolk County FFA Chapter and attending their parent and son banquet.

Sunday was spent relaxing on the country estate of Mr. and Mrs. Waller in Stafford, Connecticut.

Following our visit to the New England States, we returned to New York City to visit with the Esso Standard Oil Company, the New York Farm Club, New York Colony Club, Allied Chemical, and the D-Con Company, ending our visit to this city by appearing on the Voice of Firestone Show with Mr. Horace Millhone of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company.

On our way to Pittsburgh we stopped in Poughkeepsie and visited with the DeLaval people. In Pittsburgh, the United States Steel, Gulf Oil Company, and Alcoa were our hosts.

From Pittsburgh we headed for Cleveland, Ohio, and the American Steel and Wire, Lincoln Electric, and Republic Steel Companies. We toured the world-known greenhouses, where acres of ground are under glass for year-round vegetable production.

From Cleveland we travelled to Akron, Ohio, where we were guests of General Tire and Rubber Company, Goodrich Tire and Rubber, and the Aircraft Division of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company.

Wednesday, February 18, was spent at Ohio State College with arranged tours through the Batelle Institute and around the campus. Also, a visit with the Nationwide Insurance Company was included. The entire day was arranged by the Nationwide Insurance Company and they also flew us to Detroit, Michigan, the next stop on our Good-Will Tour.

In Detroit, we visited the Ford Motor Company, Massey-Ferguson, Incorporated, General Motors, Dodge Motor Company, and the Campbell-Ewald Advertising Agency.

Saturday's activities were a tour of the Stran-Steel Company and an excellent luncheon sponsored by Merritt Hill, Vice President of the Ford Motor Company and Chairman of the Sponsoring Committee for the FFA Foundation. That evening your national officers appeared coast-to-coast on the Red Foley "Jubilee U.S.A. Show." Sunday we enjoyed a tour of Greenfield Village and the Henry Ford Museum, compliments of the Ford Motor Company.

Our next stop was Chicago with visits to the National Safety Council; Allied Mills; American Farm Bureau Federation; Sears, Roebuck Company; Atchison, Topeka, and Santa Fe Railroad; Armour and Company; Swift and Company; Borg-Warner Corporation; International Harvester; Oliver Corporation; Kraft Foods; Quaker Oats; Standard Oil Company of Indiana, and Burlington Railroad Company.

While in Chicago your national officers made several TV and radio appearances and had the pleasure of telling the FFA story at another delightful luncheon hosted by Mr. Merritt Hill of Ford Motor Company.

From Chicago your officers travelled to the State of Wisconsin, meeting with the J. I. Case Company in Racine, and with the officials of the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Corporation in Milwaukee. We also met with the Wisconsin Motor Corporation. Immediately following this get-together we left for Moline, Illinois, for a visit with the John Deere Company.

After a day at John Deere we again boarded a train bound for St. Louis and the last leg of our 5-week Good-Will Tour. In St. Louis we were the guests of the Pet Milk Company, Gardner Advertising Agency, St. Louis Farm Club and the Monsanto Chemical Company. The last day of the tour was with the Ralston Purina Company at their Purina Farms. This ended a very satisfying and educational experience representing the Future Farmers of America on the annual national officers Good-Will Tour. Each of us journeyed to our respective homes and continued our duties with the FFA by attending State conventions.

My first meeting was my own Oregon Association's 31st Annual State Convention in Corvallis, which I attended one day and witnessed an outstanding State Parliamentary Contest.

The next day I was winging my way to the Hawaiian Islands, and had the pleasure of travelling with Arthur Godfrey and his cast. While in Hawaii I was kept busy visiting high schools, FFA farms and projects, and having leadership training sessions with many of the chapter officers on most of the Islands. While visiting with the Hawaiian Chapter Officers we did extensive work on Chapter Programs of Work. I was certainly awakened to a different type of agriculture, and was impressed with the friendliness and hospitality that greeted me wherever I went. It was a pleasure to represent the National Organization in the Islands. It has been five years since a national officer visited Hawaii, and it is my hope that in future years a national officer will be sent more frequently.

Upon my return to the Mainland I went directly to Pullman, Washington, site of the Washington FFA Convention, highlighted by an outstanding awards banquet.

The next convention on my schedule was in California in May, where I enjoyed a well run convention and a very impressive Foundation Awards ceremony. Also, in May I was keynote speaker at the annual seminar of the Thor Power Tool Company in Marengo, Illinois. The seminar dealt with new developments in the farm mechanics field of vocational agricultural education.

June 3rd to the 5th I attended the Montana FFA Convention and wish to compliment the State officers on their well-planned program. Because of this careful planning, I was able to contribute my best in the areas of public relations and leadership training.

On June 10 I participated in the New Mexico FFA Convention with my colleague, Bryan Hafen, and their Nominating Committee work was very commendable.

July 13 found me heading for Austin, Texas, and their State Convention. While attending the convention I was impressed with the size and the careful planning as the officers were enthusiastic in fulfilling their duties.

Immediately following this convention I travelled to Washington, D. C., and made final preparation, along with your national officers, for the first National Leadership Training Conference. For a change of pace my fellow officers and I joined Mr. and Mrs. Edward Foss Wilson on their yacht for a cruise on Chesapeake Bay.

Tuesday, July 20, the Leadership Training Conference opened at the Willard Hotel, Washington, D. C., with 250 State FFA officers in attendance. During the week, time was spent in leadership training sessions, committee meetings and reports. We enjoyed many guest speakers and tours of the area. It was an inspiration to the national officers to work with the State officers in developing agricultural leadership, cooperation and citizenship in the FFA, and to promote our common agricultural interest, that of becoming well educated Future Farmers.

One of the most memorable highlights was Tuesday morning when we gathered in the White House Rose Garden and President Eisenhower addressed the group. We will long remember his words of wisdom when he stated there was a real need for agricultural leadership in America today, and that youth organizations, such as the FFA, are doing a real service in developing future rural leadership and citizenship.

The following week the National Board of Directors and National Board of Student Officers conducted the July meeting and acted on pertinent matters concerning the National Organization.

After the board meeting I was home only a short time before I flew to Arizona for their State FFA Convention. I observed a very interesting awards program and found the convention well planned for leadership activities.

Upon returning home from Arizona I found time to farm and show dairy cattle at the county and Oregon State Fair, in addition to participating in the Governor's Conference for Children and Youth.

