

green sheet

volume twenty-one, number four

january 27, 1991

FINALLY: SCIENCE, ENGINEERING, TECHNOLOGY PHASE III BEGINS

THE THIRD AND FINAL PHASE—ARCHITECT MODEL

Hoosier weather, planners have set the outdoor ceremony for 1:30 p.m. in a heated tent located south of the E/T buildings. Everyone is welcome to join Chancellor Gerald L. Bepko at the site. Indoors, the tent ceremony will be simultaneously telecast on closed circuit to the University Place Conference Center auditorium. It will be followed by a slide presentation of the history of the schools and IUPUI. The ceremony continues in the auditorium at 2 p.m., with a reception afterward. University Presidents Thomas Ehrlich, IU, and Steven C. Beering, Purdue, will join Chancellor Bepko in the ceremonies. Greetings are expected from Frank L. O'Bannon, Lt. Governor of Indiana, and William H. Hudnut III, mayor of Indianapolis. Deans of the Purdue Schools, R. Bruce Renda, Engineering and Technology, and David L. Stocum, School of Science, also will participate. All are welcome.

Groundbreaking for the Science, Engineering and Technology Building, Phase III is Feb. 8 at 1:30 p.m., indoors and outdoors. When completed in 1993, this historic achievement completes the 15-year project to bring all Purdue schools to the "main" campus. And, the final phase begins just as Purdue marks its 50th year and IU its 100th year of offering higher education courses in Indianapolis.

Taking into consideration the fickle

TASK FORCE TO TALK ABOUT NEW TEACHER EDUCATION PROGRAM

The Indianapolis task force assigned to originate a new teacher education program will report its current findings during an open forum for the surrounding community on Jan. 30, 7 p.m. in the University Place Conference Center, Room 118. Ways to improve teacher education will be discussed and after the formal presentation the floor will be open for comment. Task force members presenting results of their work so far will be IUPUI faculty members Keith Morran, education; Barbara Cambridge, English, and Key School teacher Hazel Tribble. Don Ernst, assistant to the governor for elementary and secondary education, and Frank Lloyd, consultant to the president of Methodist Hospital, will respond. School of Education Dean Donald Warren appointed two task forces for this project--the other one is at Bloomington.

PERSIAN GULF CRISIS TALKS CONTINUE TWICE WEEKLY Everyone is welcome to open talks Mondays, 11:45 a.m.-12:30 p.m., CA 438, or Thursdays, 12:30-1:15 p.m., NU 407. Sponsors are the Departments of History and Political Science and POLSA, the IUPUI Student Political Science Association.

INTERNATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES AWAIT FACULTY MEMBERS

Resident summer (1991) directorships in Mexico and Canada, and short-term exchanges in Warsaw, Poland, are available to faculty.

The Committee on Institutional Cooperation (CIC) is seeking nominations and applications for the positions of resident director of the program for summers (1992, renewable 1993) at the Universidad de Guanajuato, Mexico, and Laval University in Quebec. Deadline to apply is Feb. 21, 1991. For Mexico, applicants must have ability to teach Latin American civilization or the Spanish language at an advanced level. For Quebec applicants, fluent French is required, with previous scholarly work or other demonstrated interest in French language or Quebec studies preferred. For details, call Pat Biddinger in International Affairs at IUPUI, or call Roger G. Clark, director of CIC, Champaign, Ill., 217/333-8475.

Subject to funding renewal, IU has the opportunity to send one or two faculty members or librarians for short-term assignments of one to three months to Warsaw University, Oct. 1, 1991-Aug. 15, 1992. Candidates can be from any discipline, but must be able to demonstrate the value of participation for a specific research project to be pursued in Warsaw or for the development of the American Studies program there. International Programs (IUB) will pay a salary and cover round-trip air fare. Deadline to apply is Mar. 1, 1991. Send a current CV, a letter describing the program you wish to pursue in Warsaw, which includes research interest, lecture or seminar topics and length of stay preferred, and a letter of endorsement from your chairman to: International Programs, Dean Alexander Rabinowitch, IUB, Bryan Hall 205. Or call 5-8669 for more.

