A HEALTHY AND HAPPY NEW YEAR? MAX*WELL CAN HELP

Fitness programs, stop smoking classes and a program for you to find out scientifically how healthy you can be are offered to faculty, staff, students and volunteers through the Wellness Committee. Call Max*Well, 4-0610, for brochures and more information on the following programs and other offerings:

Health Risk Appraisals Offered Now Through Spring Lifestyle habits that affect your health and happiness will be computer-analyzed for campus staff and faculty who take advantage of Max*Well's "Health Risk Appraisal" program. The initial questionnaire, the appraisal, analyzation and confidential suggestions for improvement costs only $2 and only $5 for those wishing to include an on-the-spot blood pressure and total cholesterol test. The computer-analyzed results will show a calculated health risk age and an estimated achievable age, a factor you can change with good health habits. There is no registration required for the half-hour appraisal. You are welcome to drop in on any of the following dates:

Jan. 30, 7-9 a.m. or 2-4 p.m.--University Hospital, Krannert Lobby
Feb. 14, 11 a.m.-2 p.m.--Business/SPEA Building, second floor, during health fair
Mar. 27, 7-9 a.m. or 2-4 p.m.--Riley Hospital, atrium
May 15, 9:30 a.m.-3:30 p.m.--IUPUI Employee Health Day Fair.

Freedom From Smoking Begins Jan. 7 The American Lung Association's Freedom from Smoking program begins on campus Jan. 7 and ends Feb. 4. Smokers who want to quit are encouraged to sign up for the class, which has proved successful for many people. The cost is $40 and is due at the first session. Enrollment will be limited to 15 people. Class sessions are on Mondays, 11:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. (plus one session on Wednesday, Jan. 23) in room 3023 of the Business/SPEA Building. For more, or to register, call Max*Well, 4-0610.

NEW CAMPUS EMERGENCY HANDBOOK HAS ALL NEW EARTHQUAKE SECTION

A new updated staff and faculty emergency procedures handbooks is now available through Fire Protection Services on campus. Published in the same "flip chart" format that many people said they like, the handbook has some minor changes and a new section on earthquake procedures. For your copy or copies, call 4-8000.

IUPUI SENDS 10 BOXES OF CARDS TO TROOPS IN SAUDI ARABIA

Some people from campus who were among the many who took a minute to send a post card to military personnel in Saudi Arabia at Christmas have begun to hear from the men and women who received the greetings. About 10 boxes of cards were mailed during the project sponsored by the Campus Post Office.

FREDLAND SAYS FIRE STORY WRONG ON TWO COUNTS

Political science professor Dick Fredland wants to correct errors made in the Dec. 16 Green Sheet story about his part in discovering the $50,000 fire in room 506 of Cavanaugh Hall. He writes: "The mention of my involvement in the fire was in error on (two) counts (1) I did not see the smoke coming from the office, I only saw a hall filled with smoke, and (2) I did not turn in the alarm, Bill Taylor did. I simply ran like hell." (William Taylor is assistant dean of Weekend College.)

LARUE CARTER SCHOOL SEEKS DONATIONS OF COMPUTER EQUIPMENT Computer equipment is needed for students in the fully-accredited public school serving patients in grades K-12 in the Children and Adolescent Services at Larue Carter Memorial Hospital. Apple-compatible equipment is preferred, and it will be used for computer-aided teaching. Donations to the program can be tax deductible on personal or business tax returns. To make donations, or for more information, call Community Services, 634-8401, ext. 345.

NEWS 'N' NOTES FROM HERE 'N' THERE

January Notes--Happy New Year to all. Perhaps you, like your ol' editor and and 91 percent of Iowans who when asked had no idea what "auld lang syne" really means. Literally, it means old long since. Colloquially, it means good old days. (Harpers Index, January, 1991)

GSD Students--The General Studies Degree program is still going strong in the School of Continuing Studies. Anyone wishing to apply to the program must attend one student orientation session, the first of which is Jan. 17 at noon. Other orientation sessions are Feb. 14, Mar. 14, Apr. 18, all at noon, and May 16 and June 13, at 6 p.m. All sessions are in the Union Building, Roof Lounge and last approximately one hour. Registration is required. For more, call 4-5039.

The Secret's Still Out--You still have time to buy the cookbook, "The Secret Ingredient," generated from a collection of "loving" recipes from campus folks. Bookstores and the University Hospital Gift Shop has them. Proceeds from the $5 book go to the Cheer Guild for the benefit of Riley Hospital. Sale ends Jan. 31.

Presenters Welcome--The Dept. of Microbiology and Immunology invites researchers to participate in some 10-minute presentations to be given occasionally during seminar hours. The first session is Jan. 10, 4 p.m. in MS 326. Each speaker is allowed to present up to four slides during a seven-minute talk. To sign up, contact Byoung Se Kwon in the department.

Greenfielders Wanted--Bonnie McKinney, who works in nursing payroll on campus, wants to hear from people interested in starting car pools from the Greenfield area. She notes that if enough people become involved, the car pool could include different shifts. Call her at home at 462-0718, or write her on campus at UH D118.