During September Norm Brown and I participated in the Eastern States Exposition in Springfield, Massachusetts, and enjoyed a visit with Vice President Richard Nixon. The FFA had some fine chapter exhibits and put on a beautiful pageant for the New England people at the Exposition. In the New England area I made several speaking engagements for the FFA, and spent an evening with Mr. C. Robert Yeager of the Balfour Jewelry Company.

I stopped in Washington, D. C., on my return trip home for a conference with Mr. Gray for preliminary preparation on the National Convention.

October 3 I stopped in Scottsbluff, Nebraska, to attend the FFA awards banquet of the Nebraska Soil and Water Conservation Convention after which I came to Kansas City for more convention planning and finally the National FFA Convention.

For the past year, as I served you Future Farmers, as your National President, I owe thanks and appreciation to many people.

First, my parents and brothers, who had to take over my work load at home, and for the encouragement they have given me.

To, Mr. Raymond Reif, Chapter Advisor, Mr. Ralph Morgan, State Advisor and his staff and the 3700 Oregon Future Farmers.

To Dr. Spanton, and the entire Washington staff, along with the Future Farmers Supply Service and Magazine personnel. I have appreciated your confidence in me as an individual.

I shall long remember the close comradeship and the support given to me by Norm, Dick, Lee, Tom, and Bryan. Fellows you have my friendship and best wishes for continued success and happiness down the long road of life ahead. The education and experiences I've enjoyed this past year have left me humble yet happy. We, as national officers, now realize the unselfish service given by many people to promote the FFA.

We as Future Farmers should be proud to have an organization like the FFA that we can belong to and participate in activities that continue to open new horizons of opportunity for each and every Future Farmer. I challenge you to plan carefully and work hard with sincere determination and you will grow as an individual and the FFA will grow with you. The FFA is a young organization at 32 years and has many, many years of greater things yet to come.

I have been proud to wear the jacket of the Future Farmer and there will always be a warm place in my heart for the lad attired in the blue jacket of the FFA. You, the members of the FFA, have served as an inspiration to me and all I can say in a sincere and humble fashion is that may God bless you and guide you down the path of success and help you make right decisions for successful, happy, full lives.

Respectfully submitted,

ADIN HESTER

Report of the National Student Secretary

The FFA is contributing more toward the development of young men and the future of America's agriculture than any other movement in this country. Of this I am convinced, after the past year of inspiring experiences as your National Student Secretary.

NORMAN BROWN
Student Secretary

Following the national convention, civic club meetings, radio and TV engagements, and local FFA events kept me busy until November 12, when I attended the National Grange Youth Committee meeting at Grand Rapids. On December 4, I appeared on the program of the Palmyra, Wisconsin, Corn and Grain Show.

I spent January 20-March 6, with my fellow officers in leadership training, meetings of the National Boards of Student Officers and Directors, and the annual Good-Will Tour. The tour enabled us to meet and talk to hundreds of people about the FFA. Thanks to the Ford Motor Company and Cooperating City Agriculture Clubs, Chambers of Commerce and individuals, which made this possible through large dinners in New York, Boston, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago and St. Louis.

Parent and Son Banquets and civic club engagements in Michigan, Ohio, and Indiana were on the agenda until March 25 and 26, when I attended my home State convention in Michigan. Here I was honored to receive a citation from Governor G. Mennen Williams. This convention was highlighted by an impressive Star Farmer Ceremony and recognition of American Farmers.

On April 1-4, I attended the Indiana State Convention at Purdue University, where I was impressed by a hard-working and efficient State Executive Committee in planning their convention. Later, I enjoyed a visit with Past National Vice President Jerry Rulon and his fine family.

April 15-18, I participated in the Iowa convention. Here, I was particularly impressed by the enthusiasm of the members and the reception given to the FFA by the people of Davenport.

At the Minnesota convention, I witnessed a most outstanding nominating committee at work. The convention was climaxed by an awards banquet attended by 1,600, where I was guest speaker. I participated in a leadership training meeting and banquet for the newly-elected State officers in Minneapolis.

New York was the only State convention in the North Atlantic Region I attended. While there, I renewed acquaintances with Past National Vice Presidents Charles Anken and Leon Smith.

On June 4, I journeyed to Ohio where I witnessed a busy convention. I was impressed by the members' enthusiasm and excellent conduct. A very impressive awards banquet and a reception for Past State Officers were high points on the convention program.

June 8-10 found me at beautiful Green Lake, Wisconsin, to attend that fine convention. The hospitality extended to me by the North Dakota Future Farmers will long be remembered. This State Association is to be highly commended for their excellent public relations program. On July 1 and 2, I participated in the Indiana District Officers' Leadership Training School. The FFA can develop excellent leadership through extensive leadership training programs such as this one.

On July 15, I met Bryan Hafen in Toledo, Ohio. We travelled to Washington, D. C. via Jackson's Mill, West Virginia, where the State convention was in session. While there we visited with Past National Vice President Allen Colebank and others.

July 17-31 was occupied with the National Leadership Training Conference and a week's meeting of the National Boards of Student Officers and Directors. The many favorable comments relative to the leadership training conference has pleased my fellow officers and myself. The FFA leadership program throughout America will undoubtedly be strengthened through the State officers who attended this conference.

I served as co-chairman of the youth sessions of the American Institute of Cooperation annual meeting, August 9-12, at Urbana, Illinois.

On September 17, I flew to Springfield, Massachusetts, to assist Adin in the Eastern States Exposition. I was very favorably impressed with the FFA participation in this outstanding agricultural event. On September 21, I was honored to have the six Future Farmers of the Philippines visit my home while they were in Michigan.

October 3-6 Bryan and I represented the national organization at the National Dairy Cattle Congress in Waterloo, Iowa. I appeared at several service club meetings and met many outstanding Future Farmers. I also served as toastmaster of the awards banquet.

The past week has been a busy one as I helped with the final arrangements for our national convention and participated in Board meetings.

I feel humble and fortunate that I am to accompany Mr. Gray to the Far East on an educational exchange program in cooperation with the U. S. Department of State, that will offer us opportunities to help Future Farmer organizations in Japan, Taiwan and the Philippines. This program, to better the relations between our great farm youth organizations, will do much to develop better understanding between farm people, lead to the improvement of agricultural education and develop a stronger bond of friendship not only between Future Farmers but all citizens of the countries involved. We will also visit FFA chapters on Guam and the Hawaiian Islands.