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

Unfinished Sockphony--Vera (Van) Holley, secretary at the School of Law, responded to the call last week in the Green Sheet for a knitter, and she is "almost" making three socks for use for University Theatre's upcoming play, "Look Homeward Angel." It is a project she cannot finish because none of the sock are supposed to be completed. Van began her knitting volunteerism at age 10--just before the U.S. entered WW II. She and her Girl Scout troop learned to knit and made afghans for the "Knitting for Britain" project. When war came she learned to make baby sweaters for overseas and she made army and navy sweaters for the troops. She is saddened by yet another war, and is pleased to help out on campus.

Tell Students--Next in the IUPUI Student Leadership Development Series is Emily C. Wren, director of Campus Facility Services, presenting "How to Solve Group Problems," Feb. 2, 10 a.m., BS 4088. Free tickets are in LY 002, or call 4-3931.

Need Diabetics--Diabetics who qualify can participate in a nationwide study of a new diabetes medicine being conducted in the Dept. of Medicine at Regenstrief Health Center on campus. Participants will receive a free physical exam, lab tests, blood sugar and blood pressure monitoring. Compensation may be given. Call 630-6987.

Calling All Eagles--Eagle Scouts are being sought so they can be invited to the 1991 Gathering Of Eagles in April. Mickey Maurer, CEO for Wrecks, Inc. who earned his Eagle badge in 1943, is chairman of the fifth annual event, which he hopes to make a "memorable one" by including as many Eagle Scouts as possible.

All Hoosier Eagle Scouts, regardless of where or when they earned their badge are asked to send their name, address, employer's name, location and year you earned your badge, and troop number to: Eagle Scout Directory, Crossroads of America Council, Boys Scouts of America, 1900 N. Meridian St., Indianapolis 46202. Or, call Mickey, 769-5555.

THEATRE OPENS REGISTRATION FOR NATIONAL SYMPOSIUM

Registration is open for the fourth national Youth Theatre Playwriting Symposium Mar. 22-23 in the Indiana Repertory Theatre, sponsored by IUPUI University Theatre. Writers, educators, students, actors and theater lovers are expected to attend the symposium which culminates IUPUI's biennial national playwriting competition which has four winners whose names will be announced later. The winners will attend and their plays will receive staged readings by a professional company. Major publishers, playwrights from across the nation and Canada, theater professionals and instructors will lead workshops and sessions that will focus on the multicultural voices and issues in theater for youth. Deadline for lodging reservations is Feb. 24. The cost for the symposium-only before Mar. 10 is $35 for students, senior citizens and members of the Indiana Theater Association or the American Alliance for Theatre and Education; $45 for others. After Mar. 10, the cost is $15 more in each category. The awards/keynote address dinner and the "survivors" dinner are $25 each. To register write Mark McCreary, conference manager, SI 120, or call 4-2095.

MORE NEWS 'N' NOTES

Vigil for Peace--Because of the crisis in the Middle East, there will be a prayer vigil for peace every Thursday evening at 5:30 p.m. in the IUPUI Newman Center, 1309 W. Michigan St. on campus, three houses west of the Ronald McDonald House. All welcome.

Opportunity Knocks--Students and faculty are welcome to drop in anytime throughout the "Study Abroad Forum" Jan. 30, 10 a.m.-4 p.m., BS 4093. International Affairs invites you to learn about study opportunities in such places as China, Germany, Canada, France, Spain, Australia, Hungary and Central America.

All About Hakomi--Michael F. Herrmann, private practitioner in the fields of psycho-pathology, sociology and behavioral medicine, presents "Introduction to Hakomi Therapy" Feb. 19, 4-6 p.m., NU 232. (Hakomi is a body-mind psychotherapy which works directly with the unconscious in full cooperation with the conscious mind to promote health and well-being.) Sponsor is the Dept. of Psychiatric/Mental Health Nursing, School of Nursing.

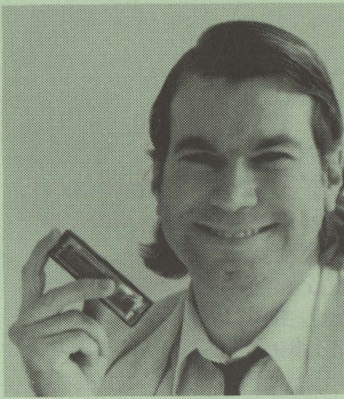

Microbiology/Immunology--P.M. Conneally, Ph.D., presents a research seminar "Molecular Approaches to Human Genetic Disorders," Jan. 31, 4 p.m., MS 326. "Tea" at 3:45 p.m.