For New Employees--All new full-time employees on non-hospital accounts are reminded that you must sign up for a health plan within 60 days of your hire date. To help you decide on one of three plans offered and to learn more about IUPUI, Human Resources Administration is offering on-going health plan information sessions, and new employee orientation. It is strongly suggested that you attend a health plan information session before the orientation. This month's health plan information sessions are Jan. 7 and Jan. 21, 2-3 p.m. The new employee orientations are Jan. 14 and Jan. 28, 2-4 p.m. All are in the Union Building, Roof Lounge.

FIRST INDIANA COLLEGIATE JOB FAIR IS APRIL 5

IUPUI and all other IU campuses will participate in the first Indiana Collegiate Job Fair on Apr. 5 from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. in the Indiana Convention Center and Hoosier Dome. Students and alumni will have access to employers from across the nation. The cost for students to participate is $10 if pre-registered or $20 at the door. To register in advance, or for more information, call Job Fair Coordinator Suzanne McKeever, 4-3215.

POSITIONS AVAILABLE

LECTURER, Dept. of Physiology and Biophysics, IU School of Medicine, 40-hour week, $22,000-25,000 per year. Requires Ph.D. in neurobiology; one year of training in neurobiology and endocrinology, particularly in tissue and cell culture techniques, and the ability to teach at the medical and graduate student levels. Duties include classroom and lab instruction, scientific research to study the mechanisms involved in cell-to-cell interactions in neuronal and endocrine tissues with emphasis on cell proliferation, hormone synthesis and release, and more. Apply to Dr. Nira Ben-Jonathan, Dept. of Physiology and Biophysics, IU School of Medicine, 635 Barnhill Dr., Indianapolis 46202.

ASSOCIATE DEAN FOR GRADUATE PROGRAMS, tenure-track with academic rank, available July 1 in the IU School of Nursing. For professional rank, requires doctorate with nursing major preferred, and masters in nursing if doctorate is not in nursing. Submit letter of application, CV, and three references to Dr. Angela Barron McBride, Chairman, Search and Screen Committee, IU School of Nursing, 1111 Middle Dr., Indianapolis 46202.

(IUPUI is an AA/EO Employer)

MORE NEWS 'N' NOTES

BURKART NAMED ASSOCIATE DEAN AND EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF EMPF

Gary L. Burkart has been appointed executive director of the Electronic Manufacturing Productivity Facility (EMPF) and associate dean of the School of Engineering and Technology at IUPUI. He will report to EMPF's board of directors, who are executives from IUPUI, the Navy and industry, and he will be responsible for all research, development and technology transfer efforts performed by government, university and industry personnel involved in the consortium. Established in 1984, EMPF teams with the American electronics industry to perform research and development in electronics manufacturing materials, processes and process controls. Originally based in Ridgecrest, Calif., EMPF recently moved to Indianapolis as a consortium operated by the Naval Avionics Center, the Naval Weapons Support Center at Crane and IUPUI. The facility will occupy a building under construction on the city canal near IUPUI. Burkart holds a master of science degree in management science from the Sloan School at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and a bachelor of science degree in electric engineering from Montana State University. Most recently, he served as president of the Advanced Integrated Manufacturing Centers Partnership, a program of the William C. Norris Institute in Minneapolis, where he implemented programs that help small manufacturing concerns modernize their operations.--G. Wolfram

REVNYAK FIRST DIRECTOR OF IMAGIS

Dee A. Revnyak has been appointed the first director of the Indianapolis Mapping and Geographic Infrastructure System (IMAGIS), a computerized mapping system that stores 30 levels of information about Indianapolis. She already has three years' experience with IMAGIS at the Indianapolis Department of Public Works. Her new office is in room 243B of Cavanaugh Hall, where IMAGIS is located. IMAGIS began as a federally requested project to update the city's storm sewers. Only three years later, IMAGIS functions as a single-source geographic database and mapping system between city-county offices and the public utilities. The user-friendly system combines more than 8 million land documents, aerial photos, satellite surveys and computer records into a single base map. Revnyak's short-term goal for IMAGIS is to improve the accuracy of information on the base map and to get a staff in place that will help coordinate efforts between members of IMAGIS' nine-member consortium. Her long term goal is "To get the participants more involved, enhance the university's role and have everyone and everything working toward one goal." Her campus phone number is 4-7813.--M. Hopper

FINALLY...

...you still have time to reserve your tickets to the 20th Annual Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Dinner, Jan. 21 at the Westin Hotel. The Black Student Union is sponsoring the event. Tickets are $15 for students, $20 for others and they are available through Jan. 16 by calling 4-2279.

...Marita Scherer from the Foundation Office on campus will play the part of the "glossy, elegant, self-centered and expensive to keep" Sylvia Fowler in the Civic Theatre production of "The Women," set for performances Jan. 25-Feb. 10. Randy Pope directs. For tickets, call 923-4597.