I am deeply indebted to Mr. Gordon Struble, Mr. Harry Nesman, Mr. Elmer Lightfoot and Dr. Harold Byram and the State staff members for the help, inspiration, counsel and guidance they have given to me. I have enjoyed working with the Washington staff and I shall always cherish the friendship of my fellow officers. To Mom and Dad goes a son's appreciation for many sacrifices and the Christian home and training given to me. To every Future Farmer I say "thanks" for the most wonderful year of my life.

I am preparing myself to become a teacher of vocational agriculture so that I may help other young men realize the opportunities available to them in vocational agriculture and the Future Farmers of America.

May God bless you.

Respectfully submitted,

NORMAN BROWN

Report of the Pacific Regional Vice President

I consider myself very fortunate to have had this experience of being your National Vice President this past year. I have many cherished memories which will live with me forever.

On October 22, I was a guest of U. S. Senator George W. Malone at Hotel Last Frontier in Las Vegas, where I met Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson and saw him present the Award of "Outstanding Young Farmer" to my brother Tim. Later, I presented Secretary Benson and Governor Russell each a basket of pomegranates grown in my home community.

BRYAN HAFEN
Pacific Vice President

October 27, I presided over our Annual County Farm Bureau meeting which was my last official duty as Clark County Farm Bureau President.

I arrived in Washington, D. C., January 20, where I renewed acquaintances with my fellow officers. January 21 through February 2, was spent in Board meetings and Leadership Training. Following this, we visited 19 cities, meeting leaders of business and industry and FFA Foundation donors on the annual Good-Will Tour.

March 25, I arrived in Idaho to attend my first State convention. I again enjoyed meeting Mr. Merritt D. Hill, Chairman of the FFA Foundation Sponsoring Committee at this convention. I left Idaho early in order to attend the last day of the Utah convention, where I was impressed with their outstanding program.

I drove to Douglas, Wyoming, on April 2, and enjoyed two days of Wyoming friendship and fine hospitality. All of the members did a fine job and I enjoyed the "red carpet treatment".

On my way to the California convention, I stopped at the University of Nevada to visit Mr. Howard Christensen, Teacher Trainer, who formerly was my high school advisor. I spoke to the members of his class who are studying to be vocational agriculture instructors. On May 6, I joined Adin and participated in the California convention.

Nevada honored me very much by bringing the State convention to my home town. I conducted a tour of my farming program in Mesquite for the delegates. Mr. Wilson Carnes, Editor of The National Future Farmer Magazine, and Carl Scott, Assistant Supervisor of Agricultural Education in Indiana, were both in attendance at our convention.

After the Nevada convention, I left for Albuquerque, New Mexico, where I again met and worked with Adin. We enjoyed our duties at this convention.

We national officers again met in Washington, D. C. on July 18. We enjoyed an overnight Chesapeake cruise with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Foss Wilson aboard their yacht. Early in the week, we started preparing for the National Leadership Training Conference. We enjoyed taking part in the conference, and renewing old and making new acquaintances. A highlight of the conference was the dedication of our National FFA Building. During the conference and dedication ceremony we heard many inspiring talks given by some of our foremost leaders in Government. I also had the pleasure of shaking hands with President Eisenhower when we met with him on the White House lawn. Following the conference, we spent Saturday relaxing on water skis with Mr. and Mrs. Farrar and Mr. and Mrs. Gray. Water skiing was new to us and it was a pleasant experience we will never forget. The following week was spent in Board meetings and selecting American Farmer candidates. During the week we were honored with a luncheon in the U. S. Capitol Building with our Congressmen and Senators.

August 12, I participated in my last State convention at Tucson, Arizona, where Adin and I again shared the convention activities with some fine State officers and members.

I am indebted to Mr. Reid, Mr. Christensen and Mr. Buntun who have assisted and inspired me. I want to thank Dr. Spanton, Mr. Gray and the entire staff in Washington for their friendship and the help given to me. To my fellow officers, may our bond of friendship always continue.

Mom and Dad, I appreciate very much what you have done for me. I only hope I will always live up to your teachings and guidance. The love and encouragement from my wife, Dawn, has helped me very much when I've been discouraged or found the going tough.

I have gained much through being a national officer. I've broadened my outlook on life and attained a new perspective on agriculture. The experience and associations I have had would not have been possible without the help and guidance of Almighty God. May He bless our organization.

Respectfully submitted,

BRYAN HAFEN

Report of the North Atlantic Regional Vice President

Upon completion of this 32nd Convention I shall truthfully be able to say I have spent the most exciting and educational year of my life.

After returning home from last year's convention the months of November and December were filled with many speaking engagements at farm and civic clubs. I also attended quite a few parent and son banquets in neighboring counties and States.

RICHARD VAN AUKER
North Atlantic

On December 9th I had the honor of meeting Madame Chiang Kai Shek at the American Farm Bureau Federation Convention in Boston. Speaking with her I was able to grasp the picture of agricultural necessities in the Far East.

The Board of Student Officers and Board of Directors meetings were held in January. Later, we officers started on our Good-Will Tour which continued through March 6.

My first State convention was in Massachusetts, on April 3 and 4. This convention was well conducted. I then returned home for spring plowing and planting. On June 3 I attended the Louisiana Convention, at Baton Rouge. I was certainly impressed by the parents' interest and participation. Also, they have excellent convention facilities. I had the pleasure of hearing the State FHA President give a speech entitled "Boy of My Dreams" which is printed in the last issue of the National FUTURE FARMER. On June 9 through 11, I attended the Pennsylvania State Convention, being impressed greatly by their State band, as well as the conduct and appearance of the Future Farmers.

On June 23 I flew to Maine to attend their State Convention, at the University of Maine. I was highly impressed by the outstanding public speaking contest. On June 26 I attended the New Jersey State Convention. A speech given by a State Senator, on the need of agricultural leadership, was something which I feel made the delegates sit up and listen.

July 12th found me at the Connecticut State Convention. I was impressed by the boys' conduct and the excellent planning for a one-day convention.

I traveled from Connecticut into Vermont to attend the Vermont State Convention on July 14 and 15. There I was highly impressed by the fact that their State Farmer and Honorary State Farmer Degree ceremonies could be conducted so smoothly.

I flew to West Virginia for their convention on July 16-19. They are to be commended for the participation of their members and past officers. The conduct and appearance of the boys were very good. The FFA talent served as excellent entertainment for the convention.

I journeyed to Washington, D. C. for the Leadership Training Conference on July 21-24. I feel this is an excellent opportunity for Future Farmers to see the Nation's Capital and also learn more about our National Organization of Future Farmers of America. It has been money well spent.