Middle East Muddle--In the next "Great Decisions 1991" IUPUI's Charles Winslow, political science, presents "The Middle East: New Frictions, New Alignments" Jan. 30, 7:30 p.m., Church of the Saviour. Call 251-6187 for fees and more.

Anatomy Seminar--Susan Knoblach, graduate student, presents "Constitutive Induction of TRH Gene After Seizure," Medical Neurology Program, Jan. 29, noon, MS 205.

And One for Physics--Steven M. Girvin, Dept. of Physics, IUB, presents "Introduction to Fractional Statistics" Jan. 31, 4 p.m., KB 131. Tea and such at 3:45 p.m.

Chemistry Notes Change--Anna Balazs, U. of Pittsburgh, presents "Computer Models for Polymer-Surface Adsorption," Jan. 30, 4:15 p.m., KB 231. Refreshments at 4 p.m.

HARMONICA FOR BEGINNERS HITS A HIGH NOTE

One class has filled, another is filling fast and a third may be added to handle all the people who want to take the Continuing Studies class, "Blues & Country Harmonica for Beginners." The class meets for six weeks on Tuesdays, 7-8 p.m. at Brebeuf Preparatory School, beginning Jan. 29. L.E. McCullough, left, professional musician and harmonic player for more than 20 years, will teach. He is also the new assistant to the director of the School of Music at

FUN AND EASY

IUPUI, and holds a Ph.D. in ethnomusicology. He has taught harmonica for 10 years in colleges in Pennsylvania and Texas, where he lived before coming to IUPUI. He says learning harmonica is easy and fun and requires no musical training. "All you need is a 10-inch diatonic harmonica in the key of C--any brand," he said. For more, call 4-4501.

SYMPOSIUM LOOKS AT TWO IMPORTANT PERSPECTIVES ON WORLD CONFLICT

Two author/scholars will lead a public symposium, "Feminist and Afro-American Perspectives on World Conflict and Structural Violence," on Feb. 1, 3:30-5:30 p.m., in the fifth floor faculty lounge of Cavanaugh Hall. Speaking will be Berenice Carroll, director of women's studies and professor of political science at Purdue University and co-editor of "In a Great Company of Women: Direct Action and Nonviolent Militancy" (1989). Also, Juliette Walker, professor of history, University of Illinois, author of "Free Frank: A Black Slave Pioneer on the Ante-Bellum Frontier" and printed articles. A reception follows. Sponsors are the IUPUI Women's Studies Program and the Indiana Center for Global Change and World Peace.

IUB'S WTIU-TV MARKS BLACK HISTORY MONTH IU's public television station WTIU joins the nation in celebrating Black History Month in February with special programs. Movies, poetry, music and documentaries are scheduled. Check your TV listings.

POSITION AVAILABLE, IUPUI COLUMBUS, ASSISTANT DIRECTOR, Student Services, available immediately. Requires master's degree and experience in admissions and management. Send resume by Feb. 8 to Dr. Marvin B. Rytting, 4601 Central Ave., Columbus, IN 47203.

(IUPUI is an AA/EO Employer)

FINALLY...

...nearly every day since the war in the Persian Gulf began, IUPUI faculty and staff have generously contributed their knowledge and experience to local media attempts to sort out all the implications of war. They have spoken publicly on various subjects relevant to the war. Questions have been answered on the psychological, environmental and physical effects of war. Others topics included politics, history, constitutional law, international law and Mideast culture. Charles Winslow, Dick Fredland, Robert White, Morton Marcus, Henry Besch, Steve Pruitt, Don Wakefield, John Sharp, Maxine Grant, David McSwane, Henry Karlson, student Mona Qualali and many others have been on television, radio and in print. Their appearances are arranged through Media Relations offices on campus.

green sheet

*News Bureau

Indiana University-Purdue University
at Indianapolis
355 Lansing Street
Indianapolis, Indiana 46202