October 6 I spent at the North East Poultry Producers Co-op in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, where I presented awards to deserving young Future Farmers.

Along with my fellow officers, I'm sure I can say for all of us—it has been a privilege to be able to attend these State Conventions and work with the officers and executives who made these conventions such a success.

I shall always be grateful to the following: Mr. Louis Gombosi and Mr. John Stump, local advisors; Mr. Evans and George Lange, State Advisors, and staff members; and Dr. James Johnson, Superintendent of my high school.

I would like to express my appreciation to the national staff for their understanding and guidance in helping me during the past year. To my Mom and Dad I shall be eternally grateful for I now fully realize the sacrifice they have made.

The sacrifices made by my wife and daughter have certainly meant a great deal to me.

To my fellow Future Farmers for making this past year one to be treasured forever, I say, "Thanks, and may God richly bless all of us in the future."

Respectfully submitted,

RICHARD VAN AUKEN

Report of the Central Regional Vice President

Following the 1958 National Convention, I returned to college to finish the first semester. I participated in many radio, TV and press interviews during the fall and early winter before attending the Northwest Missouri Sub-District banquet.

THOMAS E. STINE
Central Vice President

From January 20 until March 6, I participated in National Officers' Leadership Training and met with the Boards of Student Officers and Directors in Washington. Later I accompanied my fellow officers on the National Officer Public Relations Tour and made many new and interesting friends.

After taking part in many local Parent and Son banquets, civic club meetings and other FFA activities, I attended the Nebraska Convention. I was impressed by the pageant, "Building the FFA Emblem" which we have enjoyed at this year's National Convention. On April 15-17 I was honored to have my parents attend the Missouri Convention with me. I wish to commend my fellow FFA members on their excellent conduct and the State association on its excellent public relations program. I arrived in South Dakota April 18 and was also impressed with their officer interviews and their State Star Farmer ceremony. I enjoyed participating in their talent show with the North Dakota president.

The Kansas Convention was held April 26-28. I wish to commend this association on the impressive Vespers program, public speaking contest and officer interviews. I went to Kansas City to attend the AIC-USDA meeting on membership relations in Co-operatives. In May, I spoke at twenty Parent and Son banquets, and attended a White House Conference, called by the Governor of Missouri, on the development of American youth.

June 1-5, I participated in the Kentucky Convention. I also attended their State Leadership Camp and was impressed with it. This assisted me to prepare for my assigned duties on "Leadership Training for State Camps" for the National Leadership Training Conference in Washington. I participated in the Consumers' Co-operative Camp at Liberty, Missouri on June 7-13, where I was in charge of the instruction in parliamentary procedure.

I attended the large Illinois Convention on June 15-17 and was impressed with their awards program and excellent FFA public relations. Following this, I journeyed to the Missouri State Camp where I enjoyed working in FFA Leadership Training activities.

On July 9, I was surprised at a dinner given for me by my FFA friends in southwest Missouri. Lee Todd was at his best that evening—he performed as guest speaker for the occasion. I enjoyed a visit he made to my farm for several days.

From July 16-24, I enjoyed my participation and work in connection with the first National Leadership Training Conference in Washington. The following week I met with the Board of Student Officers and Board of Directors. A week intervened before I journeyed to Illinois to assist Secretary Brown with the AIC meeting and to work with Mr. Duis in conducting the Central Region Public Speaking Contest. On September 17, I represented the National FFA Organization at the dedication of the site of the Agricultural Hall of Fame. I was impressed with the fine manner in which the FFA was featured at the Mid-South Fair in Memphis, Tennessee during the time I visited there on September 28-29.

I have gained in confidence and helped myself greatly through the FFA, and I owe much to many people for their assistance, especially Mr. Archer, Mr. McGee and Mr. Hawkins, local advisors, and Mr. George Young of the Southwest Missouri Foundation. To State Advisor, Mr. Carl Humphrey, his staff and the 13,000 State FFA members in Missouri I say “thanks.” Dr. Spanton and his staff have given me good advice and, of course, I will never forget my fellow officers.

To Mom and Dad I express deep appreciation for your guidance and confidence in me and I am grateful to Terry, my brother, for his work on the farm while I was away.

I intend carrying out the primary aim of vocational education after my status as an active member of the FFA has ended—that of becoming established in farming. God bless all of you in your efforts in future FFA work.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS E. STINE

Report of the Southern Regional Vice President

Today, it is one of my duties and pleasures to report to you, my fellow Future Farmers, on my part in the work of our great organization during the past year. I have enjoyed many wonderful experiences since the time of our last meeting here in Kansas City.

LEE TODD
Southern Vice President

I shall never forget this year during which I have served as your Southern Regional Vice President.

Following the adjournment of the 31st FFA Convention, I returned to the University of Tennessee to complete the fall quarter. College and local FFA activities required most of my time until January. I left at that time for Washington, D. C., where I received National Officers' training, attended meetings of the Boards of Student Officers and Directors, and participated in the National Officer Good-Will Tour, which was completed on March 8. The remainder of the month of March was spent in speaking at local chapter banquets in Tennessee.

On April 2, I went to Livingston, Texas. A full week of FFA business and pleasure was climaxed with the Trinity-Neches District Livestock Show and FFA Rodeo. For four days I was a guest of the Kirbyville FFA Chapter. This chapter arranged for a local citizen to fly me back to Tennessee to participate in the Middle Tennessee Awards Banquet held in Nashville.

April 20 I assisted in the final arrangements of the Tennessee Convention. On April 22, I flew to Stillwater, Oklahoma, and observed the opening session of the Oklahoma State Convention where Governor Edmonds addressed the convention and awarded each candidate the State Farm Degree. I flew back to Memphis to attend the last two days of my home State convention.

In May, I attended the excellent Area IX Convention held in Beaumont, Texas.

I traveled to Arkansas for their fine State convention on June 1. I then went directly to the Alabama Convention at Auburn for a very enjoyable convention in the "Heart of Dixie". The beginning of the second week in June was spent attending the opening of the South Carolina Convention. Although I did not have time to stay for the entire convention, it surely did get off to a good start. The remainder of the week was spent at the Florida Convention. Three wonderful days of business and FFA recreation for all ended much too soon. Before leaving I enjoyed meeting past national officers, Doyle Conner, Bill Gunter, and James Quincey. June 14 found me at the Virginia FFA Convention. I enjoyed working with the State officers in conducting an excellent convention. Later in June, attending the Mississippi Convention, I was pleased and honored to receive the Mississippi Honorary State Farmer Degree. From Mississippi, I traveled to Raleigh, North Carolina. I served as a judge in the State public speaking and the State parliamentary procedure contests. On July 9, it was a real joy to go to Springfield, Missouri, to speak at a banquet in honor of Tom Stine, and to spend the night in his home.

On July 17, I went to Washington, D. C., for the National Leadership Training Conference, and the National meetings of the Boards of Student Officers and Directors.

I left home on August 3 for my last State convention in Georgia. This was an outstanding convention held at their beautiful State camp.

On August 9, I traveled with the Tennessee delegate to the meeting of the American Institute of Cooperation in Illinois.

The first week in September I met with the Tennessee State officers and officials in their State officer training conference. September 15, I was in Memphis with the State presidents of the FFA and FHA from Arkansas, Mississippi, Missouri, Kentucky, and Tennessee, to promote the Mid-South Fair. Here I participated in many FFA activities.

I traveled to Atlanta, Georgia, the first of October to bring greetings to the 25th Annual Convention of the New Farmers of America.

Since October 7 I have been in Kansas City to participate in board meetings and to make final plans for this convention.

It has been gratifying to me to witness the outstanding capabilities of our FFA leaders. I cherish the friendships I have established among Future Farmers from various States. Therefore, my heartfelt thanks for your support and kind hospitality.

To Mr. Sam Sparkes, Mr. H. C. Colvett, and Mr. Henry Williams, may I say "many thanks" for your guidance and advice. I appreciate the help each member of the Washington staff has given to me.

I have great admiration for my fellow officers. I shall never forget our many pleasant hours together.

To my Mother, Father, and my Brother, Dr. Mainord, the most chosen words cannot express my appreciation for the help and sacrifices you have made for me.

I am grateful to my Father in Heaven for his guidance.

Truly, I can say that the FFA has played an important part in developing my life. I have been extremely proud to serve you as a National Vice President.

May God bless each of you.

Respectfully submitted,

LEE TODD

Report of the National Executive Secretary

Future Farmers of America

Wm. Paul Gray

Each year, we pause at our National FFA Convention to review briefly the record of accomplishments of our organization. Our membership increased last year, and our records of accomplishments in rural leadership and farming continued to be very satisfactory. We must recognize that the progress made over the past year has been due to the work done by FFA members, teachers of vocational agriculture, State staffs in agricultural education and the members of the Agricultural Education Branch of the Office of Education. We appreciate the helpful assistance that has been given to the FFA by our many friends in other organizations and from the field of business and industry.

The following report on accomplishments of the Future Farmers of America is for the year ended June 30, 1959:

Officer Travel

Your National FFA Officers have rendered outstanding service to the national FFA organization during the past year. The farming programs of these young men have made it difficult for them to be away from the farm during the year. The only reimbursement they have received from the national organization is their travel expense.

Public Relations Tour

The national officers journeyed to 19 major cities in 10 States, visiting donors to the National FFA Foundation. The tour extended to the New England States and also west to St. Louis for the first time.

State Conventions

Reports from State associations indicated that all associations held State conventions. We were successful in having a national FFA officer attend 49 of these conventions. Reports are encouraging that State associations are continuing to improve their conventions through better planning, balanced convention programs, leadership training and special recognition to Foundation donors.

Leadership Training

During the year, 47 State Associations held special leadership schools for local chapters and members. More than 50,000 members from over 6,000 chapters attended these schools. A total of 16 States operated State camps, where leadership training was emphasized. Your national officers conducted the first National Leadership Training Conference, which was held in Washington, D. C. This activity should aid the State associations in providing better training in leadership in years ahead and give a broader understanding of the national organization.

National FFA Building

The new FFA building has been completed, occupied and is buzzing with activity. The grounds to the building have been landscaped, a flagpole memorial erected and a new road built. You will benefit by the excellent service the staffs of the Future Farmers Supply Service and The National Future Farmer Magazine will be able to give you.

Future Farmers Supply Service

The Future Farmers Supply Service is continuing to expand its operation and service. It is making an effort to reach more members at State association conventions. Its trade mark of “service” is not only approved but is within the reach of all FFA members.

National Future Farmer Magazine

The National Future Farmer Magazine continues to grow. One hundred percent of the membership in many States support the magazine through subscriptions. Your loyalty is to be congratulated and be assured it is reflected in continued greater support by our advertisers. Let us look forward to the day when every FFA member subscribes to the magazine. We are proud of the high quality of our magazine. It is doing an excellent job in public relations and its purposes to the FFA.

Official FFA Calendar

Progress is quite satisfactory in promotional work on the Official FFA Calendar. Mr. Howard Carter is working in an untiring manner to further develop this important FFA promotional activity. Chapters which have worked with this activity find it is an excellent means for fund raising. We look to the future with confidence when all chapters will benefit through this public relations and promotional activity.

National Chapter Award Program

A review of the 128 reports submitted this year reveals a continued interest in and recognition of this important phase of our FFA program. With a new plaque awaiting those chapters which are rated Superior next year, we anticipate increased chapter participation with greater achievements in the Chapter Program of Activities. Such programs need to be more challenging and adapted to the changing trends in agriculture and the needs of individual FFA members.

Future Farmers of America Foundation, Inc.

The Future Farmers of America Foundation was organized in 1944. During the first year twelve companies and individuals became donors. In fifteen years the Foundation has grown to more than 300 donors, who make annual contributions. This money is used to finance an award program so that outstanding FFA members may be recognized for their accomplishments in vocational agriculture and FFA activities. There are many representatives from these donors to the Foundation at our convention.

George Washington Grist Mill

The George Washington Grist Mill which is located on property adjacent to the new FFA building is leased from the State of Virginia and is kept open to the public in cooperation with the Department of Conservation and Economic Development. A caretaker is kept on duty, the property has been improved the past three years.

We Look To The Future

In 1958 you were challenged to increase the membership in the FFA of farm boys who were studying vocational agriculture but who did not belong to the FFA. You were asked to encourage other farm boys who have completed vocational agriculture to continue their membership in the FFA. You have accepted this challenge and shown results.

We look to the future with confidence because the accomplishments of the organization in the past have continued to improve each year and prove that great things can be expected where high goals are set and members work hard to accomplish these objectives. Let us work with our fellow members, parents, teachers, school, community and State associations for a greater FFA.

I wish to express my appreciation to the national officers for their understanding and spirit of cooperation and assistance. I also wish to thank the National Board of Directors, State Advisors, Executive Secretaries and to our office force for their valuable assistance.

Join me in looking to the future with confidence for a greater FFA.

Report of the National Treasurer

July 16, 1959

Officers and Directors,
Future Farmers of America,
Washington, D. C.

Gentlemen:

We have examined the books of account and record of R. E. Bass, Treasurer, Future Farmers of America, Richmond, Virginia, for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1959, and submit herewith our report, consisting of the statements prepared on the cash receipts and disbursements basis as listed in the foregoing index together with our comments thereon. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion, the accompanying statements present fairly the assets and liabilities of Future Farmers of America at June 30, 1959, arising from cash transactions or contributions, and the revenues collected and expenses disbursed by it during the year then ended, on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Respectfully submitted,

LEACH, CALKINS & SCOTT
Certified Public Accountants

Financial Position

The assets and liabilities of the organization at June 30, 1959, are shown in detail in the Balance Sheet, Exhibit "A". A summary showing a comparison of the financial position of the organization at June 30, 1959, with that at June 30, 1958, follows.

ASSETS:	June 30, 1959	June 30, 1958	Increase (Decrease)
Loan receivable .....	44,500.00	44,500.00	—
Property and equipment.....	638,252.00	346,559.89	291,692.11
Cash—regular account.....	$ 54,855.26	$ 43,275.49	$ 11,579.77
TOTAL ASSETS .....	$737,607.26	$434,335.38	$303,271.88
LIABILITIES:
Note payable .....	$ 65,000.00	$100,000.00	$(35,000.00)
SURPLUS .....	672,607.26	334,335.38	338,271.88
TOTAL LIABILITIES AND SURPLUS.....	$737,607.26	$434,335.38	$303,271.88

In comparing the two years it should be noted that $273,782.75 of the increase in the value of property and equipment and in surplus results from the revaluation of the property and equipment during the current year.

Revenue and Expenditures

Operations of the organization for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1959, resulted in an excess of revenue over expenditures of $11,579.77. A statement of revenue and expenditures for the year is presented in detail in Exhibit "B", a summary of which follows.

Receipts and Disbursements

There is presented in Exhibit "C" a statement showing in summary form all of the recorded cash receipts and disbursements of the year under review. A list of membership dues collected during the year is presented in Schedule 1.

Explanatory Comments

CASH IN BANK was verified by direct correspondence with the depository and reconciliation of the balance reported with the amount shown by the books. All recorded cash receipts were traced to the record of their deposit in bank, and all disbursements through the bank account were evidenced by properly executed, cancelled checks, with the exception of checks outstanding at June 30, 1959. The addition of the cash books was verified by us.

LOAN RECEIVABLE was confirmed by direct correspondence with the debtor. This account represents amounts advanced to "The National Future Farmer" as follows:

Cash advances .....	$36,786.20
Expenses .....	7,713.80
TOTAL.....	$44,500.00

The foregoing cash advances were made to the magazine in prior years.

PROPERTY AND EQUIPMENT were revalued on June 15, 1959, and are stated on the balance sheet at their estimated fair market values at that date. As a result of this appraisal, the carrying value of assets no longer in use and of others that appeared to have no value were deleted from the property accounts. The values of land and building were computed by the appraiser in the following manner:

Land:
Commercially zoned property—
358,480 sq. ft. at $.50 per sq. ft.....	$179,240.00
24 acres at $4,500.00 per acre.....	108,000.00
TOTAL.....	$287,240.00
Building—
24,216 sq. ft. at $14.50 per sq. ft.....	$350,132.00

NOTE PAYABLE, in the amount of $65,000.00, represents the balance of a $100,000.00 loan from Future Farmers of America Foundation, Incorporated, at 3% interest. This loan was used to help finance the cost of the new building. During the year this loan was curtailed $35,000.00.

SURPLUS is analyzed in the balance sheet.

Star Farmer Awards

LYLE RADER

CHARLES LEE SMITH

DON BRIDGES

RODNEY L. CAULK

Since 1929, Star Farmers have been selected annually from the American Farmer Candidates who receive the Degree at the time of the National Convention. A Future Farmers of America Foundation check for $1,000 went to the Star Farmer of America, and checks for $500 were given to the other three Star Farmers. The 1959 winners were:

Star Farmer of America—Lyle Rader, Tacoma, Washington, member of the Fife FFA Chapter

Star Farmer, Southern Region—Don Bridges, Dawson, Georgia

Star Farmer, North Atlantic Region—Rodney Lyndon Caulk, Wyoming, Delaware

Star Farmer, Central Region—Charles Lee Smith, Memphis, Missouri

The records of outstanding candidates were reviewed by the following individuals:

Clark W. Davis, General Manager, Industrial and Biochemicals
Department, E. I. duPont deNemours & Company, Inc., Wilmington, Delaware

Raymond C. Firestone, President, Firestone Tire and Rubber
Company, Akron, Ohio

Merritt D. Hill, Vice President and General Manager, Tractor and Implement Division, Ford Motor Company, Birmingham, Michigan

Charles Dana Bennett, Special Consultant, Foundation for American Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Russell DeYoung, President, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio

Roderick Turnbull, Editor, THE WEEKLY STAR FARMER,
Kansas City, Missouri

Edward Foss Wilson, Assistant Secretary, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Washington, D. C.

LYLE RADER

Star Farmer of America

The 1959 Star Farmer of America is living proof that a young man can still grow into a successful farming business without much outside help if he is willing to work hard and apply sound agricultural practices to his operations.

The boy's father died when Lyle was in grade school. Each year, Lyle assumed more and more of the responsibility for operating the small farm.

The entire farming program was put into the partnership during Lyle's first year out of school. He did the work and management of the farm, his mother pitched in to keep the books during rush seasons.

The original farm was 41 acres. When Mr. Rader died the mother inherited half the property, with Lyle, his brother, and sister receiving one-sixth each. Lyle plans to buy his brother's and sister's shares, and hopes he may eventually be able to purchase the entire farm.

Lyle and Mrs. Richardson purchased an additional 10 acres after Lyle graduated from high school, and they have rented another 12 acres in the partnership, bringing their total acreage to 63. This year, crops included 8 acres of strawberries, 25 acres of beans, 8 acres of raspberries, and 12 acres of cauliflower. The rest of the land is used for storage of irrigation water.

All of the field work, planning, and supervision of the farm is Lyle's responsibility, including negotiating contracts for sale of the products, purchasing supplies and equipment, and supervising the harvest crews that often run to 100 to 150 workers. His high school vocational agriculture teacher, Glen L. Olmstead, makes occasional trips to the farm to help with the planning.

The Star Farmer's labor income from farming in the seven years since he enrolled in vocational agriculture totals nearly $20,000.00, and he has received another $1,000.00 from work off the home farm. He lists his assets at $37,246.00, which includes $25,250.00 for his share of the land and buildings and $7,130.00 for machinery. He still owes $4,250.00 on the purchased land, giving him a net worth of $32,996.00.

Dairy Farming

Farm Electrification

Farm Electrification Award winners were presented by Vice President Stine and each winner received a check given on behalf of the Future Farmers of America Foundation, Inc. The winners were:

1st Place—John H. Becker, Labadie, Missouri.....	$250.00
Pacific Region—Dale W. Miller, Berthoud, Colorado.....	200.00
Southern Region—Tommy Dale, Parrott, Georgia.....	200.00
North Atlantic Region—
Stephen Francis Main, Patten, Maine.....	200.00

Soil and Water Management

Soil and Water Management Award winners were presented by Vice President Todd and each winner received a check given on behalf of the Future Farmers of America Foundation, Inc. The winners were:

1st Place—James Janks, Caro, Michigan.....	$250.00
Pacific Region—Jerry Cox, Reardan, Washington.....	200.00
North Atlantic Region—Kenneth Lee Kerns, Berkeley Springs, West Virginia.....	200.00
Southern Region—Bobby Joe Summers, Tifton, Georgia	200.00

Farm Safety

Farm Safety Award winners were presented by Vice President Van Auken and each winner received a check given on behalf of the Future Farmers of America Foundation, Inc. The winners were:

1st Place—Amphitheater Chapter, Tucson, Arizona.....	$250.00
Central Region— A. S. Gibbons Chapter, Maddock, North Dakota....	200.00
North Atlantic Region— Newton Chapter, Newton, New Jersey.....	200.00
Southern Region— Pine Grove Chapter, Dumas, Mississippi.....	200.00

National Chapter Award Program

One hundred and twenty-eight Future Farmers of America local chapters were honored at the 32nd national convention in Kansas City during the presentation of awards in the organization's National Chapter Award Program.

The National FFA Chapter Award Program, conducted annually by the organization, is designed to encourage and reward chapter effort, stimulate group action among members, and to encourage improvement in local chapter programs of work. Both the interest shown and the actual accomplishments over a period of years give ample evidence of the effectiveness of this event. The Award Program has been a valuable aid in stimulating both individual and cooperative effort and in crystallizing chapter programs of work into a series of worthwhile undertakings.

Chapters were grouped into Gold Emblem, Silver Emblem, and Bronze Emblem classifications, according to their records of accomplishment in supervised farming, cooperative activities, community service, leadership activities, earnings and savings by members, conduct of meetings, scholarship of members, recreation and other general activities.

Each chapter in the contest was rated Superior, and had been selected by the State to be entered in the national competition. Winners receiving an emblem rating for the first time were given plaques. Other received spurs to place on plaques previously awarded. The one hundred and twenty-eight chapters in the national contest represent the best from the Future Farmers of America's 8,898 local chapters. The 1959 winners were:

Public Speaking Contest

The Annual National FFA Public Speaking Contest was first made possible in 1930 through the interest and generosity of the late Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas who for two years sponsored the event and offered prizes. From 1932 until 1944 the national organization of Future Farmers of America was the sponsor. Since 1944, Future Farmers of America Foundation, Inc., has provided local, State, and national awards for the contest.

The Thirtieth National FFA Public Speaking Contest took place in the Main Arena of the Municipal Auditorium on Monday, Oct. 12, 1959. The five finalists placing in the order indicated were:

1. Phil Rousseau, Franklin, Washington—"Food for our Nation"; $250 cash award.
2. Nathan Deal, Sandersville, Georgia—"The Great American Dilemma"; $225 cash award.
3. Richard Lorenzo, Wahiawa, Oahu, Hawaii—"A Changing Agriculture"; $200 cash award.
4. Lamar Hollinger, Shillington, Pennsylvania—"Our Soil is Our Future"; $175 cash award.
5. Gordon Adkins, Grinnell, Iowa—"Don't be Careless! Be Prepared!"; $150 cash award.

Each contestant was the author of his own speech, having studied his subject, prepared the draft and practiced its delivery. Each speech represented original thought and original work on the part of the contestants, with coaching on composition and delivery limited, by the rules of the contest, to facilities of the school from which the contestant came. Each boy was at liberty to choose any current subject of an agricultural character.

The contest was judged by three competent persons. Prior to the contest the judges were furnished with typewritten copies of the contestants' productions which they read and graded on content and composition. At the contest the judges scored each contestant. A maximum of 300 points was allowed for the written production and 700 points for delivery. Questions were asked by the judges to test each contestant on his ability to think on his feet and on general knowledge of his subject.

JUDGES

Joseph G. Bryan, Director, Secondary Education, Public Schools, Kansas City, Missouri

Phil G. Evans, Farm Director, KMBC—KFRM, Stanley, Kansas

Tom W. Glaze, Head, Agricultural Research Department, Swift and Company, Chicago, Illinois

TIMEKEEPERS

John Marks, Rural Education Division, Automotive Safety Foundation, Washington, D. C.

Mead Rogers, Regional Director, Sears-Roebuck Company, Kansas City, Missouri

Food For Our Nation

By—Phil Rousseau, Franklin, Washington

We in America have a problem—a very large and complex problem upon which the future of the human race rests. This is the problem of food for our people—a people that is multiplying at an alarmingly rapid rate; a people that is demanding more and more food.

When Captain John Smith first set foot on the shore at Jamestown, Virginia 350 years ago, the area which now makes up the first 48 States had about 800,000 Indians, 60 million buffalo and 1,904,000,000 acres of land. In this Indian paradise, where the braves hunted, fished and fought while the squaws did all the work, the Indians had a very precious possession—that was 2,400 acres of land for every man, woman and child in the Indian tribes. When Benjamin Franklin was born in 1706, we had grown to one million people and still had 1,900 acres of land to each person. By the time of the Lewis and Clark expedition, there were five million people and four hundred acres of land per person.

Today, with our 175 million people, the area per person is only eleven acres, and three million people are being added every year. By the end of the century, with our population growing the way it is, we will be down to an average of five acres for every person.

Our exploding population poses a formidable challenge to the farmer as early as 1975. The United States Department of Agriculture estimates that if our people are to have three square meals a day by then, we will have to produce at least 50 percent more eggs, hogs, vegetables, cattle and milk.

Perhaps you are now saying to yourself, "With the acres per person dwindling so fast, how are we going to feed ourselves?"

There are two ways to approach this problem: (1) Stop producing so many people; or (2) continue to produce more food per acre and to find new sources of this precious commodity.

Of these two, I feel that the latter is the one with which we will achieve the better results, the one which will be the most rewarding. I feel that I can safely say that the food production of our nation is limited only by our imagination.

The acre is a very elastic unit of measure when it comes to food production. Improved research and better farming methods are making it bigger every year. Dr. Herrell De Graff, food economist at Cornell University, points it out this way: "We have the same amount of cropland as 35 years ago, and 62 million more people; yet people eat better today than ever before because food output is up 70 percent."

Let us now look at some of the ways we can boost our output of food. If all farmers were to use all the tools known to agriculture, in just this coming year the results would astound us. The national average for corn production is about 44 bushels per acre annually. Yet, a 16 year old agriculture student of Baldwin, Mississippi grew 304 bushels on an acre of land last year—an increase of better than 600 percent. The average dairy cow in this country gave about 6,000 pounds of milk last year; yet, a placid, cud-chewing Holstein, on a farm in Elsie, Michigan gave a record 42,905 pounds. This is more than seven times the national average.

At the present time our population is growing at 1.7 percent a year. Our farm production is increasing at one percent per year. It is plain to see that either more land will soon have to be brought into production, or new sources of food will have to be found. Much more land could be brought into production by putting many pasture lands into crops, clearing woodlands, draining swamplands and developing water resources for dry lands. In addition we could dike the sea along our shores as the Dutch have done. Ultimately, we should be able to double our cropland.

We are now losing about one million acres of cropland a year to factories, cities, highways, reservoirs and suburban development. The farmer is badly in need of zoning regulations to protect him from this industrial encroachment.

What food sources are we to turn to after we have reached the ultimate limit in cropland? This is where research will find the answer. Yes, research! Research will be responsible for our survival. We only have to look at some of our present-day methods to see what research has done for us. One now only has to insert 16 cents worth of stilbestrol under the skin of a steer's ear to get an extra $12 worth of beef. Stilbestrol, which can also be mixed with feed, makes cattle gain 15 percent faster on 12 percent less feed. This alone is worth an extra 675 million pounds of beef each year.

Artificial insemination, which has long been used to stretch the reproductive capacity of superior bulls, may now be used on superior cows as well, so they may produce more offspring via foster mothers. In Madison, Wisconsin a fertilized egg was transplanted from its superior mother into a so-called "incubator" cow; there the embryo grew to birth. Although this program has not been perfected, it will permit a superior cow to concentrate on producing eggs rather than to be tied down to a nine-month pregnancy. She may be able to produce as many as 500 calves in a lifetime.

The one-celled organism probably offers our greatest source of food. It is hard to believe that an organism so small that we cannot see it with the naked eye has so much to offer, but let us look into this possibility.

Microorganisms have a high degree of efficiency in using energy. They can get this energy from cheap carbohydrates which are being discarded in the form of sewage, waste from sugar mills, sawdust, corncobs, old newspapers and similar wastes in a thousand other forms. Microorganisms can make sugars, fats, starches and proteins from these wastes; they can do it more efficiently than the farmer can raise crops on his land. For example, microorganisms can convert the produce from one acre of farm land into ten times as much food value as could be obtained by raising cattle on the land.

The sea also has much to offer in the way of microorganisms. It is estimated that we are using only a very minute part of the food available here.

Life in the sea can be divided into about three different groups. These are: plant plankton, animal plankton, and fish. Now let's see what relation these have to each other and to man. One thousand pounds of plant plankton will feed 100 pounds of animal plankton. This, in turn, will produce ten pounds of fish, which will provide food for one pound of man.

You can see that the efficiency of this pyramid is about one tenth of one percent. The amounts of food that could be made available by cutting out the two middle groups is almost beyond belief.

You can easily see that we have only begun to scratch the surface of our food supply; a supply which, if handled properly, will feed us in the many centuries to come. But there are certain steps we should take in order to make sure this supply will be available. First, we must broaden our research program; I have shown you the results and benefits we can get from this program. Second, we must improve our soil and water conservation. Third, we must adopt common-sense farm zoning so today's farmer is not crowded off the face of the earth. Last, but perhaps the most important, we must keep our freedom and profit incentives; we have all seen that a free country is a well-fed country.

By working together for these goals we can, with the help of God, face the future in a healthy and well-fed America.

CONVENTION ENTERTAINMENT

Many persons made valuable contributions to the outstanding success of the 1959 national convention of Future Farmers of America. Organizing and conducting such an event is a cooperative activity embodying the work of leaders from many segments of the FFA, and by many persons outside our organization.

First, special commendation is due the members from throughout the United States who attended the convention. Their conduct in Kansas City was exemplary and in the finest tradition that the Future Farmer is always a Gentleman. The impression that each individual FFA member imparts to others determines the respect that is accorded the organization. Although it seems there always must be a few members whose appearance and conduct leave something to be desired, they are in such minority that the overall impression left with our friends in Kansas City is good, meriting continuing enthusiastic support for the annual return of the FFA convention.

Thanks are due, also, to the national officers who did such a splendid job of conducting the convention, much work was involved in their preparations; to the members and advisors of the Courtesy Corps who provided aid and timely advice to those who needed it; to the Ushers who assisted valuably in arranging seating for special guests and maintaining order; to the members and leaders of the National FFA Band and the National FFA Chorus whose untiring work contributed substantially to the interest in the convention program; to those State advisors, executive secretaries, and other leaders who helped with the various programs, the press room, and the arrangements for FFA programs in Kansas City meetings of Civic Clubs and other groups.

More than fifty persons attended the convention to report the activities by radio, television, newspaper or farm magazine. The major news services, Associated Press and United Press International gave full word and picture coverage. Many State associations brought special exhibits. Breakfasts, luncheons, and dinners were provided by several business and industrial concerns. The Kansas City Chamber of Commerce and the Kansas City Advisory Committee provided valuable assistance. Speakers, foreign guests and other outstanding individuals added interest and inspiration to the program.

To all of these we are grateful.
